General Information

Mission

Nelson University exists to equip students spiritually, academically, professionally, and cross-culturally for their God-given careers and callings.

Statement of Faith

Nelson University embraces and supports the doctrinal teaching of the General Council of the Assemblies of God as set forth in Article V, Statement of Fundamental Truths of its Constitution. The following statements summarize these doctrines.

WE BELIEVE

....the Bible is the inspired and only infallible and authoritative written Word of God (2 Timothy 3:16).
....there is one God, eternally existent in three persons: God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit (Deuteronomy 6:4; Matthew 28:19).
....in the deity of our Lord Jesus Christ, in His virgin birth, in His sinless life, in His miracles, in His vicarious and atoning death, in His bodily resurrection, in His ascension to the right hand of the Father, in His personal future return to this earth in power and glory to rule a thousand years (John 1:1).
....in the blessed hope — the rapture of the Church at Christ's coming (Titus 2:13).
....the only means of being cleansed from sin is through repentance and faith in the precious blood of Christ (John 14:6).
....regeneration by the Holy Spirit is absolutely essential for personal salvation (Titus 3:5).
....in water baptism by immersion (Matthew 28:19).
....the redemptive work of Christ on the cross provides healing of the human body in answer to believing prayer (I Peter 2:24).
....the baptism in the Holy Spirit, according to Acts 2:4, is given to believers who ask for it.
....in the sanctifying power of the Holy Spirit by whose indwelling the Christian is enabled to live a holy life (Galatians 5:16-25).
....in the resurrection of both the saved and the lost, the one to everlasting life and the other to everlasting damnation (Revelation 20:11-15).

Statement of Core Values

BIBLE-BASED EDUCATION

God is the ultimate source of all knowledge and truth and has revealed Himself in Scripture; therefore, Nelson University is committed to the authority of the Bible and the integration of biblical values in all academic disciplines. The pursuit of truth and its application in every area of life comes through understanding the Word of God and knowing Christ. The University intends that students will deepen their understanding of Scripture and develop well-founded theological convictions for a life of Christian service through a carefully selected core of Bible and theology curriculum.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Nelson University is a university devoted, under God, to the pursuit of truth through the use of the mind. Students, therefore, are encouraged to bring their minds in submission to Christ and fulfill their responsibilities as stewards, and work for the integration of thinking and learning in the framework of a Christian worldview. Students are encouraged to develop their minds and intellects in the pursuit of knowing Christ and His creation, and seeking God's direction as they choose a vocation or career path.

SPIRITUAL FORMATION

Nelson University is committed to fostering spiritual formation among students that produces life-long spiritual growth and character development. Students are encouraged to develop their understanding of biblical faith, increase their desire to know and serve God, and develop personal integrity and character by applying biblical values to their lives. Chapel and local church participation is emphasized because worship is an important element in the University's strategy for spiritual formation.

MISSIONS-MINDEDNESS

Nelson University is founded on the belief that every believer has a personal responsibility for the Great Commission. Nelson University intends that students will embrace missions-mindedness as evidenced by life-long personal involvement in world evangelism, a life of intercessory prayer for the lost, personal witness, contributing resources to world evangelism, and a willingness to go into full-time missionary work (if called by God) or, at a minimum, participate in a short-term mission trip.

PENTECOSTAL DISTINCTION

Nelson University is committed to an environment that encourages students to experience Spirit baptism according to Pentecostal theology to obtain additional power for witness, personal edification through speaking in tongues in private prayer, and additional enablement through spiritual gifts, while continually pursuing spiritual formation and a Spirit-formed character. The University also encourages the operation of the gifts of the Spirit in worship services according to the scriptural directive.

SERVANT LEADERSHIP AND MINISTRY

Nelson University's mission is founded on the belief that God intends every believer be actively involved in ministry that reflects service and servanthood. Fulfilling the mission of the church requires all believers, no matter their chosen career and calling, to work in team-like fashion using their unique gifts and talents in churches and ministries around the world as pastors, board members, elders, deacons, and heads of creative ministries in the pattern of the servant ministry of Jesus Christ.

COMMUNITY AND PERSONAL WELLNESS

Nelson University is committed to the understanding that discipleship occurs in community and in relationship; therefore, students are encouraged to develop the social and relational skills needed to contribute to an affirming, loving, and giving community of believers. Additionally students are encouraged toward emotional and physical health for the purpose of enabling long, faithful service unto God. Eating properly, sleeping adequately, exercising regularly, and sufficient rest properly honors God through the body.

University Student Learning Outcomes

Upon graduation from Nelson University, students will be able to:

1. Integrate biblical principles of faith into their lives.
2. Demonstrate academic competence and in their respective fields of study.
3. Formulate a personal strategy for Christian service.
4. Engage in a global community with societal awareness, cross-cultural appreciation, and a biblical worldview

University Values

Nelson University embraces values of conduct that are the same as those generally accepted by the Assemblies of God in America. These are characterized by clean behavior and conversation, modest apparel, high moral values, commitment to excellence in educational and professional development, and deep consecration and devotion in spiritual life.

High Christian values relate to all facets of university life. Though they are reflected in the spiritual development of the student, they do not end there. Christian citizenship is a biblical obligation. Christian ethics extend into the intellectual development of an individual, and Christian morality regulates social relationships. Accordingly, the Christian will assume responsibilities in the educational community with cheerfulness and friendliness. Relationships at Nelson University must reflect moral purity and distaste for promiscuity. High values are imposed in the area of physical development. This results in habits and diets that contribute to good health and physical well-being.

The same Christian values apply to faculty, staff, and students. General student conduct values are explained in the Student Handbook. The Student Conduct Committee embraces the responsibility of maintaining the high Christian values of the student community. The committee may require a student who does not embrace the aims and ideals of the University to withdraw if the general welfare of the University demands it.

A Concise History of Nelson University

Nelson University, formerly known as Southwestern Assemblies of God University (SAGU), boasts a nearly century-long history steeped in tradition and dedication. Its roots trace back to 1927, when three esteemed Bible schools merged to form Southwestern Bible Institute. Led by visionaries such as P.C. Nelson, Guy Shields, and J.T. Little, these institutions laid the foundation for what would become Nelson University.

From its inception, the University has been unwavering in its pursuit of academic excellence and spiritual development. Recognized for its holistic approach to education, Nelson University provides students with ample opportunities for engagement in ministry and community outreach. Through programs like Community Outreach Ministry teams, Traveling Student Ministry teams, and the Mission Twelve program, students are not only enriched academically but also equipped for meaningful service in their respective fields.

Nestled on a picturesque 70-acre campus since 1943, Nelson University offers a tranquil environment conducive to both learning and spiritual growth. Over the years, the University has expanded its academic offerings, now providing a diverse array of degrees at the associate, bachelor's, master's, and doctoral levels.

In 2024, the University underwent a significant transformation, rebranding as Nelson University. This change, while honoring the legacy of its founders, signifies a renewed commitment to preparing students to be influential leaders in their communities and beyond. Today, Nelson University stands as a beacon of faith-based education, empowering students to make a positive impact in the world through their professions and ministries.

Campus and Facilities

Nelson University is located in the heart of the rich blacklands of North Texas in Waxahachie, the county seat of Ellis County (population circa 51,000). This unique city provides an excellent setting for a university outside of the big-city congestion, yet it affords the benefits of the Greater Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex. The University occupies 77 acres providing ample area for its present facilities and future growth.

Barnes Student Center
The James L. Barnes Student Center serves as a central social gathering place for students. The facility is home for the Lion's Den, the offices of Student Congress, Student Development, Career Development, and the Campus Mail and Copy Center. It also includes a game room, lounge, and study areas.

Bridges Hall
The James K. Bridges Hall houses over 200 students and incorporates the Student Counseling Department.

Claxton Athletic Center
The physical education program utilizes the Virgil Claxton Athletic Center as well as other facilities on the campus. Outdoor volleyball accommodations are also available.

Davis Building
The F. D. Davis Buidling houses offices for Financial Aid, Student Billing, Registrar, Information Technology, Academic Services, Marketing and Public Relations and adjunct faculty. Also located in the Davis Building is the Nelson University Learning Centers, offering tutorial and instructional assistance to both undergraduate and graduate students.

Ellis Archive Center
The Pearl Ellis Archive Center is located within the Pearl Ellis Building. It contains a collection of Nelson University memorabilia and documents the history of Nelson University and the early Pentecostal movement in the south-central part of the country.

Farmer Administration Building
The Blake L. Farmer Administration Building is a four-story structure of early twentieth-century architecture. It houses administrative and faculty offices, classrooms, conference rooms, and McCafferty Hall.

Foster Center
The 14,000 square foot E.R. Foster Center serves as the home for Nelson University's Education Department. It contains classrooms, education lab, faculty and administrative offices.

Garrison Wellness Center
This 32,000 square foot facility is dedicated to the physical well being of students, faculty and staff. A variety of exercise opportunities include racquetball courts, cardio equipment, weight resistance machines, gymnasium, pool and indoor track. The facility is named after Alton and Johanna Garrison. They have served the Assemblies of God in evangelism, pastoral ministry, and Arkansas District leadership. Alton Garrison also served as Assistant Superintendent of the General Council.

Hagee Communication Center
This 80,000 square foot facility is home to the College of Music and Communication Arts and the College of Integrative Studies. It contains classrooms, faculty offices, performance centers, recording studios, digital media labs, music labs, screening room, preaching lab, practice rooms and broadcast facilities.

Information and Security Center
The Information and Security Center (ISC) houses the Department of Security and Safety Services. Campus Security is available 24 hours a day and can be reached by dialing extension 5400 from any on-campus telephone. For on-campus emergencies dial 5555. From off-campus phones contact Campus Security by dialing 972.923.5400. The ISC is located on the north side of the East University Drive entrance. This is where Lost and Found is located and ID cards, ticket appeals, and vehicle registration concerns are administered. Campus Security also provides annual crime statistics in accordance with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act. For other available services, contact the dispatch office at 5400.

P.C. Nelson Memorial Library
The P.C. Nelson Library houses a collection of approximately 110,000 volumes. The library is a member of the international Online Computer Library Center (OCLC) as well as other consortia. The facility is divided into various sections: computer labs for student instruction and research; electronic research computers for online databases; audio-visual study area; reserve shelves; leisure reading and current periodical area; periodical room; circulation area; bibliographic section; micrographic area; indexes and bound periodical area; archive section; classrooms and offices.

Pearl Ellis Building
The College of Business is housed in the Pearl Ellis Building and includes administrative offices to support the operations of the college, faculty offices and classrooms.

Nelson Facilities Services

The Nelson Facilities Services Building is located across the parking lots of Garrison Wellness Center and Teeter Hall. This building houses Business Services, Event Services, and the offices which oversee our campus maintenance, custodial, and grounds operations.

Nelson University Athletic Complex
The Nelson University Athletic Complex is located on the north edge of the campus. It contains varsity football practice facilities as well as practice and varsity playing fields for soccer, baseball and softball.

Sheaffer Center
The Sheaffer Center is a 111,000 square foot facility which serves as a center for everyday student activities and special events. It houses an auditorium with a 2,000 seat capacity for chapel, the Commons which includes the Corner Market, Nelson Bookstore, and a 1,000 seat Dining Hall with a food court serving students and guests daily during the academic year, as well as a competition gymnasium with two regulation basketball courts, locker rooms, and spectator seating for sporting events. Additionally, the Center houses classrooms, faculty offices, and the Southwestern College of Bible and Church Ministries. It also contains the Hugh P. Jeter World Prayer Center, and the Enrollment Center which houses the Admissions Office.

Sycamore Place
Sycamore Place is located across the street from the Administration Building. It houses Nelson Online, Nelson Graduate School, and a multi-purpose room for campus events, and meetings.

Teeter Hall
The Darrel and Huberta Teeter Hall is a home away from home for students and incorporates the adminstrative offices of Residential Life.

UNIVERSITY HOUSING

Nelson University is a residential university. Single students age 22 and under (not living with family members) are expected to live in a University-owned residence hall. Students age 23 or older must receive approval from the Residential Life Office in order to live off campus. Affordable facilities are available on campus for married students and graduate students on a first come basis (Contact the Business Services Office for information).

Bridges Hall:	Coed (male and female wings separated)
Collins Hall:	Coed (male and female wings separated)
Guynes Hall:	Coed (male and female wings separated)
Kendrick Hall:	Female students
Regents Apartments:	Off campus students and Family housing

Teeter Hall:	Coed (male and female wings separated)

Student Development

The faculty and staff of Nelson University are committed to providing services to make the student's university experience meaningful and enjoyable, while intentionally promoting an atmosphere conducive to student learning.

Spiritual Life

Activities are promoted which contribute to the spiritual development of students. Central to this program is the chapel gathering shared by the campus family. Seasons of worship are accompanied by spiritual challenges extended to the students by the administration, faculty, visiting guest speakers, and fellow students. As God moves during these times, many students are filled with the Spirit and make deep personal commitments to God.

A Spiritual Emphasis Week is planned each semester at which time Christian stewardship and consecration are stressed. Many Nelson University students have dedicated themselves to ministerial service in these meetings.

Emphasis also is placed on personal devotions in connection with residence hall life. At regular intervals entire sections of the residence halls meet for group worship. Spiritual life on campus is encouraged through a variety of student organizations and ministry groups.

GLOBAL PRAYER FOCUS

Nelson University serves as a Global Prayer Center representing the desire and focus of the districts of the Southwestern region to put Nelson University at the center of a worldwide prayer movement. The Hugh P. Jeter World Prayer Center is open daily to inspire intercessory prayer for all regions of the world as well as personal needs. The Road to Emmaus Prayer Walk features a prayer path of approximately one mile in length. Administrators, faculty, staff, and students use the walk daily for prayer and exercise.

STUDENT MINISTRIES

Nelson University's primary objective is the training of individuals to enter world-wide Christian service. In keeping with this objective, Student Ministries complements academic training with essential practical training and opportunities for Christian service. Therefore, all students are to be faithful in chapel and church attendance. Students are encouraged to participate in local church ministries.

Personal Life

Nelson University maintains concern about the personal life of its students. All students (married or single, off campus or on campus) are expected to conduct themselves at all times in accordance with the teachings of the Word of God and the values of the Assemblies of God and Nelson University. Nelson University students must realize the importance of exemplifying Christian living both on campus and off campus. Since many come from various backgrounds, it is necessary that each student become acquainted with Nelson University's community values. The University states its intention of making biblical principles its primary basis for conduct as referred to in the Assemblies of God Bylaws, Article IX, Section 6, as follows:

> In view of the alarming erosion of national moral standards, we reaffirm our intention of holding up biblical standards against all forms of worldliness. We urge all believers to "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world . . . For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world (I John 2:15,16)."

In its teaching regarding worldliness, the Scripture warns against participation in activity which defiles the body or corrupts the mind and spirit; the inordinate love of, or preoccupation with, pleasures, positions, or possessions, which lead to their misuse; manifestation of extreme behavior, unbecoming speech, or inappropriate appearance; any fascination or association which lessens one's affection for spiritual things (Luke 21:34, 35; Romans 8:5-8; 12:1-2; II Corinthians 6:14-18; Ephesians 5:11; I Timothy 2:8-10; 4:12; James 4:4; I John 2:15-17, and Titus 2:12).

Student Life

Attendance at Nelson University is designed to be a life enriching experience. By living, worshiping, working, and interacting with other Christian young people, one is stimulated by the influence of examples to include Christ in every facet of daily living. A full schedule of activities is planned to emphasize the importance of Christian values.

SOCIAL LIFE

Social life plays an important part in the development of Christian character and poise. The University seeks to provide a well-balanced program of social events for the student body. Opportunities for social experiences are planned by the Student Congress, Residential Life, and other campus organizations.

STUDENT CONDUCT COMMITTEE

The Student Conduct Committee has the responsibility of maintaining the values of living in a Christ-honoring community. The committee seeks to identify models of excellence in Christian behavior and service on campus. It functions to reconcile individuals to God, each other, or to the University values but may also require a student who does not embrace the aims and ideals of the University to withdraw if general welfare demands it.

General Services and Policies

ORIENTATION

Nelson University is dedicated to helping men and women adjust to life as university students. The orientation program actually begins before students arrive on campus with a series of communications which answer important questions and provide helpful information about Nelson University.

Days are designated at the opening of each Fall and Spring term for orientation, testing, and counseling. All new students participate in these activities. Freshmen students are required to enroll in the college life orientation course (GES 1122 Strategies for Student Success). Topics covered in the course serve to better acquaint students with the distinctive programs of Nelson University and enable them to realize the most from a university education.

CAMPUS SECURITY SERVICES

Campus Security provides ID card and vehicle services at the Information and Security Center (ISC). Security and safety patrols occur 24 hours a day. Students may request an escort from anywhere on campus, especially during hours of darkness. Reports of theft, vandalism or other criminal or questionable activity should be filed at the ISC.

STUDENT COUNSELING SERVICES

Nelson University is concerned about each student. Faculty members are available during the week at posted hours for personal conferences. Also, students may access professional help in dealing with problems of social, emotional, or interpersonal nature. Trained counselors are available in the counseling center to help students who need free, confidential, biblically-based counseling in the following areas:

- Personal Counseling covering such issues as stress, loneliness, anger, self-esteem, and other relational, emotional, spiritual, moral and cultural problems that may arise in daily life
- Premarital Counseling for pre-engaged or engaged couples and seminars each semester which cover such topics as conflict, communication, biblical roles and responsibilities, finances, sexual relationships, and family devotions
- Marriage and Family Counseling
- Personality Testing
- Support Groups
- Referral Services to additional professional counselors

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Nelson University's Career Development Office, located in the Barnes Student Center, provides the resources and strategies for choosing a college major, developing career plans, creating a resume, finding internships and full-time jobs, connecting with alumni, developing graduate school plans, and making successful career transitions. Career Development provides year-round service to students as well as University alumni.

REGISTRAR'S OFFICE

The Registrar's Office is located in the Davis Building. The office deals with a variety of issues that are important to the daily function of the student.

- Add or Drop a Class
- Change of Address
- Change of Major
- Substitute or Waiver of a Course
- Graduation Application
- Withdraw from School
- Registration & Course Selection
- Degree Plans are housed and maintained (transfer credit)
- Final Grades are available online through the student portal, https://my.nelson.edu/login.asp. Questions about specific assignment grades are handled by the Faculty.

Graduate Application is to be filed by the end of late registration the semester that you plan to graduate. Specific requirements are found in the Academic Information section of the Academic Catalog. Transcript Requests are available through the myNelson portal or at www.getmytranscript.com. Visit us online at nelson.edu/registrar

STUDENT BILLING OFFICE

The Student Billing Office serves the students of Nelson University in their financial matters. Statements are sent to students monthly.

- Students can also access their accounts through their student portals.
- Organizational funds are retained in this office.
- Schedules of fees and financial counseling are available.

This office can assist students in many ways and students are encouraged to make use of these services.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

Though Nelson University is unable to guarantee employment to students, the University makes every effort to aid students to find jobs either on or off campus. Work opportunities on campus are provided in the cafeteria, library, offices, residence halls, physical plant, and ground maintenance.

Many students seek outside employment to finance at least part of their expenses. Part-time jobs are available at many local businesses such as private homes, stores, shops, day care facilities, and offices. Full and part-time employment is available in nearby Dallas and Fort Worth for students whose financial responsibilities are heavy.

Off-Campus Employment: Students seeking off-campus employment (full-time or part-time) should consult the Career Development Office, which maintains an active file of job opportunities.

Federal Work Study Employment: Students approved for Federal Work Study assistance should consult the Financial Aid Office for open positions.

Regular On-Campus Student Employment: Students interested in a position on campus should complete an employment application in the Career Development Office.

NELSON UNIVERSITY CHRISTIAN BOOKSTORE

Nelson University Christian Bookstore, located in the Sheaffer Center, carries a complete stock of textbooks and academic supplies. Additionally, they have gift items, Christian books, Bibles, jewelry, snacks and various electronic items. Special orders are welcome.

RESIDENTIAL LIFE

Students derive special benefit from community life in a rich, Christian atmosphere. Facilities are provided for single students under age 23 to live on the campus. All single, undergraduate, on campus students under age 23 are expected to live on campus. A listing of the men and women's residence halls is given in the section entitled Campus and Facilities.

Dorm Reservation Form and Enrollment Deposit: All new on campus students (first-time freshmen or transfer) expecting to live on campus must complete a dorm reservation fee.

Married Students: The University provides a limited number of apartments for married students. A variety of off-campus housing facilities also exists in the city of Waxahachie. For more information, contact the Business Services Office.

FOOD SERVICES

Food services are provided in the University cafeteria, the Lion's Den snack bar in the Barnes Student Center, and Einstein Bros Bagels in the Hagee Communication Center. For a description of these facilities see the section entitled Campus and Facilities.

MAIL SERVICE

All University mail is distributed by the Campus Mail Center. Boxes are provided to all on-campus students and are located in the Barnes Student Center.

HEALTH SERVICES

TimelyCare is a medical telehealth service to help the needs of students' physical and mental health needs. TimelyCare is a campus-wide program offering residential students around the clock access - anywhere in the United States - to get quality care and immediate treatment for medical or mental health concerns from board certified physicians and licensed counselors. This service provides 24/7 access to quality care, access care from anywhere in the USA, even in bed in your dorm room, access even on vacation or home for breaks throughout the year, no wait time to see a physician or mental health provider, see a physician or mental health provider around your schedule and prescriptions are available if deemed appropriate by the provider.

The health care needs of Nelson University are coordinated through the Residential Life Office.

INSURANCE

Nelson University requires medical clearance and accident insurance coverage for each student admitted. Participation in the student accident insurance program of the University is required. Accident insurance coverage purchased in the University program applies only to the semester for which the student has paid. It should be understood that Nelson University does NOT provide a health or medical insurance program for students.

The student accident policy serves as a secondary policy for varsity athletes. All varsity athletes are required to provide their own primary medical coverage to meet minimum requirements as set by Nelson University. Proof of primary insurance will be required before an athlete may participate in varsity athletics.

HEW REGULATIONS

HEW Regulations 84.21 . . . No qualified handicapped person shall, because a recipient's facilities are inaccessible to or unusable by handicapped persons, be denied the benefits of, be excluded from participation in, or otherwise be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity provided by the University. For further information on the HEW Handicapped regulations, contact the Office of Student Development.

STUDENT RIGHTS WITH REGARD TO EDUCATION RECORDS

In compliance with Public Law 93-380, Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, you are hereby informed of your rights with regard to education records made at Nelson University.

- Other school officials who have legitimate educational interests have access to the records. Officials of other schools in which the student seeks to enroll will have access to these records upon the written consent of the student.
- Also having access are authorized representatives of the Comptroller General of the United States, the Secretary, the Commissioner, and the Director of the National Institute of Education. In connection with a student's application for receipt of financial aid, access is granted to state and local officials or authorities to which such information is specifically required to be reported or disclosed pursuant to state statute adopted prior to November 19, 1974 (nothing in the paragraph shall prevent a state from further limiting the number or type of state or local officials who will continue to have access there-under).
- Access is granted to organizations conducting studies for, or on behalf of, educational agencies or institutions for the purpose of developing, validating, or administering predictive tests, administering student aid programs, and improving instruction, if such studies are conducted in such a manner as will not permit the personal identification of students and their parents by persons other than representatives of such organizations and such information will be destroyed when no longer needed for the purpose for which it is conducted.
- Accrediting organizations will have access rights in order to carry out accrediting functions.
- Records may be viewed in compliance with judicial order or pursuant to any lawfully issued subpoena, upon condition that the students are notified of all such orders or subpoenas in advance of the compliance there with by the educational institution.

- Student records will be updated each semester enrolled and course work with grades and total grade point average are figured for the semester's work.
- The student has the right to inspect his records maintained by Nelson University. To do this, the student must request the permanent record from the Registrar. Also, if the information contained in the file is determined to be incorrect, the right to a hearing to change, delete, or write explanations regarding the information in question will be granted. Should a file contain information on another student, only that information pertaining to the inquiring party will be provided.
- The student has the right to waive the option of reviewing recommendations for admission. The student opting to waive the right of inspection may sign the form "Student Waiver of Rights" provided in the Registrar's Office or sign the "Waiver of Rights" provided on the front of the recommendation forms used for admissions purposes. The student is not required to waive the right of inspection and would in no case be refused admission, or any of the services offered by Nelson University, because of failure to sign the waiver.
- The student has the right to challenge the content of his/her education records. To do this, the student should request the form "Request to Amend or Remove Educational Records" from the Registrar's Office. After completing the form, it should be presented to the Registrar, and in the event the request is not approved, a date of hearing will be set. The student may be present during the hearing and will be notified on the day of the hearing of the action taken. A scheduled fee is charged for a copy of a transcript.
- Students have until the last day of late registration to request that "Directory Information" be withheld form the public. Pursuant to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, "Directory Information" includes a student's name, address, telephone listing, date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of members of athletic teams, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, and the most recent previous educational agency or institution attended. If one does not want the "Directory Information" made public, he/she needs only to sign the form, "Notice to Withhold Directory Information," that is available in the Registrar's Office.
- This law does not grant the right to contest the grade given the student's performance in a course, or the right to examine a teacher's grade book.

Questions regarding the rights provided by Public Law 93-380, Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, should be directed to the Registrar's Office.

STUDENT COMPLAINTS

The University regards general complaints with appropriate attention. The student body is regularly polled with respect to academics and student life. Faculty members, College Deans, and the Provost and Vice President for Academics are approachable concerning classroom and curricular matters. Student Congress executive officers regularly share student concerns with the Vice President for Student Development. Students are welcomed to visit with the Vice President for Student Development to make personal concerns known. Formal written complaints may be filed with the Vice President for Student Development.

INITIATING AND PROCESSING A COMPLAINT

Any student that wishes to log a complaint must first discuss it with the Vice President for Student Development with the objective of resolving the matter informally. Should this informal discussion fail to satisfy the student, then a formal written complaint must be filed. No complaint will be received in which the complainant refuses to commit to written record. All persons against whom a complaint has been filed will be notified of the allegations. A complaint may be withdrawn at any step without prejudice and cannot be reopened.

PROCEDURE

Step 1: The complainant shall file a formal written complaint with the Vice President for Student Development, using the Student Complaint Form that can be acquired from the Student Development office, or www.nelson.edu/complaintform. This form should be filed no later than 10 days after the incident involved in the complaint.

Step 2: Upon the evaluation by the Vice President for Student Development, an investigation will be conducted. The investigation may include interviews of all parties involved in the complaint and the gathering of all available evidence. In the event that the matter involves academics, the complaint will be turned over to the Provost and Vice President for Academicsfor investigation.

Step 3: Once the matter has been investigated, the Vice President for Student Development will inform the complainant of the resolution. If the student is not satisfied with the resolution, the complaint shall be transmitted to the President. Whomever the President designates shall meet with the parties of interest. A response to the complaint shall be indicated in writing with a copy furnished to the complainant and the accused. This response will be considered as final.

In the event that a student believes he/she has been unfairly treated, or has issues with the University that cannot be resolved by the methods outlined above, he/she has the right to contact our accrediting agencies and/or various state and other governmental agencies. (www.nelson.edu/campus-life/complaint-procedure/).

For students attending a Nelson University Off-Campus Instructional Site outside of Texas, in the event your issues with the university cannot be resolved by the methods outlined above, you would contact your state agency:

STUDENT COMPLAINTS CONCERNING INSTRUCTORS

The University is an institution focused on academics and student success. Because of their knowledge in the field and expertise in instructional guidance, the University vests qualified instructors with the task of preparing and delivering courses related to student degree goals and evaluating student work. Consequently, instructors have the prerogative to design and require appropriate assignments, set expectations for student performance and the activities of scholarship within their courses, and provide helpful feedback and appropriate assessment to aid student progress. This prerogative is an historic standard prevalent in higher education. Therefore, any formal complaint may not be made concerning course design but concerning process and whether or not a student was treated justly. A student may appeal a final grade if one is able to demonstrate that an inappropriate grade was assigned as a result of caprice, prejudice, or other improper conditions such as mechanical error, or assignment of a grade inconsistent with clearly stated syllabus requirements or in other class-wide instructions issued by the instructor. In all steps identified below the outcomes must be documented and provided to the parties involved.

A complaint will be invalidated should it be discovered in the process that a student engaged in steps of discord, used any means including social media to defame an instructor or academic leaders, and/or sought to influence individual members of an adjudicating panel.

Should a student have a conflict over the instructor's evaluation or an assignment matter, or an issue of behavior, he/she is expected to approach the instructor individually in an effort to reach an understanding. If this fails, then the following process should be invoked. (Title IX issues are not covered in this policy. Title IX policy is addressed in The Student Handbook.)

Step 1: A student with a complaint about instructor treatment must first visit personally with the instructor with the expectation of resolving the matter or at least understanding the differences. No other hearings or reviews will occur without this step.

Step 2: If step 1 does not resolve the matter, or if the issue is a matter of behavior extended toward the student, the complainant must submit a complaint in writing to the Dean of the College for which the course is delivered. This shall include evidence and testimony that step 1 was followed. A complaint form, www.nelson.edu/complaintform is available for this purpose and it should be filed no later than 10 days after the conversation with the instructor (or if a matter of behavior, then the 10 days will begin once the action was performed). No complaint will be received by the Dean if the complainant refuses to commit to a written record. All persons against whom a complaint has been filed will be notified of the allegations. The Dean will commence an investigation of facts and ensure that the student and instructor meet with him/her on the matter. This investigation may include interviews of all parties involved in the dispute and the gathering of all available evidence. A complaint may be withdrawn at any step without prejudice and cannot be reopened.

Step 3: Once the investigation has concluded, the Dean shall inform the complainant of its resolution. If the student is unsatisfied with this determination, an appeal in writing may be made to the Provost and Vice President for Academics. The Vice President shall appoint a minimum of three University academic personnel as a final appeals committee to review the documentation related to the matter.

The review committee shall not convene a fact finding investigation of its own. The finding of facts shall be relegated solely to the applicable college Dean. The appeals committee shall review all available evidence to determine if University policy was followed without bias or prejudice and if judgments were made in harmony with the information provided to the class as a while and to the complainant. If the committee finds references to evidence not provided, they shall defer to the appropriate Dean for further documentation. The decision of this committee shall be final.

In the event that a complaint may address the actions of an Academic Dean, the principles stated above will be retained. However, the student in Step 2 shall make an appeal in writing and submit it to the Vice President for Student Development (www.nelson.edu/complaintform) who shall notify the Office of Academics. The Provost and Vice President for Academics shall appoint an adjudicating panel of faculty with reputable character to engage a fact-finding process and review all pertinent evidence and render a decision on the appeal. One of the panel members will notify the student and Dean in writing of the decision and forward a copy to the Office of Academics. Should this step fail to satisfy the student complaint, a final appeal may be made to the Provost and Vice President for Academics, who shall review all evidence provided by the student and the adjudicating panel and render a decision on the appeal which shall be final.

The appeal policy above shall apply to all residents of the main campus, all online students, and those studying at Off Campus Instructional Sites (OCIS).

Students at Nelson University AIC and Nelson University VALOR will follow the principles of the policy above but the pathway for address is as follows: Step 1: Discussion with the individual faculty member involved in the grievance;
Step 2: If unsatisfactory, appeal to the local Administrative Dean or Administrative Director; Step 3: If unsatisfactory, appeal to the panel of academic personnel appointed by the Administration whose decision shall be final.

ATHLETICS AND INTRAMURAL PROGRAM

The purpose of athletics at Nelson University is to promote and develop good physical health practices, as well as to offer an opportunity for the student to coordinate physical effort, self-discipline, and Christian testimony in the arena of sports. Team cooperation and the development of a sense of fair play are important components of this program.

Varsity sports include women's basketball, women's volleyball, women's softball, women's cross country and track, and women's soccer, men's baseball, men's basketball, football, men's cross country and track, and men's soccer. In cooperation with the Equity in Athletics Disclosure Act (1994), Nelson University publishes an annual report on its intercollegiate varsity athletic programs. This report is available in the office of the Athletic Director.

Nelson University also has a strong intramural program. This program is open to the entire campus (administration, faculty, staff, and students). Visit the Garrison Wellness Center for more information.

The student accident policy serves as a secondary policy for varsity athletes. All varsity athletes are required to provide their own primary medical coverage to meet minimum requirements as set by Nelson University. Proof of primary insurance will be required before an athlete may participate in varsity athletics. Students may link to an available health plan meeting minimum requirements through the Nelson University website.

Student Organizations & Ministries

Students who represent the school in extracurricular activities must demonstrate appropriate qualities in the following areas:

- Spirituality
- Academics (a "C" average, 2.00)
- Emotions
- Human relations

MUSIC AND MINISTRY GROUPS

Nelson University special music and drama ministry groups represent the University while ministering Christ in chapel, church, organizational, community and international settings. Students are encouraged to participate in these groups as they provide an excellent opportunity for Christian service while attending Nelson University.

Nelson University Worship: Whether on the Nelson University main campus in Waxahachie, Texas, or around the globe, Nelson University Worship is always about one thing: facilitating the worship of God through song. Nelson University Worship leads the University weekly chapel services while maintaining an active traveling schedule including: Networking Conferences, Women's/Men's Ministry, Youth Ministry, Missionary retreats, etc. Nelson University Worship is comprised of students that have been evaluated by audition for both their talent and passion to lead others into a place of worship.

Ministry Teams: Nelson University encourages student initiative and creativity to develop various ministries and outreaches. Students are to consult with the Director of Chapel Worship and Programming before starting ministry teams. Students are expected to follow the highest standard of ministerial ethics and etiquette, and must have a sponsor.

STUDENT MISSIONS ASSOCIATION (SMA)

This missions-minded organization strives to extend the gospel of Christ at home and abroad by fostering a missionary spirit and promoting missions ministry. All students at Nelson University are considered members of SMA.

Local Outreach Ministries

This is a student led organization that is made up of different need-based ministries that work in local Waxahachie and Dallas to connect with people who do not know the love of God. Student involvement is voluntary and the ministries operate on a weekly basis along with special outreaches. The ministries consist of the following:

Arms of Refuge	Prayer for Freedom	Safe Haven
Common Ground	Street Hope	Pregnancy Center Outreach

STUDENT CONGRESS

Student leaders endeavor to make Nelson University a better university by promoting Christian fellowship and cooperation among students and faculty. Student Congress's purpose is to promote spiritual growth, scholastic achievement, social connection, school spirit, and strategic leadership development. Students may make recommendations through the Student Congress to the President's Cabinet regarding matters of student concern.

The Events Board plans and executes all Student Congress sponsored activities. Members are selected by application. The Student Congress Events Director chairs the Board.

The Board of Representatives acts as the representative body of the Student Congress. The Board is comprised of students from each class and dorm, and include student athletes and an SMA representative. The Student Congress Vice President chairs the Board.

Gold Jackets service organization consists of female students selected on the basis of scholarship and service to the University.

Men of Integrity is an organization that helps men grow and develop in their walk with Christ. Their goal is to impact the community of Nelson University and the surrounding area.

Lions United is an organization that is a combination of both Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) and Athletes in Action (AIA) that serves to build disciples within student athlete populations.

Iron Pen is an organization of students who enjoy writing on a variety of subjects.

Elevate Women in Business is an organization that empowers, champions, and equips women in every aspect who want to work in the business industry, develop their professional skills, and/or grow spiritually while connecting through meetings, networking opportunities, and campus events.

Network of Women Ministers is a group that focuses on helping young women develop relationships and become the women God designed them to be.

The Student Alumni Association is an organization dedicated to connecting current students to the Nelson Alumni Association.

HONOR SOCIETIES

Chi Alpha Sigma – National College Athlete Honor Society -was established to recognize four-year college student-athletes who excel both on and off the field of competition. Membership in Chi Alpha Sigma is a significant honor, celebrating high academic achievement, strong character, and athletic success while providing student-athletes with an opportunity to remain connected within a fraternal association that aligns their educational and athletic successes for a lifetime. The organization reflects Nelson University's commitment to holistic development of men and women who embody integrity, discipline, and excellence in all areas of life. Chi Alpha Sigma at Nelson University was chartered in May, 2025.

Phi Alpha is a national honor society providing a closer bond among students of social work and promoting humanitarian goals and ideals. Phi Alpha fosters high standards of education for social workers and invites into membership those who have attained excellence in scholarship and achievement in social work.

Phi Alpha Theta is a professional society with a mission to promote the study of history through the encouragement of research, good teaching, publication, and the exchange of learning and ideas among historians. Nelson University's first induction was 2001. The chapter seeks to bring students, teachers, and writers of history together for intellectual and social exchanges, which promote and assist historical research and publication by its members.

The Society of Pi Kappa Lambda is established to provide an organization dedicated to the furtherance of music in education and education in music in colleges, universities, and other institutions of higher learning which offer music degree programs in one or more fields. This objective is to be achieved through selection and recognition of those juniors, seniors, and graduate students who have demonstrated superior achievement in a program of instruction offered by the institution in which the chapter is established.

Psi Chi is the National Honor Society in Psychology, founded in 1929 for the purpose of encouraging, stimulating, and maintaining excellence in scholarship and advancing the science of psychology. The Nelson (previously known as SAGU) chapter was established in 2000. Membership is open to graduate and undergraduate men and women who are making the study of psychology one of their major interests and who meet at least the minimum standards of academic excellence required of Psi Chi membership.

Sigma Chi Pi is an honor society of the Assemblies of God. Its purpose is to encourage and honor outstanding academic scholarship, approved Christian character, and Christian leadership demonstrated by graduates of postsecondary schools endorsed by the Alliance for Assemblies of God Higher Education. The name "Sigma Chi Pi" means "Diligent Christian Leaders." Membership is by recommendation of faculty vote and is limited each year to a percentage of the graduating class.

Sigma Iota Epsilon is a national honorary and professional management society. The purpose and goals of Sigma Iota Epsilon are to stimulate scholarship in management, gain recognition of the contribution and value of scholastic achievement in the management discipline, promote cooperation between the academic and practical aspects of management, and to facilitate contacts between students and practicing managers. Faculty members of the Business Department extend honorary membership to business majors taking college courses related to management in any of several business specializations. The Nelson (previously known as SAGU) chapter of SIE, Alpha Nu, was chartered September of 2011.

Theta Alpha Kappa is the only national honor society for religious studies and theology. It has local chapters at colleges, universities, and seminaries across the nation honoring undergraduate and graduate students of academic excellence. In addition, TAK also recognizes faculty who serve their institutions with distinction in these fields. TAK was established at Nelson (previously known as SAGU) in 2009.

Rho Alpha Sigma is the only national honor society for Resident Assistants that was established at Nelson in 2019. Its purpose is to encourage and honor outstanding academic scholarship, Christian character, and Christian leadership.

PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATIONS

American Student Government Association (ASGA) is an organization devoted exclusively to serving Student Governments. ASGA provides all Student Government leaders and advisors nationwide with networking, research, and information resources and teaches them how to become more effective, ethical, and influential leaders on their campuses. ASGA advocates the importance of having a vibrant, autonomous Student Government organization at every institution in America. Nelson University seeks to honor student leaders graduating who have served as a Student Congress Executive Officer for a minimum of one (1) year. Membership began in 2025.

This information applies to all students enrolled at Nelson University's Off-Campus Instructional Site in Visalia, California, regardless of program length, enrollment status, or method of instruction. The policies outlined in this addendum describe how the university will serve students at this site, as these policies may differ from the university's standard practices.

Georgia Students

The following policies pertain to all students partnering with Nelson University Valor School of Leadership and Ministry in Griffin, Georgia.

REFUND POLICIES

Georgia site students are classified as Nelson University online students with a face-to-face teaching component and an online enhancement. Academic schedules for online students do not take into consideration holidays or breaks; therefore refund policies will be based upon the semester start dates as stated in the Nelson University Academic Calendar.

OVERPAYMENT

Refunds of accounts with overpayment due to financial aid will be made within 14 days after the school has received the financial aid from the vendor and it has been applied to the student's account.

WITHDRAWAL/TERMINATIONS

Upon withdrawal/termination, all amounts due to Nelson University are payable in full. Nelson University does not charge any administrative fees for withdrawal from courses for Georgia site students. No refund is given for the Application Fee as stated in the catalog. All Financial Aid that was previously awarded for subsequent semesters in the current school year is cancelled at the time the student withdraws. In order for the student to be re-awarded, he/she must submit a written notice of intent to re-enroll to the Financial Aid Office.

FALL, SPRING AND SUMMER SEMESTER

Any student who withdraws/terminates or drops a class at the Georgia site during the fall, spring or summer semesters will be refunded according to the institution's refund policy.

RETURN OF INSTITUTIONAL GRANTS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

If an institutional grant or scholarship recipient from the Georgia site withdraws during the semester in which the grant or scholarship was received, the unearned amount of the grant or scholarship will be returned to the institution according to the following schedule.

First and Second Week of Classes.....100%
Third Week of Classes.....75%
Fourth Week of Classes.....50%
Fifth Week of Classes.....25%

SPECIAL EXCEPTIONS TO REFUND POLICY

In the event of extenuating circumstances such as a student injury, prolonged illness or death, or circumstances deemed appropriate by the administration which prohibits completion of the course or program of study, the student may appeal the existing refund.

VA Benefits Pending Payment Policy

In accordance with Title 38 US Code 3679(e), Nelson University has adopted the following for any students using U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Post-9/11 G.I. Bill® (Ch. 33) or Vocational Rehabilitation & Employment (Ch. 31) benefits, while payment to the institution is pending from V.A.

Nelson University will not:

- Prevent the student's enrollment
- Assess a late penalty fee to the student
- Require the student to secure alternative or additional funding

However, to qualify for this provision, such students may be required to:

- Produce the VA Certificate of Eligibility (COE) by the first day of class
- Provide a request to be certified
- Provide additional information needed to properly certify the enrollment as described in other institutional policies

G.I. Bill® is a registered trademark of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA).

Financial Aid Policies

The following policies and funds are specific to the undergraduate student. Please see the Graduate Academic Catalog for policies and funds related to the Graduate Student.

APPLICATION DATES

Applications for financial assistance are available after January 1 of each year for the following academic year (August-May). The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) can be submitted online at www.fafsa.gov and should be completed by March 1. Priority is given to students whose FAFSA's are submitted by March 1 and whose files are accurate and complete by April 15. To have funds ready at registration, the following deadlines are suggested: Apply by May 1 and have a complete and accurate file by July 1. Students planning to attend summer school need a FAFSA filed for the academic year preceding the summer session. Students are required to apply for institutional aid prior to the end of late registration each semester. After the end of late registration, students cannot be awarded any additional institutional financial aid even if otherwise eligible.

FINANCIAL AID ELIGIBILITY

The financial aid lock in date is the last day a student can receive a 100% refund. This date will determine Pell Grant and Stafford Loan eligibility. Classes added after this day will not be eligible for additional federal or state aid. Federal Pell Grants will prorate by the number of credit hours registered in on this day. Students receiving Pell funds are required to attend at least one class period in each course to become eligible for funding. Stafford Student Loan eligibility requires a student to be locked into no less than six (6) credit hours. In order to qualify for state financial aid, students must lock into the required number of hours for each program. Please see the Financial Aid Office for these program requirements.

RETURN OF TITLE IV FEDERAL FUNDS INTRODUCTION

The law specifies how Nelson University must determine the amount of Title IV program assistance that you earn if you withdraw from school. The Title IV programs offered at Nelson University that are covered by this law are: Federal Pell Grants, Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans, Direct PLUS Loans, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG), and Federal Perkins Loans.

Though your aid is posted to your account at the start of each semester, you earn the funds as you complete the semester. If you withdraw during the semester, the amount of Title IV program assistance that you have earned up to that point is determined by a specific formula. If you received (or Nelson University or your parent received on your behalf) less assistance than the amount that you earned, you may be able to receive those additional funds. If you received more assistance than you earned, the excess funds must be returned by Nelson University and/or you.

A return of Title IV (R2T4) funds calculation is performed when a student who is awarded federal funds withdraws from a semester of study. The Financial Aid Office uses software provided by the U.S. Department of Education to complete this calculation. The student's account statement and financial aid record is used in conjunction with this software.

ESTIMATE OF AID EARNED OR AID THAT MAY NEED TO BE RETURNED

The amount of assistance that you have earned is determined on a pro rata basis. For example, if you completed 30% of the semester, you earn 30% of the assistance you were originally scheduled to receive. Once you have completed more than 60% of the semester, you earn all the assistance that you were scheduled to receive for that semester. This means that if a student receiving federal Title IV aid withdraws after completing 60% of the semester, no Title IV funds will be returned. The student is considered to have earned 100% of the Title IV aid for the semester.

Here's an example of how you can estimate the percentage of Title IV aid that you have earned in a semester (enrollment period).

$$\frac{\text{Enrolled Days}}{\text{Days in the Enrollment Period}} = \%\text{ of Title IV Earned By Student}$$

You can also compute a rough estimate of the amount that you may be required to repay prior to withdrawing by using the U.S. Department of Education's Treatment of Title IV Funds When A Student Withdraws form.

UNOFFICIAL WITHDRAWALS AND EARNING ALL NON-PASSING GRADES

If you fail to earn a passing grade in at least one of your courses (i.e. all F's, NC's, all I's or a combination of non-passing grades) during a semester, you are considered to have, for purposes of federal Title IV funds, unofficially withdrawn from the University. As a result, a federal withdrawal calculation must be performed to determine the amount of Title IV funds that you must repay. The only exception is when Nelson University can document (within 30 days of the end of the semester) that you should not have been considered unofficially withdrawn. For example, that you were academically engaged after the 60% point of the semester or that you did not meet the requirements for administrative withdrawal in an online course.

Once semester grades post, and if you fail to earn a passing grade in at least one of your courses, Nelson University will perform the federal withdrawal (Return of Title IV) calculation.

POST-WITHDRAWAL DISBURSEMENT

If you did not receive all of the funds that you earned, you may be due a post-withdrawal disbursement. If your post-withdrawal disbursement includes loan funds, Nelson University must get your permission before we can disburse them. We will contact you via my.nelson email (Nelson University email) to offer you a post-withdrawal loan disbursement. Therefore, it is important that you continue to check your my.nelson even after withdrawing from a semester. You may choose to decline some or all of the loan funds so that you don't incur additional debt. Nelson University may automatically use all or a portion of our post-withdrawal disbursement of grant funds for tuition, fees, and room and board charges (as contracted with the school). Nelson University needs your permission to use the post-withdrawal grant disbursement for all other school charges, and this permission is received each semester by each student when you approve your bill and agree to the terms and conditions of registration in your myNelson portal.

There are some Title IV funds that you may have been scheduled to receive that cannot be disbursed to you once you withdraw because of other eligibility requirements. For example, a student that was awarded federal loans but has not accepted the loans in the myNelson portal or completed the required MPN or loan entrance counseling cannot receive a post-withdrawal disbursement of loan funds.

RETURNING TITLE IV FUNDS

If you receive (or Nelson University or your parent receives on your behalf) excess Title IV program funds that must be returned, Nelson University must return a portion of the excess equal to the lesser of:

1. Your institutional charges multiplied by the unearned percentage of your funds, or
2. The entire amount of excess funds.

Nelson University must return this amount even if we didn't keep this amount of your Title IV program funds. If Nelson University is not required to return all of the excess funds, you must return the remaining amount.

Any loan funds that you must return, you (or your parent for a Direct PLUS Loan) repay in accordance with the terms of the promissory note. That is, you make scheduled payments to the holder of the loan over a period of time.

OVERPAYMENTS

Any amount of unearned grant funds that you must return is called an overpayment. The maximum amount of a grant overpayment that you must repay is half of the grant funds you received or were scheduled to receive. You do not have to repay a grant overpayment if the original amount of the overpayment is $50 or less. You must make arrangements with Nelson University or the Department of Education to return any unearned grant funds.

NON-ATTENDANCE

If you are a Pell Grant, Iraq-Afghanistan Service Grant (IASG) or TEACH Grant recipient, federal regulations require you to have begun attending the courses for which you are enrolled and receiving these grants. If on the final roll sheet distributed to instructors to confirm attendance your instructor indicates that you are not attending a course, you are assumed not to have begun attendance for that course. Your grant will then be adjusted or cancelled based on the courses you have actually begun attending.

If you fail to begin attendance in all of the courses for which you are registered, you will have failed to establish eligibility for financial aid. In this situation, you will be required to repay all of the financial aid that you have received.

LAST DATE OF ATTENDANCE DETERMINATION FOR ALL PROGRAMS

Nelson University records attendance or participation for all on-campus and online courses. The Financial Aid Office uses the student's last date of attendance or participation in calculating whether or not Title IV funds have to be returned to Federal Student Aid. These attendance/participation records are received through Blackboard or instructor records. Additionally, other academic records in Blackboard may be used to help determine the last date of attendance/participation, such as when a student submitted an assignment or completed an assessment in Blackboard.

FEDERAL VS. INSTITUTIONAL REFUND POLICY

The requirements for federal Title IV program funds when you withdraw are separate from any refund policy that Nelson University has regarding institutional grants and scholarships or other non-federal financial aid. Therefore, federal funds may not cover all unpaid institutional charges due to a student's withdrawal, and you may still owe funds to Nelson University to cover any unpaid institutional charges. Nelson University may also charge you for any Title IV program funds that we were required to return. When you approved your bill for the semester, you were emailed a copy of Nelson University's return policy to your my.nelson email account. If you do not have access to this or are not familiar with Nelson University's refund policy, you should contact the Student Billing Office at studentbilling@nelson.edu or (972)825-4645 to ask for a copy.

WITHDRAWAL REQUIREMENTS AND PROCEDURES

You may contact the Registrar's Office at registrar@nelson.edu or (972)825-4640 so that they can provide you with the requirements and procedures for officially withdrawing from school.

When considering withdrawing from the University, students are encouraged to contact the Financial Aid Office first to see how the withdrawal could affect their aid. The Financial Aid Office will assist the student in making an informed decision. Students can contact Financial Aid at financialaid@nelson.edu or (972)825-4730.

REQUIREMENTS AND DEADLINES FOR R2T4 CALCULATIONS AND RETURN OF TITLE IV AID

The following list outlines the requirements and deadlines for the return of Title IV funds:

- Determining withdrawal date: 30 days after the end of earlier of the following: (1) Semester (payment or enrollment period), (2) Academic year in which the student withdrew, or (3) Educational program from which student withdrew.
- Return of unearned Title IV funds: No later than 45 days after the date Nelson University determined the student withdrew.
- Post-withdrawal disbursement to student's account: No later than 180 days after the date Nelson University determined the student withdrew.
- Written notification providing the student (or parent) the opportunity to accept all or part of a post-withdrawal disbursement of Title IV loan funds to the student's account: Within 30 days of Nelson University's determination that the student withdrew.
- Written notification of student's eligibility for a post-withdrawal disbursement of Title IV loan funds in excess of outstanding current (educationally related) charges: Within 30 days of Nelson University's determination that the student withdrew.

- Post-withdrawal disbursement to student for earned Title IV funds in excess of outstanding current (educationally related) charges: From the date Nelson University determined the student withdrew, (1) no later than 180 days for loans, and (2) no later than 45 days for grants.
- Notification to student of grant overpayment: Within 30 days of the date Nelson University determined that the student withdrew.
- Referral of student to Debt Resolution Services: As soon as possible.
- Student (or parent) deadline to submit response instructing Nelson University to make a post-withdrawal disbursement: Deadline is given in writing when Nelson University makes the offer of a post-withdrawal disbursement.
- Notification to student (or parent) of outcome of late request for a post-withdrawal disbursement to student: As soon as possible.
- Student's deadline to return any unearned Title IV funds: (1) For loans, according to the terms of the loan, and (2) for grants within 45 days of the date Nelson University sent or was required to send notice (whichever is earlier)
- If the R2T4 calculation results in a credit balance on a student's account, it will be disbursed as soon as possible and no later than 14 days after the calculation of R2T4. Students can email studentbilling@nelson.edu with any questions regarding refunds.

ADDITIONAL QUESTIONS

If you have questions about your Title IV program funds, you can contact the Financial Aid Office at financialaid@nelson.edu. You may also call the Federal Student Aid Information Center at (800)4-FEDAID [(800)433-3243]. TTY users may call (800) 730-8913. Information is also available on Student Aid on the web at www.studentaid.ed.gov.

SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS POLICY (SAP) - UNDERGRADUATE

Nelson University is required by law to formulate standards to gauge the progress of students receiving financial assistance through federal, state or institutional aid programs by applying both qualitative and quantitative measurements to academic work [34 CFR 668.16(3)]. These measurements shall be used to determine a student's eligibility for all federal Title IV aid and for other need-based financial assistance, unless the terms of a particular grant or funding source states otherwise.

TIME FRAME USED IN MEASURING PROGRESS

All SAP measurements are calculated annually at the end of the spring semester for all programs. Financial Aid Suspension will go into effect at the start of the following fall semester.

QUALITATIVE PROGRESS MEASUREMENT: MINIMUM CUMULATIVE GRADE POINT AVERAGE

A cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) of 2.0 or higher must be attained by the end of the student's first spring semester. Students that transfer credits from other institutions will also have this GPA calculated in the CGPA. This average must be maintained at the end of each subsequent spring semester for a student to continue to receive financial aid. Students who do not meet this minimum CGPA requirement will be placed on Financial Aid Suspension. According to Nelson University academic grading policy, only the latest grade for a repeated course is calculated into the CGPA. More detailed information on how the CGPA is calculated can be found under the Academic Policies in the catalog.

QUANTITATIVE PROGRESS MEASUREMENT NO. 1: NUMBER OF CREDIT HOURS REQUIRED TO COMPLETE

When students enroll for classes and receive financial aid to pay for them, students are expected to complete those classes. If students do not complete at least 70 percent of the credit hours that are attempted during the year, the student will be placed on Financial Aid Suspension. Only passing grades count as successful completions. Incomplete or other grades that do not result in earned credits will not count as completions.

Hours Attempted	Hours Required to Complete	Hours Attempted	Hours Required to Complete
22	15	21	14
20	14	19	13

16	11	15	11
14	10	13	9
12	8	11	8
10	7	9	6
8	5	7	5
6	4	5	4

QUANTITATIVE PROGRESS MEASUREMENT NO. 2: MAXIMUM TIME TO COMPLETE A DEGREE

Students must select a program/degree of study before they can receive financial aid. When students receive financial aid to help pay a program/degree of study, they are expected to complete that program without taking a lot of time.

A student's progress may be evaluated for only one program at a time. Each financial aid applicant must select a primary program/degree of study prior to receiving financial aid payments. A student who is concurrently completing more than one program or major may request additional time to complete the program. A request for additional time must be submitted in writing to the Financial Aid Office.

To make sure that students complete their program in a reasonable amount of time, a limit set by law has been placed on the number of hours that students can attempt in order to complete the program/degree. That limit is 150 percent of the minimum number of hours required to complete the program/degree. (For example, if you are in a program/degree that takes 66 hours to complete, you must finish your program within 99 attempted hours. If you are in a program/degree that takes 120 hours to complete, you must finish your program within 180 attempted hours.)

Once students reach the 150 percent limit, they will no longer be able to receive additional financial aid payments. There are many variables that go into calculating that limit, including, but not limited to:

- All attempted credit hours are counted regardless of whether or not financial aid was received to pay for them.
- Any transfer hours that are accepted from other colleges toward completion of the program are counted. If you are a transfer student, you must submit transcripts from all previous colleges.
- If a course is repeated, all attempts are counted.
- If a student withdraws from a course, it is still counted as an attempt.

Note: If a student cannot complete the program within the 150 percent limit, they will be placed on Financial Aid Suspension when that determination is calculated. Students have the ability to submit an appeal for this determination.

FINANCIAL AID SUSPENSION

If a student fails to meet any one of the SAP measurements described above, they will be placed on Financial Aid Suspension. While on suspension, students will not be eligible to receive any financial aid including Title IV federal student aid. Students will be notified of this via their campus email address.

APPEAL PROCESS

Students placed on Financial Aid Suspension may petition the Financial Aid Department to consider mitigating (special) circumstances that resulted in an inability to meet the SAP requirements. The appeal must be typed and must include the Suspension Appeal Form, an explanation with supporting documentation (i.e., medical statements, divorce documents, letters of unemployment, etc.) of the reason(s) the minimum academic standards required by SAP policy were not achieved. Additionally, each appeal may include other items that a student feels will be helpful such as a letter of endorsement from a Nelson University faculty/staff member. The appeal narrative and documentation should also demonstrate that the adverse circumstances have been resolved.

All appeals will be reviewed within 7 business days of the Financial Aid Office's receipt of a complete appeal (appeal form, student's appeal letter, supporting documentation, etc.). Notification of the review will be sent via Nelson University email.

For appeals that have been approved, students will be placed on Financial Aid Probation for the following semester. At the end of that next semester, a student with an approved appeal will be evaluated to determine if he/she is meeting SAP requirements during the previous semester. If the student is making SAP during that semester, then the Financial Aid Probation status will be removed. If the student is not making SAP in the previous semester, then the student will lose eligibility for all financial aid including Title IV federal student aid. The student may not appeal again for the same reason(s) as their prior appeal.

DEVELOPMENTAL COURSE WORK

Students may take up to 30 hours of developmental course work and receive financial aid to pay for those costs. These hours do not count toward the 150 percent limit to complete the student's degree, but the student will be measured against Quantitative Measurement No. 1 described above. Once the student has attempted 30 developmental hours, he/she will only be paid for attempts of credit hours toward their program. The student cannot receive financial aid to pay for extra developmental hours.

SUMMER ENROLLMENT AND THE SAP

When calculating the SAP status, summer attempted hours will be counted toward the 150 percent maximum, and summer grade points earned will be calculated as part of the cumulative grade point average. The rule pertaining to completion of a minimum number of attempted credit hours will not be calculated for summer enrollment.

FINANCIAL AID WILL NOT PAY FOR:

Any credit hours in excess of the 150 percent maximum program limit (see discussion of Quantitative Measurement No. 2 above)

- Courses taken by audit
- Credit hours earned by placement tests
- Courses registered for after the official certification date of the semester (last day to receive 100% refund)

Financial Assistance

A number of scholarships, grants, loans, and work opportunities are available to help students. Further information and applications are available through the Financial Aid Office. Funding sources are subject to change without notice.

FEDERAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS GENERAL ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS AND DEADLINES

A student seeking financial aid must be a U.S. citizen or an eligible non-citizen; be seeking a degree, diploma or certificate; have a high school diploma, GED, or prove ability to benefit by passing an approved test; not be in default on any educational loan; not owe a refund on a federal grant; agree to use federal aid solely for educational purposes; and make satisfactory academic progress.

Applications for federal student aid must be submitted on an annual basis. The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and the Institutional Financial Aid Application should be filed as soon after the first of the year as possible. Priority consideration is given to students who submit these documents by March 1 and complete their files by April 15 for the next academic year. Financial Aid packets are available in the Financial Aid Office.

Federal Pell Grant: This is a federally funded grant based on financial need. A Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) must be filed annually to determine eligibility. The FAFSA may be completed online at www.fafsa.gov. The amount of the grant depends on the student's (a) Student Aid Index (SAI), (b) enrollment status, and (c) length of time enrolled during the academic year.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG): The FSEOG program is a federally funded grant program. FSEOG's are awarded first to students with exceptional need. Priority in awarding FSEOG's is given to full-time students who receive Pell Grants and apply by the March 1 deadline.

Federal Work-Study Program (FWS): The FWS program is federally funded. This program provides employment opportunities for students to assist them in earning the funds necessary to meet college costs. The student normally works 8-12 hours per week. The student must show financial need as determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid. Employment is not guaranteed. There are more eligible students than there are positions.

Federal Stafford Loan Program (Subsidized and Unsubsidized): The Stafford Loan is a low interest loan made by a participating lender such as a bank, credit union, or savings and loan association. Students may borrow an annual maximum of $3,500 per year as a freshman, $4,500 per year as a sophomore, and $5,500 per year as a junior and senior. Additional unsubsidized loan money is available under certain circumstances. Minimum monthly payment is $50 per month and payment begins six months after the student ceases to be enrolled at least half time. Maximum repayment period is ten years.

Federal Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students (PLUS): PLUS Loans are meant to provide additional funds for educational expenses at a current rate of interest. Parents may borrow up to the cost of attendance minus any other aid for each child who is attending at least half time as a dependent undergraduate student. Normal repayment options require payments beginning within 60 days of the final disbursement. However, repayment options vary; contact your lender regarding these options. Parents can apply online at www.studentloans.gov.

Bureau of Indian Affairs Grant (BIA): Students should contact the area BIA Office in which they are registered to determine eligibility. Students may be required to submit a FAFSA.

Veterans Benefits: Veterans and veteran dependents may be eligible for Educational Benefits through the Department of Veterans Affairs. Contact your area Veterans Affairs Office to see if you meet eligibility requirements. Veterans are certified for enrollment through the Registrar's Office. Student eligibility for VA Rehabilitation is processed through the Financial Aid Office.

STATE ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

Tuition Equalization Grant (TEG): TEG is a need-based state grant. In order to be eligible, students must be full-time Texas residents, meet certain financial need and academic requirements, not be a ministry major pursuing a degree program that leads to a career in church work, and must not receive an athletic scholarship. Funding is very limited. Not all Texas residents will be eligible and some eligible students will not receive TEG because of limited funds.

College Access Loan: Established by the 70th Legislature, this loan program was created primarily to help families who do not qualify for the need-based loans. The amount the student can receive cannot exceed the cost of attendance. Promissory notes must be co-signed, notarized, and a credit check of the co-signers will be administered. Applications are available online at www.hhloans.com.

Vocational Rehabilitation: Students with disabling conditions may be eligible for assistance. Contact your Area Rehabilitation Commission Office. Student may be required to file a FAFSA.

INSTITUTIONAL SCHOLARSHIPS AND GRANTS

Nelson University provides various institutional scholarships and grants for undergraduate students. Examples of such are as follows: Academic Scholarships based on GPA and ACT/SAT test scores, Departmental Scholarships for prospective or current students, Fine Arts and Bible Quiz Scholarships based on certain levels of achievement in the Assemblies of God Fine Arts and Bible Quiz programs, Athletic Scholarships given through Nelson University's Athletic Department based on athletic ability, Assemblies of God Minister and Missionary Dependents Grants, Sibling Grants, and Nelson University Faculty Dependents Grants. Please refer to the Financial Aid Website for a complete listing of all Institutional Scholarships and Grants as well as details regarding eligibility requirements and the application process for each.

DONOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Donor Scholarships are awarded annually. Applications are made available by the Advancement Office through students' my.Nelson portal during the month of January. Scholarships are awarded in April at the Scholarship Awards Luncheon. Recipients are selected by the Scholarship Committee, which is comprised of faculty and staff chosen from the different areas of the University.

For a full list of the endowed donor scholarships, visit https://www.nelson.edu/advancement/endowed-scholarships/. To see a list of the annual donor scholarships, you can email advancementoffice@nelson.edu.

DISTRICT SCHOLARSHIPS

GENERAL COUNCIL SCHOLARSHIPS

General Council of the Assemblies of God Endowed Scholarships for Minority Students: Representatives from both the Christian Higher Education Department and the Intercultural Ministries Department serve on the committee that awards these scholarships. Applications are available in the Financial Aid Office and the deadline is February 1.

Students who attend Assemblies of God churches within Districts that provide scholarships may explore their eligibility with their District Office.

Academic Information

Admissions Policies

RELIGIOUS EXPERIENCE

All applicants admitted for studies at Nelson University must evidence a born again spiritual experience as defined by the following passages of Scripture: John 3:3; Ephesians 2:8-9; Titus 2:11; 3:5-7; and I John 1:7-10. Applicants are expected to have accepted Jesus Christ as their personal Savior and Lord and be striving to live a Christian lifestyle. A pastoral recommendation is required (not required for licensed or ordained ministers with the Assemblies of God or other recognized denominations) as part of the application process.

It is the purpose of the University to establish in students high standards of Christian conduct and to encourage them to maintain high standards of conduct. Applicants who are engaging in conduct that is generally regarded as less than exemplary will be denied admission.

ADMISSIONS DEADLINES

Nelson University is a rolling admissions institution. For admission in Fall, the Regular Admissions Deadline is open until August 17th. For admission in Spring, the Regular Admissions Deadline is open until January 5th. For admission in Summer, the Regular Admissions Deadline is open through May 4th.

All prospective students are encouraged to make application as early as possible to ensure the admissions process can be completed before the registration deadline and receive optimum consideration for housing and course placement.

ENROLLMENT DEPOSIT

All new undergraduate on campus students (first-time freshmen or transfer) must pay a $150 Enrollment Deposit as part of their application process. This deposit serves to lock-in selected classes, financial aid and the student's dorm reservation if applicable. Fifty dollars serves as an enrollment fee and $100 serves as a deposit. Upon registration and beginning semester classes, $100 of the initial deposit will be credited to the student's account at the conclusion of late registration. If an applicant decides not to attend, the Admissions Office must receive written notification before July 15 (Fall semester deadline) or December 10 (Spring semester deadline) in order to receive a $100 reimbursement. If the Admissions Office is not contacted by these deadlines, no refund will be given.

FIRST-TIME FRESHMEN ADMISSION

Students applying as First-Time Freshmen must meet the following requirements for admissions consideration. First-time freshmen are students who have no college experience after high school graduation.

1. Submit an official high school transcript showing the date of graduation and a minimum GPA of 2.0* from an accredited public or private high school, home school, or proof of high school equivalency (GED). Students without appropriate high school transcripts on file may not be eligible for state or federal aid.
2. Submit a completed and signed application for admission (www.nelson.edu/admissions).
3. Pay a $35 non-refundable application fee; this fee is a one-time processing charge.
4. Submit a Pastoral Recommendation. The form is part of the online application and must be completed by a pastor who has personal knowledge of your Christian lifestyle, character, and moral integrity.
5. Submit well-written short answers as described in the application discussing your personal faith, reason for choosing Nelson, and educational goals.
6. Submit scores from the American College Test (ACT) , Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), or the Classic Learning Test (CLT) taken within the last 5 years. The The minimum score required for the ACT is a composite of 19*, or a combined SAT Equivalent. See www.collegeboard.org for SAT to ACT conversion.
7. Submit all transcripts from dual credit course work taken with other institutions, International Baccalaureate transcripts and/or Advanced Placement scores.

All materials submitted during the admissions process become property of Nelson University and will not be returned.

*Students that do not meet the minimum academic admissions requirements may be considered for admission on a case-by-case basis as determined by the Admissions Committee. Contact your Admissions Counselor for more information.

ADMISSION OF HOME-SCHOOLED STUDENTS

Home-schooled students are encouraged to apply for admission. The Admissions Office works with home-schooled students individually considering each situation as unique. Requirements are the same as other freshmen or transfer applicants. Home school transcripts should include grades from 9-12, a graduation date, final GPA, and a signature of the school official. An ACT, SAT, or CLT score is also required.

Home-schooled students under the age of 17 who do not have a high school diploma from an accredited high school or organization, and do not have a GED, may be admitted under a "non-degree seeking" status. By law, these students are not eligible for state or federal financial aid until they reach the age of 17, but may be eligible for institutional aid. At age 17, these students will be changed to "regular-degree seeking" status, at which time they may be eligible for state and federal financial aid.

CHECKING THE VALIDITY OF A STUDENT'S HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETION

Nelson University is required to have procedures to evaluate the validity of a student's high school completion if the institution or the Secretary of Education has reason to believe that the high school diploma is not valid or was not obtained from an entity that provides secondary school education. When there is a question regarding the validity of a student's high school completion, Nelson University will require both of the following:

1. Student must provide documentation from the secondary school that confirms the validity of the student's diploma.
2. Nelson University will confirm with or receive documentation from the relevant department or agency in the state in which the secondary school is located that the secondary school is recognized as a provider of secondary school education.

MANDATORY VACCINATIONS

Effective January 1, 2012, the Texas Legislature passed new regulations (with limited exceptions) that affect all students planning to take classes on the Nelson University campus. Please read the following very carefully:

MENINGITIS VACCINATION (STATE REQUIREMENT):

- All new or transfer Nelson University students wishing to take classes on the Nelson University campus must have received the Meningitis vaccine within the last 5 years.
- Nelson University students who do not attend during a fall or spring semester but wish to return to classes must also receive the Meningitis vaccine.
- Regardless of program (on campus or online, undergraduate or graduate), students wishing to take on campus classes must receive the Meningitis vaccine. See age exception below.
- You are strongly encouraged to receive the vaccine as soon as possible at your local clinic or doctor's office. You must receive the vaccine ten (10) days prior to beginning classes and/or moving into Nelson University housing.
- Students 22 years of age or older by the first day of the start of the semester are NOT required to receive the Meningitis vaccine.

Student should submit official documents from a doctor's office or medical clinic indicating they have received the Meningitis vaccine. Documents should be submitted as soon as possible and before arrival on campus. Students will not be allowed to move into University housing or begin classes until these requirements are met.

By state law students are able to receive an exemption from vaccinations. Exemptions may be granted by submitting:

- Signed certificate from a physician indicating that in the physician's opinion, the vaccination required would be injurious to the health and well-being of the student, or
- Affidavit signed by the student and notarized stating that the student declines the vaccination for reasons of conscience, including a religious belief. A conscientious exemption form from the Texas Department of State Health Services must be used. http://webds.dshs.state.tx.us/immco/affidavit.shtm

WELCOME WEEKEND AND STRATEGIES FOR STUDENT SUCCESS

All new on-campus students will be required to attend and participate in Nelson University's Welcome Weekend and the course GES 1122 Strategies for Student Success during their first semester at Nelson University.

On-campus students transferring into Nelson University with less than 30 hours will be required to take the course GES 1122 Strategies for Student Success and attend Nelson University's Welcome Weekend. Students with 30 or more transfer hours may have the course GES 1122 Strategies for Student Success waived; however, the required hours will be added to the student's general electives. All new undergraduate online students are required to take GES 1122 regardless of the number of transfer hours.

ACT SCORES

Any student scoring between 27 and 28 on the English portion of the American College Test (ACT) will be exempted from taking ENG 1113 Composition and Rhetoric I. Students scoring between 29 and 31 will receive academic credit for ENG 1113 Composition and Rhetoric I. Students scoring a 32 or higher on the English portion of ACT will receive academic credit for ENG 1113 Composition and Rhetoric I and ENG 1123 Composition and Rhetoric II.

Students scoring a 22 or 23 on the Math portion of the ACT will be exempted from taking MTH 1113 College Math, if required. Students scoring a 24 or 25 on the Math portion of the ACT will be exempted from taking MTH 1123 College Algebra, if required. Students scoring 26 or higher on the Math portion of the ACT will receive academic credit for MTH 1123 College Algebra.

Students scoring 26 or higher on the Science portion of the ACT will receive academic credit for BIO 1113 Biological Science and BIO 1111 Introduction to Biological Science Lab.

Students exempted from taking a course must make up the hours in their general electives. Scores must be from a nationally administered test and must be sent directly to the University from ACT. All scores must be validated by the Registrar's office prior to the awarding of exemptions or credit. Students may not receive ACT credit for courses in which they already have credit.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT (AP) PROGRAM

High school students with superior academic achievements may earn college credit through the College Board Advanced Placement Program. Scores should be submitted to the Admissions Office. Only scores of 3, 4, and 5 will be considered for credit.

COLLEGE LEVEL EXAMINATION PROGRAM (CLEP)

CLEP tests are designed to evaluate nontraditional college-level education such as independent study, correspondence work, etc. Both enrolled undergraduate students and entering freshmen may receive CLEP credit for CLEP tests, which are classified as "Subject Examinations." Scores are not accepted for CLEP "General Examinations." Credit will be awarded based on the University's criteria and required scores. (Students are not eligible to earn ENG 1113 credit by examination if they have earned more than 30 credit hours.)

DEFENSE ACTIVITY FOR NONTRADITIONAL EDUCATIONAL SUPPORT (DANTES) PROGRAM

Enrolled undergraduate students and entering freshmen may receive DANTES credit for some examinations. Credit is awarded on a course-by-course basis as recommended by the Registrar. Credit will not be accepted for business, English, foreign languages, history or speech courses. Contact the Registrar's Office for information.

THE INTERNATIONAL BACCALAUREATE (IB) PROGRAM

Students who received their diploma through the International Baccalaureate program will receive college credit on the Higher Level International Exam with a test result of 4 or better. The amount of credit awarded will depend upon test scores. The hours will only be awarded after review of the International Baccalaureate transcript.

TRANSFER STUDENT ADMISSION

Transfer students must meet the same admissions requirements as entering freshmen. (See above.) Transfer students are students who have attended college after graduation from high school. However, students transferring into Nelson University with at least 21 hours of applicable transfer credit may have their high school transcripts and test score requirements waived. Applicable credit is defined as credit that is accredited and applies to the student's intended degree program at Nelson University. Transfer students who do not submit exam scores and have not completed Composition I and a college-level math course will be required to take the developmental English and math courses upon initial enrollment. Nelson University reserves the right to request transcripts or scores from students, regardless of total number of credits transferred.

Nelson University requires that transfer students request official transcript(s) from each college attended. Transcripts must be sent directly from the previous college to the Nelson University Admissions Office. Transfer students are expected to have eligibility to re-enroll in the last school attended. Any enrollment permitted without an official transcript is only provisional and students may not be permitted to re-enroll without official transcripts on file. Additionally, no transfer credit will be allowed until a satisfactory transcript is on file. Students entering with this status are considered freshmen until official transcripts are received, evaluated, and processed. This may have an effect on state and federal financial aid.

TRANSFERRING FROM UNACCREDITED INSTITUTION

Students transferring in from unaccredited institutions are required to submit ACT, SAT, or CLT scores, regardless of total number of credits transferred. Scores will be used for academic placement. For complete details concerning Nelson University's unaccredited institution policy, please refer to the Transfer Policy section.

ACADEMIC STATUS

When determining a transfer student's academic status, the total number of hours attempted and cumulative grade point average from all transfer schools are used. Any student transferring into Nelson University whose cumulative grade point average falls below Nelson University standards will be placed on the appropriate academic status. If deemed necessary, a student may be given conditional admittance as determined by the Admissions Committee.

ADMISSION OF FORMER NELSON UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

Former students* seeking to re-enroll must:

1. Submit a new admissions application.
2. Submit an updated pastoral recommendation.
3. Submit official college transcripts if other colleges were attended during absence from Nelson University.

Former students are defined as students who have not attended Nelson University for one year (Fall, Spring and Summer) or more.*

EARLY COLLEGE CREDIT PROGRAM

The Early College Credit Program is designed for high school students who wish to enroll in college level courses. Students may enroll in up to six (6) credit hours per semester. Students may take courses in a non-degree seeking status or may pursue an associate's degree. Contact the Admissions Office for current requirements, degree options, and pricing.

ADMISSION AS A SPECIAL STUDENT

Applicants who do not want to pursue a degree, but want to take courses can apply as Special Students. As non-degree seeking students, Special Students are ineligible for state or federal financial aid and are limited to a maximum of 12 credit hours. Special Students may not apply to become degree-seeking students between sessions in the same semester.

ADMISSION OF INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Nelson University is authorized by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to educate non-immigrant students (F-1 classification). International applicants of other classifications or statuses must be legally eligible to study in an U.S. academic institution before they are admitted to Nelson University. All international students are subject to the same admissions policies as other entering students in addition to the policies listed below. Applicants must apply no less than six (6) months prior to the semester they intend to begin classes at Nelson University.

FIRST-TIME INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

For admissions consideration into Nelson University, applicants must meet the following requirements:

1. Submit an official transcript showing the date of graduation and a minimum GPA of 2.0* from a secondary institution equivalent to a U.S. college preparatory secondary institution. Transcripts from non-U.S. schools must be submitted to a third party evaluator for equivalency determination and translation.
2. Submit a completed and signed application for admission (www.nelson.edu/admissions).
3. Submit a $35 non-refundable application fee; this fee is a one-time processing charge.
4. Submit a Pastoral Recommendation. The form is part of the online application and must be completed by a pastor who has personal knowledge of your Christian lifestyle, character, and moral integrity.
5. Submit well-written short answers as described in the application discussing your personal faith, reason for choosing Nelson, and educational goals.
6. All international students are to submit the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) with a minimum score of: 525 paper-based, 197 computer-based, or 71 internet-based. The student must have taken the test within the last five years. (Applicants from certain countries or transferring more than 30 hours from a regionally accredited U.S. institution may be exempt from this requirement. Please contact the International Student Advisor for more information.)

7. Submit scores from the American College Test (ACT), Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), or Classic Learning Test (CLT) taken within the last 5 years. The ACT test is preferred. The minimum score required for the ACT is a composite of 19*, or a combined SAT Equivalent. See www.collegeboard.org for SAT to ACT conversion. ACT testing centers are available internationally and, in certain instances, upon request. For more information, please go to www.act.org.
8. International students who are not financially able to support their studies must arrange for their own financial sponsors. Financial sponsors are expected to assume all expenses incurred while at Nelson University. An I-134 Affidavit of Support Form or notarized letter must be completed to verify sponsorship. I-134 forms can be downloaded online at www.uscis.gov. Official bank statements indicating at least six (6) months (the most recent statements) of activity must accompany all Affidavits of Support and Letters of Support. If students intend to support themselves during their stay in the U.S., they must provide proof of financial ability (at the start) to pay all expenses associated with studying at Nelson University for the full length of their program. Students may request a list of projected expenses from the International Student Advisor.

All materials submitted during the admissions process become property of Nelson University and are not returned. F-1 students cannot be conditionally admitted/matriculated therefore all materials must be submitted prior to acceptance and issuance of I-20 (see also I-20 Issuance below).

Students that do not meet the minimum academic admissions requirements may be considered for admission on a case-by-case basis as determined by the Admissions Committee. Contact your Admissions Counselor for more information.*

INTERNATIONAL TRANSFER STUDENTS

In addition to the requirements stated above, international students wishing to transfer from another U.S. institution must:

1. Present documentation indicating valid non-immigrant status.
2. Provide official transcripts from all previous institutions.
3. Once all application materials have been received and reviewed, the International Student Advisor will submit a Transfer Clearance Form to the student's previous institution.

International students desiring to transfer coursework from a non-U.S. institution must have their transcripts evaluated by a third party evaluator approved by Nelson University.

I-20 ISSUANCE

In addition to the Admission's requirements above, F-1 applicants are required to submit the following before an I-20 is issued:

Proof of English Proficiency - All international students are to submit the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) with a minimum score of 525 paper-based, 197 computer-based, or 71 pre-2026; 4 or above post-2026 internet-based. The student must have taken the test within the last five years. (Applicants from certain countries or transferring more than 30 hours from a regionally accredited U.S. institution may be exempt from this requirement. Please contact the International Student Advisor for more information.)

Proof of Financial Support - If students intend to support themselves during their stay in the U.S., they must provide proof of financial ability to pay all expenses associated with studying at Nelson University. International students who are not financially able to support their studies must arrange for their own financial sponsors. Financial sponsors are expected to assume all expenses incurred while at Nelson University. These expenses include but are not limited by tuition, room and board, living expenses, supplies, and emergency expenses. Sponsors must complete an I-134 Affidavit of Support Form or notarized letter to verify sponsorship. Sponsors may download I-134 forms at www.uscis.gov. Current, official bank statements indicating at least six (6) months (the most recent statements) of activity must accompany all Affidavits of Support and notarized letters, sufficient to cover the first year of tuition in liquidable funds.. Students may request a list of projected expenses from the International Student Advisor.

First Semester Deposit - Nelson University requires that all F1 applicants submit their first semester's payment in full prior to receiving an I-20. In the event that the student is not able to attend Nelson University for the semester they were intending, Nelson University will refund the money to the owner.

- Per DHS regulations, F-1 students are not eligible for Online, Graduate, or School of Ministry programs at Nelson University.
- Upon arrival to campus for accepted F-1 students, the most recent I-94 must be presented to the Designated School Official (DSO) at Nelson University.

FULL-TIME REQUIREMENT FOR STUDENTS IN F-1 CLASSIFICATION

In addition to being accepted, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) requires all undergraduate students on an F1 visa to maintain full-time on-campus enrollment while studying in the U.S. For undergraduate students, full-time enrollment consists of 12 semester credit hours. All requests for a reduced course load must be made in advance to the International Student Advisor and must meet specific DHS-regulated criteria. According to the Code of Federal Regulations, students must only count three (3) credit hours of online courses per semester toward their full-time load.

FORMER INMATES OF PENAL INSTITUTIONS

Anyone who has been in a penal institution shall re-establish himself/herself in society for at least one year prior to the date of application before coming to Nelson University. The following guidelines are followed:

1. No court cases may be pending.
2. Repeat felons may not be admitted.
3. Following a judgment of probation, a student may apply to enroll at Nelson University after a period of one year.

Following imprisonment, a one-year period of rehabilitation/re-establishment is required prior to the student applying for enrollment.

1. Consideration will be given to waive the aforementioned stipulations if an individual has successfully completed a spiritual rehabilitation program with Teen/Life Challenge and can provide a positive reference from the director of Teen/Life Challenge.
2. Extensive character references should be included with any application submitted by a convicted felon.

Transfer Policies

GENERAL POLICIES

Transfer credit is defined as any curriculum that is not created by Nelson University faculty or faculty committees and taught by Nelson University faculty. In addition to courses transferred from other colleges, transfer credit also includes all credit by exam, Credit for Prior Learning, ACE credits, military credits, as well as other credit that meets the definition above.

The University determines acceptable transfer credit from other institutions based on evaluation of course content as described in the catalogs of those institutions and in consultation with appropriate academic units at Nelson University as necessary for clarification.

Students transferring courses to Nelson University should note the following:

- Incoming students should check with their Admission's counselor for advice about the transferability of courses they intend to take. Current Nelson University students must check with the Registrar's Office prior to taking transfer credits. Nelson University is not obligated to accept credit transferred from students who did not seek approval prior to attempting the credit.
- Transfer credit may only be received for course work completed at regionally accredited institutions or professionally accredited institutions that Nelson University recognizes. Additionally, there are a limited number of institutions that satisfy Nelson University's Unaccredited College Policy, which students may inquire about. (See Transfer of Credits from an Unaccredited College below.)
- Nationally accredited institutions are accepted on a case-by-case basis with syllabi review.
- All Nelson University undergraduate students must complete a minimum of 25% of the credit hours required for their degree at Nelson University.
- Nelson University only accepts courses from other institutions in which the student has earned a grade of "C-" or above.
- With the exception of transient courses, Nelson University does not enter grades received at other institutions on the Nelson University transcript and the quality points do not count toward the student's Nelson University GPA. Transient courses are courses taken at other institutions while the student is a continuing student at Nelson University. Transient students will still have transfer course grades listed on their Nelson University transcript.
- Nelson University only transfers credits to meet course requirements for graduation.
- Students pursuing a bachelor's degree are required to have a minimum of 30 hours of Junior and Senior-level (3000-4000) courses. A lower-level (1000-2000) course that is transferred for an upper-level (3000-4000) course does not count towards the upper-level hour requirement.
- Nelson University students within the last 30 hours of their program may only transfer a maximum of six (6) hours. This policy does not supersede the policy requiring students to have a minimum of 25% of their degree-applicable credits in residence at Nelson University. Further, students may not transfer credits or attempt credit by exam in their last semester. (See also Graduation Policies.)

- Incoming students must request official transcripts from their previous institutions be sent to the Admissions Office in order to transfer credit. Current Nelson University students must request official transcripts be sent to the Registrar's Office. Official transcripts must come directly from the sending institution.
- Nelson University faculty and academic staff maintain complete discretion in the evaluation and application of transfer credit.

NEW/RETURNING TRANSFER STUDENT

For policies concerning transfer credit for new and returning students, please refer to section entitled Admission as a Transfer Student.

CURRENT STUDENT

Continuing students - students currently enrolled - planning on transferring in courses from other colleges should check with the Registrar's Office before taking any course work. Students who are within the last 30 hours of their degree can only transfer six (6) additional hours provided that they have not already met the transfer limits for the institution. Continuing Nelson University students who take courses as transient students at other institutions may transfer their grades back to Nelson University.

TRANSFER OF CREDITS FROM AN UNACCREDITED COLLEGE

In order to have courses from an unaccredited college evaluated, the student must complete the following steps:

1. An official transcript (signed and sealed) must be sent directly from the college to the Admissions Office. The transcript must include (as one document or separate documents) a transcript key or guide with explanation of credit that lists duration of courses, how many minutes/hours the course met each day, how many weeks it met each semester, and how many days it met each week. An official transcript from the sending college as to the duration of courses must be provided. This must include how many minutes the course met each day, how many days it met each week, and how many weeks it met in each semester.
2. The student must provide a syllabus for each course that the student wishes to have evaluated for transfer credit. The evaluation is received and evaluated by both faculty and academic leadership to determine level, content, quality, comparability, and degree program relevance.

Finally, the student must validate the transfer of unaccredited courses by earning at least a 2.0 GPA during the first 24 credit hours of study at Nelson University.

TRANSFER OF DEVELOPMENTAL COURSE WORK

Please refer to the following section entitled Developmental Studies Courses Policies.

MILITARY CREDIT

Credit is reviewed on a course-by-course basis. Former military personnel may receive up to four (4) hours of physical education credit with proper documentation (DD-214).

VOCATIONAL/TECHNICAL CREDIT

GENERAL GUIDELINES FOR ACCEPTANCE OF VOCATIONAL TYPE CREDIT

Nelson University will accept a limited amount of vocational/technical credit towards the completion of a degree on an academic program (e.g. AA, AS, BS, BA, etc.). Courses that are terminal in nature and focus on a single trade or craft (cosmetology, massage therapy, automotive, etc.) are not eligible for transfer. Also, Nelson University will only transfer credit from institutions for which transfer is a stated option and are accredited by a CHEA-recognized accrediting agency. Nelson University does not accept vocational credits that are awarded through Continuing Education Units (CEUs).

Courses eligible for transfer should meet the following requirements:

1. Courses are transcripted as college credit and are not terminal in nature.
2. Transferring institution is accredited by a CHEA-recognized accrediting agency.
3. Courses cover a range of intellectual and professional knowledge rather than narrowly focusing on a repetitive single skill-set or craft.

ACCEPTANCE OF CREDIT FOR COURSES IN WHICH NELSON UNIVERSITY DOES NOT OFFER PROGRAMS

Nelson University will accept up to 12 elective hours of vocational, technical, or applied sciences credit towards degrees in which Nelson University does not have a specified emphasis in the coursework being transferred. Credit will be evaluated for quality, content, and learning outcomes. The general guidelines for acceptance of vocational credit as stated above apply. Courses eligible for transfer should employ a theoretical framework and higher-order thinking skills for the vocation in which they are being trained.

ACCEPTANCE OF CREDIT FOR COURSES IN WHICH NELSON UNIVERSITY OFFERS A PROGRAM

For technical coursework in which Nelson University does have an area of emphasis (e.g., Criminal Justice), transfer credit will be assessed on a course-by-course basis for applicability. All credit must still meet the general guidelines for acceptance as stated above.

ALTERNATIVE CREDIT

Nelson University does not accept credit from Alternative Credit organizations (e.g., Straighterline, Sophia, Study.com, etc.).

CORRESPONDENCE WORK

Nelson University will accept up to twelve hours of correspondence work from a regionally accredited university toward a degree.

CREDIT BY EXAMINATION

The following policies and procedures govern all credit awarded through any advanced placement or credit by examination program:

1. Credit by examination may be earned for:
   a) any course (or its equivalent) in which the student has not attempted* at Nelson University or another institution.
   b) any subject area in which the student has not already earned credit for a more advanced course, except by permission of the Provost and Vice President for Academics.
   c) any course for which the student has not already received a grade.
2. Credit by examination courses are recorded on the transcript as a credit (CR) rather than a letter grade and are not semester-specific.
3. A student may receive credit for a maximum of 25% of course work toward a degree. These hours do not count as credit earned in residence.
4. Credit received by examination satisfies degree requirements in the same way as credit earned by passing courses.
5. Students may not attempt credit for a CLEP examination for a course in which a failing grade has been earned at any educational institution.
6. Students desiring undergraduate credit based upon examination must take the examination at least one semester prior to the semester of their graduation.
7. Students who enter Nelson University with credit by exam scores are required to officially declare any CLEP, AP, or ACT credit within their first academic year.
8. A recording fee will be charged per credit hour for CLEP, DANTES or Departmental Exam credit. See current fee schedule for amount.
9. Credit will be posted after student officially matriculates and appropriate fees (if necessary) are paid.

*Attempted is defined as being enrolled in the course long enough to show up on the student's transcript.

Developmental Studies Courses Policies

Developmental studies courses, as listed below, are integral to the success of those students entering the University with academic challenges. Placement of students into such courses is dependent upon entrance examination scores and any applicable transfer credits. Enrollment in a developmental course incurs the same charges and is valid for the same financial aid as non-developmental courses. Successful completion of a developmental course does not apply toward a student's degree completion.

Achievement in Mind (AIM) I (GES 0011) and II (GES 0021): Placement in these courses is determined at the time of initial enrollment, based upon composite ACT scores. Students who choose not to provide valid ACT scores as part of their admissions application may be required to take and successfully complete GES 0011 and GES 0021 upon initial enrollment.

Crossroads (GES 0031): Required for all students with the academic status of Academic Probation.

English Development: Upon initial enrollment, students with an ACT English or Reading score below 18, or the equivalent SAT Critical Reading score or below, are required to enroll in ENG 0113, Integrated Reading and Writing, their first semester. Students who do not provide placement exam scores and have not met the college-level composition requirement through transfer may be required to take developmental English. Students who demonstrate mastery of learning outcomes, including a final essay, will be eligible to enroll in ENG 1113, Composition and Rhetoric I, and will be required to enroll in ENG 0111, Composition Lab, concurrently with ENG 1113. Students may repeat ENG 0113 and ENG 0111 for credit until they have met course objectives. Students with scores of 18-19 (or the SAT equivalent) will enroll in ENG 0111, Composition Lab, concurrently with ENG 1113, Composition and Rhetoric I.

Math Development: Upon initial enrollment, students with an ACT Math score of 20 or below , or an SAT Math score equivalent, are required to enroll in MTH 0043 Developmental Math Sequence in their first semester and master a designated number of modules, determined by the level of mastery indicated on the placement exam, in order to earn credit. Students may repeat this course until they have mastered all of the modules determined by their initial placement results and required for their degree plan's General Education Math course. Students who do not provide placement exam scores and have not met the college-level math requirement through transfer may be required to take developmental math.

TRANSFER OF CREDITS FROM OR TO OTHER COLLEGES OR UNIVERSITIES

In addition to other transfer policies, students may not receive credit toward graduation requirements for courses that Nelson University deems "developmental" or "remedial." If credit is received for these hours at another university, Nelson University may use these credits as a placement device into subsequent courses.

Nelson University does not authorized the transfer of the following courses to any college or university for standard graduation credit. Use of these courses as a placement tool is purely via institutional prerogative. These courses may be considered "developmental" or "remedial." Each of these courses will receive a grade of Credit/No Credit (CR/NC).

Academic Policies

REQUIRED STUDENT PARTICIPATION IN UNIVERSITY SURVEYS

Nelson University engages in an ongoing program of assessment to determine the effectiveness of its education programs and services, and to make informed, strategic planning decisions. This process, under the direction of the Dean for Institutional Effectiveness, involves the participation of students in national standardized assessment instruments as well as tests and surveys developed within the University. The type and frequency of assessment instruments will vary according to the needs of the University. Nelson University expects each student to participate in the following events as directed by the University:

- Graduating Student Survey (administered during the last semester of all graduating students)
- Student Satisfaction Inventory
- National Survey of Student Engagement
- Career Development Exit Questionnaire
- Residence Hall Survey
- Other surveys as needed

ACADEMIC RECORDS

Student records are housed in the Registrar's Office. All documents created by the institution or received by the institution on behalf of the student become the property of Nelson University. Except for the Nelson University student transcript, Nelson University does not release copies of those documents to any other entity or the student. However, students may request to review their academic record through an established procedure at Nelson University or another approved location. Students seeking records that originated with other institutions or entities will need to submit requests directly to those entities.

Nelson University transcripts may be requested by the student in writing for a fee. Grade reports are available online after the conclusion of each semester. If a student wishes to petition a grade, it must be done in writing to the Registrar's office.

TRANSFER DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

Nelson University does not guarantee that individual courses taken at Nelson University will transfer to other institutions. Transfer decisions are the sole discretion of the receiving institution.

Each higher education institution is responsible for making its own determination as to the curricular content of its courses and programs and assessing the student outcomes of those programs. Therefore, students desiring to transfer courses into those programs from other institutions should be aware that courses with similar sounding titles may not cover the same content and may not transfer. Students should contact the institution they plan to transfer to regarding specific transfer policies.

CLASSIFICATION OF STUDENTS

Classification of students is determined on a semester basis. Classification will be determined as follows:

Freshman:	0 - 29 hours
Sophomore:	30 - 59 hours
Junior:	60 - 89 hours
Senior:	90 or more hours
Full-time Student:	A student who is carrying at least 12 semester hours
Part-time Student:	A student who is carrying less than 12 semester hours

THE UNIT OF CREDIT AND STUDENT LOAD

Nelson University has two modalities for course offerings: On-campus and online. Nelson University calculates course credit for both modalities using the semester credit hour based on the Carnegie Unit. On-campus courses generally assume students to have 15 contact hours a semester per credit hour, and students are expected to prepare to spend two (2) hours outside of class for each hour spent in class. This ratio applies regardless of the duration of the course.

Online courses do not require contact hours, but Nelson University has established guiding principles for online courses based upon the Carnegie Unit regarding the expected academic rigor to ensure a quality learning experience for each online course. For an online course, the required student learning activities are equivalent to 38 hours of expected time investment per semester credit hour the course is offered.

The exceptions to these credit calculations are remedial skill-based, or lab-based courses (e.g. Developmental courses, Music Performance courses, Science Labs, Physical Education courses, Practicum/Internships, etc.)

To help students succeed in their academic and career goals, Nelson University has established the following student load policies for the two course modalities and course durations.

All Undergraduate Degree-Seeking Students

- Students must enroll in a minimum of 12 credit hours during the semester to be considered full-time. Full-time enrollment calculations may include any combination of regular semester or eight-week session coursework provided that the student enrolls, completes, and/or withdraws from the courses according to the U.S. Department of Education regulations.
- Students enrolled in less than 12 credit hours during the semester are part-time.
- Students desiring to take any combination of credits equivalent to 21 or more semester credit hours in a single Fall or Spring semester or 17 or more semester credit hours in the Summer must secure special permission from the Dean for Academic Services (on campus, undergraduate students) or the Executive Dean of Nelson Online (online students and Partner Site students).

Students Who Are Not Conditionally-Accepted or on Academic Probation

- Students are limited to a maximum of 20 credit hours per Fall or Spring semester and 16 credit hours in the Summer, which includes all eight-week session and Main Session courses.
- Students eligible to take eight-week session courses may not enroll in more than ten (10) semester credit hours per session during a semester.

Conditionally-Accepted Students or Students on Academic Probation

- Conditionally Accepted (CA) students are limited to a maximum of 13 credit hours per semester in accordance with their Conditional Acceptance stipulations*. This includes all A/B session and Main Session courses.
- Students on any type of Academic Probation are limited to a maximum of 14 credit hours per semester in accordance with their Academic Probation contracts*.

- Students eligible to take eight-week session courses may not enroll in more than seven (7) credit hours per session, including Main Session courses.

Regardless of course type and modality, all student load policies operate on the overarching principle that the process of learning takes time and effort to achieve. Further, students should not be in course load situations where, based on available information, they are unlikely to succeed.

Individual stipulations may vary depending on the academic needs of the student.*

SEMESTER CALENDAR

Nelson University operates on a semester calendar with regard to processes and policies related to graduation, academic statuses and enrollment statuses. Accordingly, the following definitions will apply to all Nelson University students regardless of how they are taking courses.

Semester/Term: Fifteen-week period of courses during Fall, Spring, and Summer.

Session: Eight-week period of courses within Fall or Spring semesters.

Last Day of Semester: Final day of semester and academic period for regulatory purposes.

Session End Date: Last day of courses for eight-week sessions.

Conferral Date: Last day of the semester when eligible students who have applied for graduation have their degrees officially awarded. May be different than the graduation date or the date of the ceremony.

GRADING

Grade point averages are computed using only the following grades and grade points for each semester hour attempted.

A	93-100	4.0
A-	90-92	3.7
B+	87-89	3.3
B	83-86	3.0
B-	80-82	2.7
C+	77-79	2.3
C	73-76	2.0
C-	70-72	1.7
D+	67-69	1.3
D	63-66	1.0

CR	Credit
PR	Progress
NC	No Credit
P	Pass
NP	No Pass
I	Incomplete
W	Withdrawn
WP	Withdrawn Passing
WF	Withdrawn Failing
WC	Withdrawn Credit/NC
WM	Withdrawn-Military Deployment

The following grades are given to specific courses: CR, PR, NC, P, and NP. These grades do not affect grade point averages but do count toward academic degree requirements and academic progress.

Nelson University uses the approved Learning Management System (LMS) as the authorized gradebook for all courses.

COURSE GRADE AMENDMENT PROCEDURE

Grades fall within the purview of the faculty who bear responsibility for assigning them. Any student requesting a review of a course grade must initiate the discussion with the faculty member who assigned the grade.

SEMINARS

Nelson University offers a variety of credit-only seminars usually for the purpose of exposing students to talented field expertise. Students are allowed to take as many as they wish; however, only three seminars graded "CR" may be counted toward meeting graduation requirements.

MAJORS AND SPECIALIZATIONS

Major refers to the student's general field of study and consists of a minimum of 9 hours for an Associate's degree and a minimum of 30 hours for a Bachelor's degree. Specialization refers to a specifically related sub-field of study within the major and consists of a minimum of 9 hours for an Associate's degree and a minimum of 18 hours for a Bachelor's degree. All full-time students are to include at least one course from the General Biblical Studies component of General Education Studies per semester of enrollment until their requirement is satisfied. Part-time students are to include at least one course from the General Biblical Studies component per 15 semester credit hours of enrollment at Nelson University.

SECONDARY MAJORS/SPECIALIZATIONS - GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

All degree-seeking students must declare a primary major/specialization. The primary major/specialization will serve as the principal basis for advising and course selection. Students may not use courses in the primary major as substitutions for courses in a secondary major (or vice-versa) unless it is for elective-type courses. Programs where the major studies or specialization studies areas are left open for elective-based credit do not qualify for secondary majors/specializations.

BACHELOR'S DEGREES

Students wishing to declare a second major may do so by completing a minimum of thirty (30) hours unique to the second major in the major studies area. Students may request a second specialization by completing a minimum of fifteen (15) hours unique to another specialization in the specialization area. Students may not declare a secondary major or specialization where the respective number of unique hours is less than the minimum stipulated above. Students must complete all unique degree requirements for both programs.

ASSOCIATE'S DEGREES

Students may complete a second associate's major by completing all hours unique to the second major. Additionally, there must be at least nine (9) hours difference between the primary and secondary major.

MINOR

A minor consists of 15-18 semester hours of coursework in a single subject (as outlined by academic departments) outside the student's major field. At least 6 of those hours must be at the junior/senior level. General education courses in the minor subject may count toward the total required hours for the minor. The purpose of the minor is to give the student an additional, though lesser, area of concentration and expertise beyond the major field. Students pursuing elective-based degrees or degrees with 30 or more hours in elective credit may declare one minor from the list of available minors in their catalog year.

ASSEMBLIES OF GOD CREDENTIAL OPPORTUNITY

Nelson University offers a core-curriculum of Bible/Theology/Ministry courses that can qualify students from most degrees program to pursue ministerial credentials with the Assemblies of God. This 24 credit core consists of curriculum approved by the General Council of the Assemblies of God and Nelson University owner districts for the purpose of ministerial credentials. At any point, a student who has completed all 24 credits may engage the credential process: Bible Study, The Church in Mission, Foundations of Church Ministries, Authentic Christianity, New Testament Literature, Old Testament Literature, Introduction to Theology and Apologetics, and Pentecostal Doctrine and History. Please refer to section entitled Ministerial Credentials for All Nelson University Students.

AUDIT COURSES

Course audit is an option for students who want to gain more knowledge on a subject, but do not need the course for their degree. Audits are only intended to give students a theoretical basis in a subject area and not intended for mastery of a subject. Therefore, students auditing a course only receive a grade of AU and are not required to complete the assignments or participate in class discussions.

Course audits are not available via online. Additionally, students may not audit courses that are skilled-based such as applied music courses, physical education courses, lab courses, internship/practicums, or computer skills courses.

Students who wish to audit a course must request to do so through the Registrar's Office during late registration. Audits are subject to seat availability. Further policies and procedures are available in the Registrar's Office. There is a fee associated with auditing a course which is due in full at the time of registration.

EMERGENCY COURSE EXTENSION

Except in the case of documented circumstances outside of the student's control such as health-related issues or natural disasters, no grades of [I] Incomplete will be permitted. Students will be expected to have met certain academic criteria in the course to be eligible for consideration for an emergency course extension. Students who believe they meet this requirement may contact the Registrar's Office for more information.

SEMESTER HONORS AND LATIN HONORS

Honors determinations are based on the semester GPA. After each semester, the Registrar's Office publishes a President's List of all students who have been enrolled for at least 12 semester hours earning a 4.0 semester grade point average, and a Dean's List of students making a 3.50-3.99 semester grade point average. All work must have been completed on time. A student earning grades of "I", "WF", "WP", "NC", "WC", "PR", or "NP" do not qualify. Developmental courses, transfer courses, and credit by exam do not count toward the 12-semester hour requirement. However, college-level Nelson University courses with CR grades (practicums, student teaching, seminars, etc.) may count towards the 12-hour minimum provided the student took other courses which resulted in an eligible semester GPA.

Latin honors are noted at commencement to graduating bachelor's students with high cumulative grade point averages for all their college work.

3.50 - 3.74	Cum Laude
3.75 - 3.89	Magna Cum Laude
3.90 - 4.00	Summa Cum Laude

EXAMINATIONS

1. Instructors give regular examinations during class hours within the semester. To make up an announced test, approval must first be secured from the instructor.
2. Final examinations occur at the end of each semester. All students must take these examinations. Graduating seniors with a grade of B or higher within a course may be exempted from the last examination of the course if the professor designates it as a final exam. However, a graduating senior with a grade of B or higher within a course, at the professor's prerogative, may or may not be exempted from a unit exam given during the final examination week. Early final examinations will not be permitted except for extraordinary emergencies.

ONLINE EXAMINATIONS

The student should ensure that the examination method is understood prior to taking the test. The online program has various online testing procedures, and methods may vary even within the same course. It is recommended that the course syllabus be reviewed carefully and questions be directed to the instructor prior to taking online exams.

Whatever the testing method may be, all students must realize that exams must reflect the independent work and expertise of the student being tested. Questions concerning the content or grading of an exam should be directed to the course instructor and not posted on any electronic discussion area.

Online course exams are administered in Blackboard. To access the exam, the student should log in to the Blackboard course and follow the specific instructions as listed in the course syllabus.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Nelson University places a high value on both academic excellence and spiritual growth. The process of learning is just as important as the outcomes produced. A commitment to Christ encompasses all aspects of life (Matt 22:34-40; Mark 12:28-34; Luke 10:25-28), including behavior and the work completed in class and beyond. Therefore, students are expected to produce work that reflects biblical values such as creativity, excellence, and integrity.

Throughout their studies, students will engage with and build upon the ideas of others whose work has influenced or inspired them. Each academic discipline offers specific guidelines for properly citing these contributions. It is essential to follow the department and course-specific instructions for each assignment.

As such, any form of cheating or academic dishonesty is incompatible with Christian discipleship and will not be tolerated. Any student caught cheating on an exam or assignment may receive an "F" for the assignment or the entire course, and may face further disciplinary action from the institution. Course notes and other materials are prohibited during tests unless explicitly permitted by the professor. Testing must be conducted with academic integrity, and any breach of this, such as having unauthorized individuals present, using forbidden materials or technology, or submitting someone else's work as one's own, will not be allowed.

The use of external words, ideas, images, and multimedia, including content created by generative technologies, must be properly attributed. Failing to attribute these sources correctly, including content produced by emerging technologies like Artificial Intelligence (AI), is considered plagiarism. Different disciplines, professors, and assignments may have varying rules regarding the use of AI and other tools, and it is the student's responsibility to adhere to the specific guidelines provided for each situation. If you have any doubts about what is permitted, please consult your professor.

A student under investigation for academic dishonesty will not be allowed to withdraw from the course. The professor will first address the issue, and if necessary, the matter will be escalated to the relevant College Dean. The Dean will collaborate with the Dean of Academic Services for a resolution, if required. If found guilty of academic dishonesty, the student will not be permitted to withdraw from the course and will receive the grade assigned by the instructor. For more information, refer to the Standards of Conduct in the Student Handbook.

ACADEMIC STATUS

Academic status is determined by a student's cumulative grade point average (CGPA) calculated on the basis of all academic work completed at Nelson University at the end of each semester. For continued enrollment in good academic standing, students must maintain a minimum CGPA of 2.0. Students who do not achieve this minimum requirement may incur one of the following academic statuses.

Academic Alert

A freshman or sophomore is considered on Academic Alert when their semester grade point average (SGPA) falls between a 2.0 and 2.25. Academic alert is not reflected on students' permanent records; however, it does serve as a caution to students who are in danger of falling below minimum academic requirements.

Academic Probation

A student is placed on academic probation at the end of any fall, spring or summer enrollment period in which the cumulative grade point average (CGPA) drops below a 2.0. A student on academic probation must abide by the following guidelines:

1. Students will be required to enroll in and complete a one (1) credit hour, Credit/No Credit (CR/NC) course through the Nelson University Learning Centers called GES 0031 Crossroads - an academic support, accountability course, which does not count toward graduation.
2. Students will not be permitted to enroll in more than 14 hours cumulatively during the semester (See The Unit of Credit and Student Load for details). These hours include GES 0031 Crossroads. (Nelson University is not obligated to accept credits taken concurrently at other institutions during a student's probationary semester.)

Students will be required to comply with a probation contract which provides a plan for continued academic improvement. Failure to meet all obligations of the probation contract may result in academic suspension in the following semester.

Academic Suspension and Continued Academic Probation

A student who, during a probationary semester, either fails to raise their CGPA to the minimum 2.0 standard, fails to meet the terms of his/her probation contract, or has been on academic probation for 50% of their academic career will be placed on Academic Suspension at the end of that semester.

Students receiving academic suspension may appeal to the Dean of Academic Services for re-admission on a Continued Academic Probation status. If the appeal is granted, the student will be required to follow the same guidelines as listed on their appeal contract. Please note: Continued Academic Probation is considered a suspension status for purposes of tracking academic progress.

One and Three-Year Suspensions

Students who fail to make sufficient academic progress during a Continued Academic Probation semester or face their second academic suspension at the conclusion of a semester will serve the second suspension as a One-Year Suspension. One-year suspensions preclude students from enrolling at Nelson University during fall, spring, and summer semesters.

A student academically suspended a third time will not be allowed to re-enroll for three years (fall, spring, and summer).

Early College Credit Academic Suspension Policy

An Early College Credit (ECC) student will be placed on Academic Alert at the end of any fall, spring, or summer enrollment period in which the cumulative grade point average (CGPA) falls below a 2.0. A student on Academic Alert must adhere to the following guidelines:

1. The student will be required to complete a minimum of four (4) Academic Support Meetings with a Nelson Support staff member during the semester (approximately one meeting per month).
2. The student will be limited to enrollment in a maximum of three (3) credit hours during the semester.

ECC students placed on Academic Alert will be monitored for academic progress. A student who earns a cumulative GPA below a 2.0 for a second consecutive semester will be placed on Academic Suspension and will not be permitted to enroll for one semester.

Students receiving their first Academic Suspension may appeal in writing to the Executive Dean of Nelson Online for consideration of reinstatement. If the appeal is approved, conditions for re-enrollment will be outlined in an appeal contract, which must be followed in full.

ECC students who receive a grade of D or F in a course are required to repeat the course during the next semester in which they are enrolled.

NELSON UNIVERSITY LEARNING CENTERS

The Nelson University Learning Centers, located in the Davis Building, exists primarily for the purpose of academic support. It has been established by the University in harmony with its commitment to academic excellence. The Learning Centers is open on campus to students to facilitate their learning experiences. The Nelson Online Support team provides academic assistance to all online and Graduate student populations. The Associate Director of the Learning Centers and Academic Accommodations assists students needing academic accommodations because of a documented physical or mental disability. Students needing such assistance must make application with the Learning Centers' Associate Director of Academic Accommodations once they are enrolled (AcademicAccommodations@nelson.edu). Based on the disability, the Learning Centers' Associate Director of Academic Accommodations will select academic accommodations for the faculty and students' use to maximize the learning experiences for students.

The following policy defines voluntary and mandatory participants, and specifies some related procedures for the Learning Centers:

1. The following students will be required to attend the Learning Centers:
   a) New students with a composite ACT score of 18 and below or a combined SAT score equivalent and below must enroll in a one (1) hour, Credit/No Credit (CR/NC) class through the Learning Centers for each of the first two semesters.
   b) Students who are placed on an adverse academic status (Academic Probation, etc.) due to insufficient CGPA. (Any student who is required to use Learning Centers services yet does not comply with Learning Centers policy will be reported to the Dean of Academic Services.)
2. Students with verifiable learning challenges may apply to voluntarily participate in Learning Centers programs.

NOTICE OF NONDISCRIMINATORY POLICY RELATED TO STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Nelson University is dedicated to providing students with disabilities access to the programs, services, and activities of the University as required by the Americans with Disabilities Act (1990), the ADA Amendments Act of 2008, and by Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

The Associate Director of the Learning Centers and Academic Accommodations located in the Learning Centers, housed in the Davis building, collaborates with Nelson University students, staff, and faculty to provide equal access to educational programs and safeguards against discrimination for qualified students with disabilities.

ACADEMIC ADVISING/SCHEDULING

Nelson University employs a multi-layered strategy for ensuring that students are effectively counseled regarding their program and career goals.

At the onset of their Nelson University experience, new on-campus students are connected with the Academic Program Coordinators over their major through Strategies for Student Success (S3) - the Nelson University-centered orientation course. As part of the course, students are directed to request an initial meeting with their Program Coordinator. This face-to-face meeting is designed to help students learn about the program as well as to give the coordinators a chance to introduce themselves and learn about the students in their programs.

Additionally, on-campus students in the S3 courses have a class session with the Registrar's Office on how course selection works each semester, while online S3 students watch lectures and read materials about the course selection process. All S3 students complete an assignment where they engage in the course selection process. During each course selection process, schedulers assist students with their degree planning activities and provide the final approval for all student course selections.

Schedulers are Nelson University staff members selected by the Registrar's Office and trained in consultation with Program Coordinators and Department Chairs for the purpose of scheduling specific groups of students. Students should freely consult with their schedulers who are assisting them with making the choices best suited for their academic program (degree) and completion goals.

As a further means of ensuring that undergraduate, degree-seeking students have the knowledge and skills they need to succeed, Nelson University instituted a set of scheduling provisions that help safeguard against students taking courses before they are capable of successfully completing them.

These provisions include the following:

- All incoming freshmen and new online students are required to take GES 1122 Strategies for Student Success (S3) in their first enrollment period.
- First semester freshmen are generally limited to 1000-level courses. All other students may only take courses one college-level above their current classification (e.g., Sophomores may take classes up through the Junior-level [3000]).
- ENG 1113 Composition and Rhetoric I must be taken in the first enrollment period unless Integrated Reading and Writing (IRW) is necessary, then IRW must be taken, followed by ENG 1113 in the next semester.
- ENG 1123 Composition and Rhetoric II must be taken the semester immediately following the successful completion of ENG 1113 Composition and Rhetoric I.
- Full-time students are required to enroll in a general education math course until the degree requirement is fulfilled. If students are required to enroll in MTH 0043 Developmental Math Sequence prior to enrolling in a general education math course, students must complete the developmental requirement first, then enroll the following semester in a general education math course. Students enrolling less than full-time are required to start their math requirement no later than their second semester at Nelson University.

Additionally, in line with Nelson University's purpose of equipping students spiritually, all full-time undergraduate students must take at least one Bible Core course each semester until the Core is complete. Part-time undergraduate students must complete a Bible Core course every other regular semester.

No later than the beginning of their Senior year, students intending to graduate should apply for graduation with the Registrar's Office. This alerts the Graduation Coordinator in the Registrar's Office that the student is intending to graduate at the end of a specific semester. The Graduation Coordinator will then prepare a degree audit to determine what requirements the student has left. The Graduation Coordinator will then communicate with the student about those requirements to ensure that the student is eligible to graduate in the semester for which he/she applied. Applying before the start of the Senior year also provides the student with the opportunity to make necessary adjustments to their schedule.

COURSE REPETITION

Courses taken at Nelson University or at any accredited or approved institution in which a grade of C- or lower was received may be repeated in residence at Nelson University in order to improve the student's grade for that course. The student must apply to the Registrar's Office to retake the course. The original grade remains part of the permanent record, but only the final grade and grade points are counted in the student's cumulative grade point average (CGPA). Students who make a lower grade on their second attempt may not revert to their first grade. Students should be aware that financial aid will only pay for one repeat of a course after a passing grade (D- or above) is received.

A course attempted at Nelson University must be repeated at Nelson University. Students may not transfer in courses to meet course requirements they have attempted at Nelson University.

Students may not repeat courses within the same semester they attempted the original course. This applies to all delivery modes and sessions.

CLASS ATTENDANCE POLICY

Unlike some forms of learning, a residential program of education is designed as an in-class learning experience. In this instructional setting, the ability to pass examinations and complete outside projects is only a partial measure of the knowledge, skills, understanding, and appreciation a student may or may not have. Therefore, it is absolutely essential for each student to establish and maintain regular and punctual class attendance. Students may leave class early only by special permission of their instructor. Those scheduled for chapel ministry generally need no more than 5 minutes for preparation.

This policy is designed to assist students in the following ways: 1) to provide the necessary support for new students and at-risk students, 2) to provide a process of developing personal responsibility as students mature through their programs, 3) to provide latitude for students who represent Nelson University on University-sponsored activities under the direct guidance of designated sponsors.

Attendance is taken during every class meeting and begins on the first day each class begins for the semester (even if a student registers late for the class). Nelson University's attendance policy takes into account the possibility that students may need to be absent from class on occasion due to serious illness or unavoidable circumstances. Absences which exceed the allowable number of times a class meets, regardless of the nature or reason for the absences, will result in the student being automatically administratively dropped from the course, receiving a grade of "WP, WF, or WC" depending on the type of class and what grade the student earned. (The student will be assessed the established course withdrawal fee.)

THE FOLLOWING IS A CHART OF ALLOWED ABSENCES FOR UNDERGRADUATE CLASSES

Day of Week Class Meets	Developmental Classes Absences Allowed	1000-2000 Level Absences Allowed	3000-4000 Level Absences Allowed
M/W/F	5% unexcused and 25% excused or 2 unexcused and 10 excused	Cannot Exceed 30% or 12 per semester	Roll must be taken. No minimum attendance numbers are required.
T/TH	5% unexcused and 25% excused or 1 unexcused and 7 excused	Cannot Exceed 30% or 8 per semester	Roll must be taken. No minimum attendance numbers are required.
Nights/Weekends	5% unexcused and 25% excused or 1 unexcused and 3 excused	Cannot Exceed 30% or 4 per semester	Roll must be taken. No minimum attendance numbers are required.

ABSENT AND TARDY POLICY

Students missing fifteen minutes of a class will be counted as absent for that session. Every three tardies acquired in classes that meet three times a week and every two tardies acquired in classes that meet twice a week will be considered as an absence. The student is responsible, at the end of class, to identify his/her tardiness to the professor.

A student who is absent from a class is responsible to make the appropriate advanced arrangements with the faculty member for possible make-up work. The faculty member will have the prerogative to determine if a student may make up any examinations or outside assignments due to a student's absence, along with the time frame in which the work must be completed. Students may receive reduced or no credit for work missed in class due to absence, however, no point reduction will be imposed upon a student's final grade for absenteeism.

STUDENTS RECEIVING VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION (VA) BENEFITS

Nelson University is required to report to the Veterans' Administration (VA) students receiving benefits from the VA who acquire absences totaling 20% or more of their cumulative program, or who are absent five (5) consecutive days or more from any course. Nelson University must report these incidents within 30 days of the threshold occurrence.

COURSE WITHDRAWAL (DROP)

Students wanting to withdraw from or drop a course should do so in writing to the Registrar's Office through the online form. Students must follow these date specifications when withdrawing:

Semester-Based Courses
Students may withdraw from individual courses until the Monday two-weeks prior to the end of the semester or the Monday closest to 90% of the semester. The Last Day to Withdraw from a course is indicated on the Academic Calendar each semester.

Eight-Week Session Courses
Students may withdraw from individual courses until the final Monday of the session or the Monday closest to 90% of the session. The Last Day to Withdraw from a course is indicated on the Academic Calendar each semester.

A grade of "W" will be recorded on the student's transcript for the class dropped. A fee is charged to withdraw from a course; consult the current Schedule of Fees. Students and instructors will be notified through Nelson email once the withdrawal process is complete. Students are not permitted to transfer courses from other institutions or through credit by exam to fulfill requirements for withdrawn courses.

Students failing to follow the correct procedure or meet the deadline to withdraw from a class will receive a grade as determined by the instructor. Students may not withdraw from a course in which they have submitted all course requirements or have received an earned grade.

A student will not be permitted to withdraw from a course if he/she is under investigation for academic dishonesty. In the event that the student is determined guilty of academic dishonesty, then the student will not be allowed to withdraw from the course and will receive the grade determined by the instructor, either an "F" for the assignment and/or an "F" for the course (See Academic Integrity).

ONLINE COURSE ENROLLMENT VERIFICATION POLICY

The Course Enrollment Verification (CEV) process documents that students enrolled in an online course are engaged in academic activities (such as submitting assignments, taking quizzes, or contributing to discussions) to comply with federal aid requirements. Federal financial aid regulations require institutions to verify that students enrolled in an online course are actively participating in their courses to remain eligible for Title IV aid and other forms of financial assistance. Completing the CEV confirms a student's academic attendance and determines eligibility for federal, state, and institutional aid. Students who fail to submit assignments or the CEV may be considered to have unofficially withdrawn, which can result in adjustments or repayment of financial aid funds.

Main Semester Courses
CEV due on Day 7 of each semester. Assignment submissions are assessed on Day 15 of the semester.

Eight-Week Session Courses
CEV due on Day 7 of each session. Assignment submissions are assessed on Day 15 of the session.

All Courses
Students will be assigned a grade of Withdrawn Failing (WF) based on their lack of progress at the time of the withdrawal and a fee will be assessed by Student Billing. In the event of administrative withdrawal from a developmental course, a grade of Withdrawn (WC) will be assigned and a fee will be assessed.

Except for cases of institutional error which led the student to be inappropriately withdrawn, administrative withdrawals are final after they are processed. Students administratively withdrawn from a course during refund periods may not be eligible for the refund. Students must request withdrawal with the Registrar's Office through the appropriate online forms prior to being eligible for administrative withdrawal to receive any tuition refund.

Further, while a WC grade does not affect GPA calculations, it will count toward the Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) calculation for financial aid purposes. WF grades will affect undergraduate GPA calculations and may be used for Academic Probation and/or Academic Suspension determinations in addition to SAP calculations.

Please note: Communicating with an instructor via email, in the course discussion board, or outside of the course about matters not related to course content or learning outcomes does not count as course participation. Also, logging into the course in Blackboard does not constitute course participation. Students must demonstrate active engagement in their courses by submitting completed assignments or the CEV.

COMPLETE ADMINISTRATIVE WITHDRAWAL

Students who are administratively withdrawn from all of their courses for the semester or who withdraw from some of their courses and were administratively withdrawn from their remaining courses will receive a Complete Administrative Withdrawal for the semester. The withdrawal date will be the last day the student attended his/her on-campus course(s) or the last day the student participated in his/her online course(s) through assignment submission, discussion post, or other substantive engagement. Students will receive WF, WP, or WC as determined by their instructor in alignment with the grading policy of the course.

Students may also receive a Complete Administrative Withdrawal as a result of a student conduct issue that leads to expulsion or suspension. Regardless of the expulsion or suspension date, the withdrawal date is the last day the student attended his/her on campus course(s) or the last day the student participated in his/her online course(s) through assignment submission, discussion post, or other substantive engagement. Students will receive a WP or WC grade for all active courses based on the grading policy of the course.

COMPLETE WITHDRAWAL FROM SCHOOL (SEMESTER)

Students needing to completely withdraw from school must file an official withdrawal notice via the online form before the 'last day for complete withdraw" (as noted on the Academic Calendar). Students failing to follow the proper procedure in withdrawing are not eligible for any refund and will receive grades in all courses as determined by the instructors. Official transcripts cannot be released until proper clearance is arranged. Students may not completely withdraw from the semester after receiving earned grades for courses including session-based courses.

Semester-Based Courses

Students may completely withdraw from school for the semester until the Monday of Week 9 of the semester. The last day for complete withdraw is indicated on the Academic Calendar each semester. Students may withdraw from individual courses, but they may not withdraw from all their courses, or their last course after Week 9 of the semester.

Eight-Week Session Courses

Students may completely withdraw from school for the semester until the Monday of Week 5 of the Session. The last day for complete withdraw is indicated on the Academic Calendar each semester.

The complete withdrawal date during the second Eight-Week Session is reserved for students who only enrolled in the Eight-Week Session courses. Students who have a combination of semester-based and session-based courses will not be permitted to drop their last course after Week 9 if it will result in a complete withdrawal for the semester.

A grade of “W” will be recorded on the student’s transcript for the withdrawn courses. Students and instructors will be notified through Nelson email once the withdrawal process is complete. Students are not permitted to transfer courses from other institutions or through credit by exam to fulfill requirements for withdrawn courses.

Medical Withdrawal Policy

Students requesting withdrawal from Nelson University due to a documented medical issue that substantially interferes with their course progress may do so through the Complete Withdrawal Form until the last day for complete withdraw for the enrollment period as stipulated on the Academic Calendar. Properly initiated and documented withdrawal requests will result in W grades for all semester courses.

Nelson University may permit a retroactive withdrawal due to emergency medical issues if the student notifies the University within 30 days of the end of the semester and provides appropriate documentation of the emergency.

As with other withdrawals, medical withdrawals may affect financial aid eligibility, athletic eligibility, and international student status. Students should consult with the appropriate office or personnel prior to withdrawing.

Withdrawal and Readmission Policies for Military Students Call to Active Duty

A fully-enrolled student who is a member of the U.S. Armed Forces, National Guard, or is in the Reserves, and who is ordered to Active Duty by the U.S. federal government for more than 30 consecutive days or less than 30 days if the absence/lack of course participation would normally lead to withdrawal has the following options pertaining to that period of enrollment:

- File for a Complete Withdrawal from school and receive a full refund of tuition and mandatory fees. The student will receive a WM (Withdrawal-Military) on his/her transcript for each of his/her courses. As with all other attempted courses, those courses/requirements would not be eligible for transfer to Nelson University from another institution.
- If the service period is less than the period of enrollment, students may make arrangements through the course instructors and approved through Academic Services for a limited and specific extension of time to complete the courses after the student’s service has ended. If arrangements are approved, the student’s registration will continue, and no refunds will be issued. However, students in this situation will not be charged the course extension fee.

Students called to duty must notify the Nelson University Registrar’s Office in writing or verbally as far in advance as is practical. Students applying for military enrollment benefits should submit a copy of their military orders along with their request. In the event of an emergency deployment or the student is under orders not to disclose their deployment, students must submit appropriate documentation of military service upon their return.

For students using Title IV funds (federal financial aid) to finance their education, a Complete Withdrawal from school will initiate the Return of Funds calculation as required by federal regulations. For more information about the implications of a Military Withdrawal on financial aid status, please contact the Nelson University Financial Aid Office. Additionally, students need to follow-up with Student Billing regarding any Veterans Benefits they may be receiving.

Except for the circumstances listed under 34CFR668.18(e), a student's cumulative active duty service obligations must equal five (5) years or less. Students seeking military service readmission benefits must reapply at Nelson University within three years of their last month of active duty. In the case of serious injury incurred while serving, students must reapply to Nelson University within two years of medical release. Students will need to submit documentation establishing their eligibility for re-admission benefits upon application to the University.

Students may return to school under their former program of study and at the former tuition rate for the first year. The student will not be charged an application fee for re-applying. After the first academic year, the student will be under the tuition rate currently in effect for their program. If the student's academic program no longer exists or has changed significantly from the time of the student's last enrollment, Nelson University will ensure that the student has the opportunity to complete an equivalent program with minimal obstacles so long as the program outcomes are met. Except for the exceptions listed under 34CFR668.18(a)(2), the student will return at the same college level, credit hours, and academic status under which he/she left the institution.

In accordance with paragraph (h) of 34CFR668.18, students separated from the Armed Services with a dishonorable or bad conduct discharge, by general court-martial, or as a result of being absent without leave or through desertion are not eligible for readmission benefits. Nelson University reserves the right to deny readmission to any student returning under these conditions.

ACADEMIC FORGIVENESS

A student who returns to Nelson University after an extended absence and who demonstrates ability to do well academically, as described below, may use Academic Forgiveness to remove the effect of earlier unsatisfactory grades.

To be eligible, a student must:

1. Matriculate to Nelson University after an absence of at least 7 consecutive years;
   a. Have attempted at least 12 letter-graded hours since readmission;
   b. Have earned at least a 2.00 GPA in all courses attempted since readmission;
   c. Submit application for Academic Forgiveness, along with a $250 non-refundable application fee, to the Registrar's Office during the student's first semester of being readmitted before the last day of late registration;
2. After the student applies for Academic Forgiveness and after eligibility is verified, the following adjustments will be made to the student's academic record:
   a. GPA calculation will start fresh as of the new matriculation date;
   b. Previous coursework will be graded on a credit (CR) or no-credit (NC) basis;
   c. Courses with a letter grade of "C-" or higher will receive a credit (CR) grade:
   d. All other graded coursework will receive a no-credit (NC) grade;
   e. Forgiven courses will no longer factor into the student's CPGA: and,
   f. A symbol prefix will be placed next to each course on the student's transcript for which Academic Forgiveness has been granted.

Graduation Policies

GRADUATION UNDER A PARTICULAR CATALOG

A student may graduate under the requirements of the catalog in force during the semester in which first enrolled, provided graduation is within 6 years from the end of that semester; the summer term may count as a part of the semester before or after it. However, a student may choose to graduate under the requirements of the current catalog, but only if the requirements of the catalog chosen are followed as a whole. To change catalogs, the student will need to complete the necessary paperwork from the Registrar's Office. The scheduler and the Registrar's Office will help the student in every way possible to avoid errors, but the student has the final responsibility for satisfying all degree requirements according to the catalog chosen.

GRADUATION REGULATIONS

The following govern the graduation process:

1. Application for graduation must be made by the end of late registration in the semester in which the student anticipates to graduate. In order to qualify for a specific graduation date, graduates must have all program and course requirements completed by date indicated on their graduation application. This includes the receipt of all outstanding official transcripts with applicable transfer credit and any Credit by Exam credits. Degrees are conferred in the semester that all official documentation of completed requirements are received by the Registrar's Office.

2. All course work must be completed and a passing grade received before the student is allowed to participate in the graduation ceremony.
3. A student must have attained an overall GPA of 2.0 "C" to qualify for any degree or diploma awarded by Nelson University.
4. Only 6 hours of the last 30 hours toward a degree or diploma at Nelson University may be taken by transfer of credit (this includes all non-traditional credit and correspondence courses). Students may not transfer courses from another institution during their final semester.
5. A student awarded any degree or diploma from Nelson University must have completed at least 25% of the credit hours required for the degree at Nelson University.
6. A student is required to have completed a minimum of 30 hours of upper-level credit to be awarded a Bachelor's degree.
7. Students desiring undergraduate credit based upon examination must take the examination at least one semester prior to the semester of their graduation and must complete the process to have the credit applied to their transcript before their degree is conferred.
8. Before a final transcript will be released, the student must take the Core Exam, clear with the Accounting Office and Library, and complete exit interviews with the Financial Aid Office and the Career Devlopment Office.
9. Students must have a GPA of 2.0 in their general studies composition courses (ENG 1113 Composition and Rhetoric I and ENG 1123 Composition and Rhetoric II). Failure to meet this requirement will result in a student not being allowed to graduate.
10. All program changes in the last semester resulting in a delayed graduation must be reviewed and approved by Academic Services.

Requests to withdraw an application for graduation for a specific graduation date must be received by the end of late registration in the semester that graduation is intended. Refunds of graduation fees will only be granted to requests observing this time frame. Changing one's graduation date to a later semester will require reapplication and fee.

GRADUATION RATES

The graduation rate calculates from the first-time, full-time students who enter Nelson University and complete within a six-year period. From the first-time, full-time students who entered in 1999-2000, 37%; 2000-2001, 36%; 2001-2002, 35%; 2003, 36%; 2004, 39%; 2005, 36%; 2006, 39%; 2007, 32%; 2008, 41%; 2009, 41%; 2010, 45%; 2011, 43%; 2012, 44%; 2013, 45%; 2014, 49%; 2015, 43%; 2016, 42% ; 2017, 42%; and in 2018, 42% graduated.

Some students enter Nelson University for reasons other than obtaining a degree. Students come to experience the Pentecostal atmosphere and enjoy the spiritual dynamics. Others come and take courses for transfer purposes. This group of students accomplish their goals, however they affect the graduation rate of Nelson University students.

Nelson Online

Nelson Online is designed to extend the resources of the University outside of its walls, especially for adults throughout the world who desire to continue their education without relocating to a university campus. Nelson University has developed a program where one may obtain an accredited education without relocating family or career. Through Nelson Online, a Bible-based educational experience may be obtained through a quality academic format.

Nelson Online offers most University academic programs leading toward associate's, bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees. Contact Nelson University Admissions for a current list of program offerings.

Each degree program is uniquely designed for students to earn a degree without moving to the campus. There is also an opportunity to earn up to 45 credits toward a bachelor's degree (not available for students pursuing an associate's degree, Education majors, graduate or doctoral students) from experiential learning. This may be limited by a student's previous college work or amount of experience. Up to 96 hours of transfer credit can be accepted.

Professors try to answer student emails within 48 hours. An automated response receipt is sent every morning upon submission of assignments in Blackboard. Professors are expected to post grades and feedback within a reasonable timeframe, usually within 7 days from the assignment submission. Final grades for courses are also submitted within 5 business days from the end of the semester.

Learning Management System (LMS): Anthology's Blackboard Ultra is the official Learning Management System (LMS) of Nelson University. All course syllabi, course outlines, online content, attendance, and student submissions take place through Blackboard Ultra.

WHO FITS THIS PROGRAM?

Each semester, students from around the world enroll in Nelson Online. Because of the flexibility of the program, students who benefit from this program are:

1. Individuals who need to complete a college degree but are unable to relocate to the Waxahachie campus
2. Individuals who were prohibited from finishing college due to circumstances or finances
3. Individuals who have experienced job loss and need training for a new career
4. Professionals who would like to receive credit for skills and knowledge already received through experience
5. Ministers who desire to earn a degree while maintaining their present ministry
6. Business professionals needing more skills to fulfill their job demands
7. Professionals who need a degree to advance in their present vocation
8. Retirees or Senior Adults who desire preparation for a new career or personal enrichment
9. Teachers who need to complete their college degrees
10. Graduate students needing Bible or Theology prerequisite courses

A DIFFERENT WAY TO LEARN — HOW IT WORKS

Students have the opportunity to complete online academic advising and counseling with an academic advisor each semester regarding their degree progress. During the semester, students work under the professors' auspices via online interaction, the use of the toll-free number, and email. Students have access to all college services, including the Library, Career Development, and Counseling. Students also receive an ID card upon enrollment, which is useful for admittance to libraries around the country.

Many adults want some interaction time with other students and their professors, and yet not be required to move to a university campus. With this in mind, Nelson University allows for on-campus and off-campus learning. Each new student begins the program with the Strategies for Student Success course (GES 1122). With the combination of an online orientation during the first semester, online interaction, and private study, individuals are able to obtain a quality degree which provides flexibility to "wrap around" personal schedules and commitments.

Ongoing Enrollment

Each subsequent semester, students complete course selection and registration online. Following registration, students are given access to the online courses for which they have registered. Students should purchase textbooks and study materials online from the Nelson University Bookstore as soon as possible after course schedules are approved. Students may contact the University Library to access other online resources and check out books. Once the semester commences, students will complete all assignments and/or exams under the supervision of their professors.

Work From Home

Each course syllabus is structured to provide step-by-step assistance through course assignments. Online courses contain important content and exams are taken online. Many assignments and projects are designed to take advantage of one's particular work situation, thus increasing the quality of a person's learning experiences. All assignments are graded promptly by the professors, and the students are notified of the results.

Any time students have questions regarding course material, professors may be contacted by email. All professors are fully recognized and academically qualified members of Nelson University's faculty. In addition, all academic programs and all courses taught online employ the same learning outcomes as their on-campus counterparts. This ensures that the skills and knowledge expected of online students are equivalent to those expected of fellow on-campus students.

COURSES

Each semester a course schedule is published identifying the particular courses being offered the next semester. These schedules are uploaded to the Student Portal for review and selection.

Although a full-time load is considered 12 hours each semester, many students have found it advantageous to increase their hours depending upon their projected personal schedule for that semester.

Time management and load determination are important issues discussed during the Strategies for Student Success course.

ENROLLMENT PROCEDURE

All students admitted into Nelson University are eligible to apply for enrollment in the Nelson Onine program. All required steps for enrollment can be completed online. Please refer to the section entitled Admissions for complete details.

STRATEGIES FOR STUDENT SUCCESS COURSE

Upon admittance into the Nelson Online program, the student is ready to enroll in Strategies for Student Success (GES 1122). Students must successfully complete the two-hour for credit course GES 1122 to be eligible to continue in the online program. Students who convert from the on-campus program and have already taken the on-campus version of Strategies for Student Success are required to re-take the online version of the course. The purposes of this course are:

1. To design a personal study program which equips the student with proper time management skills;
2. To introduce the University services to which all students have access;
3. To explain how to do a career analysis for the purpose of obtaining University credit for experience;
4. To provide information on how to obtain University credit by testing;
5. To give an opportunity to select the second semester's course work and meet with an academic advisor; and,
6. To answer questions regarding their academic success while studying with Nelson Online; and,
7. To discuss current issues in adult education.

STUDENT LIFE

Nelson University is a denominationally-sponsored university. All students, whether on-campus, online or at Partner Sites are expected to embrace values that are represented by a deep consecration and devotion to Christ, clean conduct and conversation, modest apparel in dress and high biblical standards of moral conduct.

CREDIT FOR PRIOR LEARNING

(This does not apply to Education majors, graduate and doctoral students, or students pursuing an associate's degree.)

Non-traditional credit includes credit for Advanced Placement scores, ACT scores, CLEP scores, up to 12 hours of correspondence, and Credit for Prior Learning (CPL). Students can apply for credit based on prior learning and receive up to a maximum of 45 credit hours toward their degree requirements. Assemblies of God ministers, in good standing with their district, are eligible for up to 27 credit hours based on their level of credentials. Generally, credit is given for prior learning in specific course areas such as Biblical Preaching, Church Ministries, Counseling, Music, Criminal Justice, Business, etc., through the Prior Learning Assessment (PLA) process. Students must apply these credits toward the requirements of their particular degree plan. These credits are treated as transfer credits and do not count toward residency requirements. Students seeking credit for prior learning will register for the course APS 3313 Portfolio Development, which counts as residency credit. This course must be taken during the first semester of enrollment.

Students receive a Prior Learning Assessment (PLA) Manual when enrolling in the APS 3313 Portfolio Development course. The manual describes the experiential and prior learning and competency level to be assessed in each course area.

At the close of the semester, students who present their portfolios for evaluation to the Portfolio Assessment Committee for Prior Learning Assessment will receive credit for APS 3313 Portfolio Development. The Portfolio Assessment Committee is comprised of Nelson University faculty members representing the various disciplines at the University. After the committee evaluates the student's portfolio, the student is required to meet with the committee in person or virtually. The committee will approve or deny credit for the portfolio. This committee will also determine the number of hours awarded as credit.

ASSEMBLIES OF GOD MINISTERS AND COURSE CREDIT

Credentialed Assemblies of God ministers can petition for up to 27 credit hours, based on the level of their credential, through the APS 3313 Portfolio Development course.

NELSON ONLINE POLICIES

Professors are expected to answer student emails within 48 hours. An automated response receipt is sent every morning upon submission of assignments in Blackboard. Professors are expected to post grades and feedback within a reasonable timeframe, usually within 7 days from the assignment submission. Final grades for courses are also submitted within 5 business days from the end of the semester.

Learning Management System (LMS): Anthology's Blackboard Ultra is the official Learning Management System (LMS) of Nelson University. All course syllabi, course outlines, online content, attendance, and student submissions take place through Blackboard Ultra.

NATIONAL COUNCIL FOR STATE AUTHORIZATION RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT (NC-SARA)

Nelson University is an institutional participant in the SARA initiative which is a voluntary, regional approach to state oversight of online education. As a participating institution, students living in other states are able to enjoy expanding access to educational offerings at Nelson University, and the University is committed to continually enhance the overall quality of our online program.

Prospective students are encouraged to review this catalog prior to signing an enrollment agreement. Prospective students are also encouraged to review the School Performance Fact Sheet, which must be provided prior to signing an enrollment agreement.

MISSION & OBJECTIVES

Nelson University exists to equip students spiritually, academically, professionally, and cross-culturally for their God-given careers and callings. Students will learn how to integrate biblical principles of faith into their lives while demonstrating academic competence in their respective field of study. Students will formulate a personal strategy for Christian service to help them engage a global community with societal awareness, cross-cultural appreciation, and a biblical worldview.

DESCRIPTION OF FACILITIES

Nelson University's Catalyst Bible College facilities are owned by Visalia First, an Assembly of God Church. The off-campus instructional site is comprised of five administrative offices, one library with over 1,000 volumes and a white board, a lounge space for students that can serve as an additional classroom with an 70-inch smart TV, a dedicated kitchen space for students to meet and prepare meals together, and a 2,700 square foot chapel meeting room. The primary classroom houses three, 70-inch smart TV's, a SMART Board and the camera and microphone technology needed to serve students studying at a distance. Students have WiFi access in all of these locations. The space continues to expand into additional classrooms, an additional library to house 30,000 volumes, and an administrative office. The dedicated facility space of 9,000 square feet and equipment are adequate to ensure a positive learning environment.

LIBRARY SERVICES

Nelson University's library, Nelson Memorial Library (NML), supports and aligns with the university's mission by providing adequate support for the institution's curriculum. The library has a long record of serving its on-campus and online students at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. It provides support and access to off-campus partners and sites, including the Nelson University Catalyst Bible College site in Visalia, CA.

The library offers a comprehensive collection of resources, including physical and digital materials, to support the academic programs offered at Nelson University. Students and faculty have access to online databases, open-access collections, approximately 70,000 physical books, e-books, course reserves, and online research guides. The library is committed to fostering an environment that promotes learning, research, personal and spiritual growth, aligning with the university's mission to equip students to pursue their God-given callings.

The library offers over 151 databases with educational content curated from academic vendors, such as Gale, Ebsco, ProQuest, and many open source collections. Examples of subject-specific collections include:

- Academic Video Online (over 70,000 titles spanning a wide range of subject areas)
- ATLA Religion Database with ATLA Serials
- Behavior and Mental Health Online (video, documentaries, transcripts, and reference works)
- Leadership and Management OneFile (21st-century skills, organizational leadership)
- Religion and Philosophy OneFile (1,949,461 documents)
- Theological Research Exchange Network (TREN) (over 18,511 theses/dissertations)
- Academic or General OneFile (comprehensive databases covering almost any topic)
- Business Expert Press (330 e-books related to Business)
- Gale, Ebsco, and ProQuest eBook collections

- JSTOR Collections (journals, books, images, and primary sources)
- Literature Resource Center (supports literary analysis, biographical information, and reviews)
- Fine Arts OneFile (to support drama, music, art history, and filmmaking)
- Oxford Reference (reference work covering European history, society, and culture)

These resources can be accessed from www.nelson.edu/library. On this page, library users can log in with their student credentials to access the library catalog and perform a search by keyword, subject, title, author, or other related fields. Students can navigate to course reserves, subject guides, databases, journals, e-books, and interlibrary loan. For immediate assistance during regular or off-hours, a student can reach a librarian via email directly at library@nelson.edu or by filling out a request for help on the library website.

The library has three full-time professional librarians, three part-time staff, and several student assistants. The three librarians are reference librarians who are available to assist students and faculty in person in the library, in a classroom, or at a distance through telephone, email, or virtual appointment.

Librarians offer information literacy classes at the beginning of each semester, and freshmen and other first-time students attend an in-person or online orientation. In this training, they learn how to conduct searches to find resources in the format they need. This includes how to navigate the library's home page, accessing physical resources in the library, using the WorldCat Discovery search engine, subject or course guides, Boolean searching and other advanced database filtering.

Frequently asked questions and tutorials are available on the library website. Additional assistance is available by email at library@nelson.edu, or by phone at 972-825-4761. The library has two study rooms for checkout and two floors of space zoned for quiet or collaborative study. There are 26 individual study carrels, 13 computer stations, 2 computer labs (each offering 30 computers), and study space in the copier or archive spaces.

NOTICE CONCERNING TRANSFERABILITY OF CREDITS AND CREDENTIALS EARNED AT OUR INSTITUTION

The transferability of credits you earn at the Nelson University – Catalyst Bible College Partner Site is at the complete discretion of an institution to which you may seek to transfer. Acceptance of the degree you earn in the educational program is also at the complete discretion of the institution to which you may seek to transfer. If the credits or degree that you earn at this institution are not accepted at the institution to which you seek to transfer, you may be required to repeat some or all of your coursework at that institution. For this reason, you should make certain that your attendance at this institution will meet your educational goals. This may include contacting an institution to which you may seek to transfer after attending Nelson University – Catalyst Bible College to determine if your credits or degree will transfer.

More details on the credit transfer policy can be found in the Academic Information portion of the catalog under the Transfer Policies section.

ADMISSION POLICIES & ARTICULATION AGREEMENTS

The admission policies for Nelson University are provided in the Academic Information section of the university catalog.

Nelson University does not accept applications from Ability-to-Benefit students. ATB students are defined as those who do not possess a high school diploma, GED, or recognized equivalent and are beyond the California State age of compulsory school attendance.

Nelson University has not entered into an articulation or transfer agreement with any other college or university.

CREDIT FOR PRIOR LEARNING

Students who decide to appeal the decision by the Portfolio Assessment Committee will follow the following steps:

Step 1: Confer with the Portfolio Development Instructor within 10 days of notification of credit denialIf you disagree with the instructor's explanation, proceed to Step 2.

Step 2: Request for appeal of a "No Credit" recommendation for a petitioned course. Students must submit an official request for appeal to the Executive Dean of Nelson Online. If the request is denied, the student will be contacted and no further action will be taken. If the request is approved the process moves to Step 3.

Step 3: A second portfolio review will be conducted by a reviewer from the college of which the petitioned course is part. The college dean will choose the reviewer. Once the second review has taken place, the reviewer, the Executive Dean of Nelson Online, a representative from the Portfolio Assessment Committee, and the Portfolio Development instructor will meet to discuss the reviewer's recommendations.

Step 4: The student will receive the decision regarding the appeal to their student email account.

TUITION AND FEES REFUND POLICY

Course Cancellation by the University

If Nelson University cancels a course after a student has enrolled and paid tuition and fees associated with the course, the University shall make every effort to find a suitable replacement course for the student. If a replacement course is not possible based upon degree requirements, the university will provide a 100 percent (100%) refund of all tuition and institutional fees paid for the cancelled course.

Student Withdrawal and Pro Rata Refunds

A student who withdraws from enrollment after the cancellation period shall be entitled to a refund of unearned tuition on a pro rata basis, calculated through sixty percent (60%) of the semester or session.

- A student who withdraws during the first sixty percent (60%) of the semester or session shall receive a refund equal to the portion of tuition and fees corresponding to the remaining uncompleted portion of the semester or session.
- A student who withdraws after completing more than sixty percent (60%) of the semester or session is not entitled to any refund of tuition or fees.

The percentage of the semester or session completed is determined by dividing the number of calendar days elapsed from the first scheduled day of instruction through the student's withdrawal date by the total number of calendar days in the semester or session, including weekends and holidays.

Non-Refundable Fees and Charges

The following fees and charges are non-refundable after the cancellation period, consistent with applicable California law:

- Application Fee or Registration Fee, up to $250
- Student Tuition Recovery Fund (STRF) Fee, as required by the State of California
- Textbooks, instructional materials, supplies, or equipment that have been purchased, issued, opened, accessed, or otherwise provided to the student

Refund Disbursement

All refunds due under this policy will be issued within 45 days following the student's official withdrawal from one or more classes, including a complete withdrawal as a student from the university or the date the university cancels a course.

RIGHTS & RESPONSIBILITIES: STUDENT TUITION RECOVERY FUND

The State of California established the Student Tuition Recovery Fund (STRF) to relieve or mitigate economic loss suffered by a student in an educational program at a qualifying institution, who is or was a California resident while enrolled, or was enrolled in a residency program, if the student enrolled in the institution, prepaid tuition, and suffered an economic loss. Unless relieved of the obligation to do so, you must pay the state-imposed assessment for the STRF, or it must be paid on your behalf, if you are a student in an educational program, who is a California resident, or are enrolled in a residency program, and prepay all or part of your tuition.

You are not eligible for protection from the STRF and you are not required to pay the STRF assessment, if you are not a California resident, or are not enrolled in a residency program.

It is important that you keep copies of your enrollment agreement, financial aid documents, receipts, or any other information that documents the amount paid to the school. Questions regarding the STRF may be directed to the Bureau for Private Postsecondary Education,1747 N. Market Blvd., Ste 225, Sacramento, CA 95834, (916) 574-8900 or (888) 370-7589.

To be eligible for STRF, you must be a California resident or are enrolled in a residency program, prepaid tuition, paid or deemed to have paid the STRF assessment, and suffered an economic loss as a result of any of the following:

1. The institution, a location of the institution, or an educational program offered by the institution was closed or discontinued, and you did not choose to participate in a teach-out plan approved by the Bureau or did not complete a chosen teach-out plan approved by the Bureau.
2. You were enrolled at an institution or a location of the institution within the 120 day period before the closure of the institution or location of the institution, or were enrolled in an educational program within the 120 day period before the program was discontinued.
3. You were enrolled at an institution or a location of the institution more than 120 days before the closure of the institution or location of the institution, in an educational program offered by the institution as to which the Bureau determined there was a significant decline in the quality or value of the program more than 120 days before closure.

4. The institution has been ordered to pay a refund by the Bureau but has failed to do so.
5. The institution has failed to pay or reimburse loan proceeds under a federal student loan program as required by law, or has failed to pay or reimburse proceeds received by the institution in excess of tuition and other costs.
6. You have been awarded restitution, a refund, or other monetary award by an arbitrator or court, based on a violation of this chapter by an institution or representative of an institution, but have been unable to collect the award from the institution.
7. You sought legal counsel that resulted in the cancellation of one or more of your student loans and have an invoice for services rendered and evidence of the cancellation of the student loan or loans.

To qualify for STRF reimbursement, the application must be received within four (4) years from the date of the action or event that made the student eligible for recovery from STRF.

A student whose loan is revived by a loan holder or debt collector after a period of non-collection may, at any time, file a written application for recovery from STRF for the debt that would have otherwise been eligible for recovery. If it has been more than four (4) years since the action or event that made the student eligible, the student must have filed a written application for recovery within the original four (4) year period, unless the period has been extended by another act of law.

However, no claim can be paid to any student without a social security number or a taxpayer identification number.

STUDENT'S RIGHT TO CANCEL

Students have the right to cancel an agreement for a program of instruction, without any penalty or obligations, through attendance at the first class session or the seventh calendar day after enrollment, whichever is later. After the end of the cancellation period, they also have the right to stop school at any time; and they have the right to receive a pro rata refund if they have completed 60 percent or less of the scheduled days in the current payment period in their program through the last day of attendance.

If for any reason an applicant is not accepted by the school, the applicant is entitled to a refund of all monies paid.

Cancellation Policy:

1. An applicant who provides written notice of cancellation within seven days of signing an enrollment agreement is entitled to a refund of all monies paid. No later than 30 days after receiving the notice of cancellation, the school shall provide a 100% refund.
2. An applicant requesting cancellation more than seven days after signing an enrollment agreement and making an initial payment is entitled to a refund of all monies paid up through attendance of the first class session.

Cancellation Procedure: To make a formal cancellation request, email the Registrar's Office at registrar@nelson.edu and request to cancel your enrollment agreement and to completely withdraw from classes for the current semester.

For more information about the withdrawal and refund policies for Nelson University see the Financial Information section of the catalog.

PARTICIPATION IN FEDERAL & STATE AID PROGRAM

Nelson University participates in federal financial aid programs for its students. Federal financial aid programs include the Pell Grant, Direct Subsidized loans, Direct Unsubsidized Loans, Direct Parent PLUS loans, and Direct Graduate PLUS loans. The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) determines eligibility for all federal student aid programs. To qualify, students must meet basic eligibility criteria and, for most programs, demonstrate financial need.

- The Pell Grant is awarded to students based on their SAI (student aid index) as determined by filing the FAFSA. Students who are U.S. citizens or eligible non-citizens (permanent residents) have the option of borrowing from the Federal Direct Loan (subsidized and unsubsidized) program. Students must complete the FAFSA as well as other loan requirements.
- Parents of dependent students who are U.S. citizens or eligible non-citizens (permanent residents) have the option of borrowing from the Federal Direct Parent PLUS Loan program. Students must complete the FAFSA as well as other loan requirements.
- The Direct Parent PLUS Loan is a credit-based loan and requires an application. Students must sign a Master Promissory Note (MPN) for each loan program before any loan disbursements are made.

Federal aid is reevaluated each year based on the results of the FAFSA, which must be completed every year. In addition, students must make satisfactory academic progress. Consumer information is intended to provide current students, prospective students and their families with important information regarding the university. To view this important information, please visit the consumer information page.

If a student obtains a loan to pay for an educational program, the student will have the responsibility to repay the full amount of the loan plus interest, less the amount of any refund, and that, if the student has received federal student financial aid funds, the student is entitled to a refund of the monies not paid from federal student financial aid program funds.

For additional details pertaining to the university's participation in federal aid programs, see the university's catalog and the financial information webpage.

VETERANS BENEFITS

Students who are eligible for educational benefits under any Veterans Administration program will find additional details on the university website at https://www.nelson.edu/admissions/veterans-affairs-education-benefits/

CHANGE IN STUDENT STATUS

Nelson University does not currently have an official Leave of Absence (LOA) Policy. Should an emergency arise for a student requiring a Leave of Absence from their studies, students should contact the Registrar's Office to see what arrangements can be made based on the student's unique situation.

STUDENT SERVICES

Practicums

We want all of our students to be well-versed in all aspects of ministry and practicums are one way we are able to do this! Each student will rotate through the site's three different practicum focuses. These areas have been carefully curated to emphasize key elements of ministry and leadership development.

World Experience Missions

One of the goals of the site is for every student to graduate with a passion and heart for missions. That is why we have developed the Catalyst World Experience. Every eligible student will have the opportunity to visit five foreign countries during their four years with the site. We aim to visit South America, Europe, Africa, Asia and the Holy Land all before a student graduates our program.

Student Chapel

All on-campus students will be asked to attend one chapel service a week and sign up for a small group in their respective ministry area (i.e. Young Adults or Adults). Services will be devotional in nature and have guest speakers.

Networking Opportunities

Students will be able to interact, network, and learn from prominent leaders across the country multiple times each semester. Students will also have the chance to engage with local community leaders during their time as students.

Community Life

Monthly, students will be able to participate in a community-building activity such as bowling, laser tag, a movie, or a "family dinner."

Leadership Labs and Crossfire

Each week, students will gain practical insights on future career preparation through Leadership Labs. In addition to Labs, students will participate in Crossfire discussions that challenge their worldview and encourage them to dive deep into the Bible.

Housing Options

Nelson University Catalyst Bible College does not have dormitory facilities under its control. The university does not have a responsibility to secure housing for students. Catalyst Bible College has a current arrangement with a local apartment complex for students needing housing. Students pay $450/month, which includes rent, utilities, and furniture. Students have one or two roommates, depending on the size and location of the apartment. Should students prefer a different option, there are other local apartments available, with rent prices ranging from $1,800 to $2,300/month, depending on the desired size and location.

Student Records

Student data will be stored permanently by the university, including the following: the degree or certificate awarded and the date on which that degree or certificate was awarded, the courses on which the certificate or degree was based, and the grades earned by the student in each of those courses.

Retention of Student Records

Student transcripts and degrees are maintained indefinitely and all other records are maintained for 5 years.

Academic Programs

Academics Office

Dr. Kimberly Trewern, Provost and Vice President for Academics

FROM DR. KIMBERLY TREWERN, PROVOST AND PROVOST AND VICE PRESIDENT FOR ACADEMICS:

Spiritual formation is intentional throughout the academic experience. Courses, mentoring relationships, expectations, and faculty example are designed to support the development of both competence and Christlike character. Faculty members model integrity, faithfulness, and excellence in their disciplines, while recognizing that true transformation is ultimately the work of the Holy Spirit. This shared commitment to formation shapes every college and academic program at Nelson University.

The University's undergraduate programs are organized within six colleges: Southwestern College of Bible and Church Ministries; College of Behavioral Sciences and Community Services; College of Business; College of Health Sciences; College of Education and Integrative Studies; and College of Music and Communication Arts. Across these colleges, students are prepared for a wide range of professions and ministries. Faculty combine strong academic credentials with practical experience and a deep commitment to Jesus Christ.

All undergraduate programs are built on two foundational cores: The General Education Core and the Bible Core. The General Education Core develops essential academic skills and broad disciplinary understanding through coursework in Communication Arts, Psychology, History, Mathematics, English, Science, Social Studies, and Physical Education. The Bible Core grounds students in Scripture, theology, and Christian doctrine while intentionally shaping their spiritual lives and daily walk with God. Together, these cores provide the foundation for learning across every major.

Through rigorous instruction, intentional mentoring, and thoughtfully designed curricula, Nelson University seeks to educate the whole student. Academic preparation, biblical understanding, spiritual growth, and vocational readiness are woven throughout the educational experience.

As you explore the academic programs described in this catalog, we invite you to join a learning community committed to faithful service, professional excellence, and spiritual formation.

Southwestern College of Bible and Church Ministries

Dr. Darren Daugherty
Dean of the Southwestern College of Bible and Church Ministries

FROM THE DEAN OF THE SOUTHWESTERN COLLEGE OF BIBLE AND CHURCH MINISTRIES:

Welcome to the Southwestern College of Bible and Church Ministries (SCBCM).

In the College of Bible and Church Ministries, faithful scholarship and genuine love for people are our top priorities. The Great Commandment — to love God and love others — is not simply an institutional motto. It is the animating conviction behind every course we teach, every degree we offer, and every student we serve.

Our faculty are deeply committed followers of Jesus who bring together rigorous academic training and authentic pastoral care, embodying the truth that a life rooted in Christ naturally gives itself away in service to others.

That commitment produces graduates who are ready to lead. Churches across the country look to our Departments of Church Ministries and Bible & Theology to find capable pastoral staff, skilled interns, and effective ministry leaders.

Our programs in Intercultural Studies and Humanitarian Relief and Development hold students to demanding standards precisely because the communities they will serve around the world deserve nothing less. Whether your desire for vocational ministry is in the United States or in international contexts, this college is designed to prepare you well.

For many, a bachelor's degree is only the beginning of a life of learning. In addition to practical preparation, each of our degrees is designed to equip students for advanced study. For example, our recent graduates from the department of Bible and Theology have gone on to pursue graduate degrees at institutions including Nelson Graduate School, Yale University, Princeton Theological Seminary, Duke Divinity School, Emory University, Baylor University, and others.

The College of Bible and Church Ministries exists to form men and women who minister with integrity, competence, and compassion. We are proud of the faithfulness of our graduates — their devotion to Christ, their excellence in vocation, and their willingness to spend themselves in service to others. We invite you to join us.

College of Behavioral Sciences and Community Services

Dr. John Savell
Dean of the College of Behavioral Sciences and Community Services

FROM THE DEAN OF THE COLLEGE OF BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES AND COMMUNITY SERVICES:

Welcome to the College of Behavioral Sciences and Community Services, where we are actively preparing the next generation of clinical practitioners and community service providers to walk alongside hurt and wounded individuals during their most challenging moments. Our college is committed to academic excellence as students master their field of study from a faith-based, Biblical perspective that strengthens their Christian values and helps them develop critical thinking skills essential in Counseling, Criminal Justice, Psychology, and Social Work.

Our faculty's impressive academic credentials, combined with real-world experience, foster lively, engaging discussions in the classroom. Most clinical faculty are licensed professionals who actively practice and have extensive experience in psychotherapy, counseling, and assessment across diverse clinical populations. Criminal Justice professors bring years of law enforcement expertise into our Criminal Justice Lab, giving students hands-on opportunities to develop their skills.

Accreditation – Nationally accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE), the Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) program provides students with a solid academic foundation for entry-level social work positions and qualifies them for Advanced Standing in graduate programs, allowing them to complete their MSW degree in one year instead of two. Our Master of Science in Clinical Mental Health Counseling is nationally accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP). This prestigious accreditation recognizes the high quality of our program and ensures that students receive an education that aligns with national best-practice standards for counselor training.

Our students, past and present, are among the leaders in their fields, whether leading a multi-agency task force on human trafficking, consulting for one of the largest publishers of psychological testing material, or contributing to science through research and publishing their findings in peer-reviewed, professional journals. Our students lead the way.

The Future – For those pursuing careers in mental health (Counseling, Psychology, Social Work), earning a graduate degree is essential for licensure and clinical practice. Nearly all our undergraduates pursue graduate training, with most continuing their studies at Nelson University. Our graduate programs include a Master of Science in Clinical Mental Health Counseling, a Master of Science in Clinical Psychology, and a Master of Science in General Psychology. In the fall of 2027, our college will offer a Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision.

College of Business

Dr. Kerry Woodson
Dean of the College of Business

FROM THE DEAN OF THE COLLEGE OF BUSINESS:

Welcome to the College of Business. I am privileged to welcome you to the College of Business at Nelson University, where we integrate academic rigor with a steadfast commitment to Christian values and ethical business practices. As we embark on the 2026-2027 academic year, we continue our mission of preparing tomorrow's business leaders to make a meaningful impact in the marketplace and their communities.

Our Vision and Mission - The College of Business embraces Nelson University's vision of glorifying God by preparing students to be influencers for Jesus Christ in the business world. We provide a comprehensive business education coupled with practical, marketplace-ready skills essential for professional success. Our distinctive approach integrates faith-based principles with contemporary business practices, innovative pedagogies, and real-world application.

Exceptional Student Opportunities - We believe learning extends beyond the classroom. Our students benefit from faith-integrated internships with leading organizations, student-led consulting projects serving local businesses, non-profits, and meaningful networking opportunities with business professionals. These experiences provide invaluable hands-on learning that prepares you for career success.

Accreditation and Recognition - Nelson University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, master's, and doctoral degrees. The College of Business maintains specialized accreditation through the International Assembly for Collegiate Business Education (IACBE), ensuring our programs meet the highest standards of business education.

Your Journey Begins Here - We invite you to join our vibrant community, where faith meets business excellence. Our faculty and staff are committed to walking alongside you as you develop into a skilled professional and influential Christian business leader. Whether you are called to entrepreneurship, corporate leadership, accounting, marketing, sports management, or healthcare administration, the College of Business at Nelson University is your gateway to a meaningful career grounded in Christian principles.

College of Health Sciences

Dr. Kerry Woodson
Dean of the College of Health Sciences

FROM THE DEAN OF THE COLLEGE OF HEALTH SCIENCES:

Welcome to the College of Health Sciences. I am thrilled to welcome you to the College of Health Sciences at Nelson University. This newly expanded college represents an exciting milestone in our institution's commitment to preparing compassionate, skilled healthcare professionals who will serve their communities with excellence and Christian integrity.

A New Chapter in Healthcare Education - The College of Health Sciences embodies Nelson University's expanding vision to equip students for meaningful careers in the rapidly growing healthcare field. Whether you aspire to work directly with patients, pursue graduate studies in rehabilitation sciences, or promote wellness through athletic training and exercise science, our programs provide the scientific foundation and practical experience necessary for success. We believe healthcare is a calling—an opportunity to serve others, promote healing, and glorify God through compassionate, evidence-based care.

Hands-On Experience and Modern Facilities - Learning in the health sciences requires active engagement beyond textbooks and lectures. Our students gain practical experience through our exercise physiology and science laboratories, clinical observation opportunities, community health initiatives, and partnerships with healthcare organizations. These experiences strengthen your skills and help you discern your specific calling within the healthcare field.

Preparing for Your Future - The College of Health Sciences serves students with diverse career goals. Some graduates enter the workforce immediately as exercise physiologists, wellness coordinators, or athletic trainers. Others use their bachelor's degree as preparation for graduate programs in physical therapy, occupational therapy, physician assistant studies, or other advanced healthcare fields. Our academic advisors work closely with you to ensure you are on the right path for your goals.

The College of Health Sciences offers the following Associate and Bachelor degrees:

College of Music & Communication Arts

Dr. Tyrone Block
Dean of the College of Music and Communication Arts

FROM THE DEAN OF THE COLLEGE OF MUSIC AND COMMUNICATION ARTS:

The College of Music and Communication Arts glorifies God by equipping students to serve as transformative musicians, communicators, and artists who advance the Great Commission through their vocational callings. Through rigorous academic programs grounded in the liberal arts tradition, we integrate biblical principles with contemporary industry practices and evidence-based pedagogy across our departments of Music, Theatre, and Communication Arts and prepare graduates to engage culture redemptively in both ministry and marketplace contexts.

Our distinguished faculty bring exceptional academic credentials alongside substantial real-world experience, maintaining active professional and creative engagement to ensure their teaching remains relevant in today's rapidly evolving landscape. Students in the music program benefit from mentorship by internationally acclaimed musicians, including a member of the eleven-time Grammy Award-winning Duke Ellington Orchestra. This combination of theoretical expertise and practical knowledge positions our faculty to mentor students toward meaningful, Kingdom-focused careers in schools, churches, and communities.

The college is housed in the Hagee Communication Center (HCC), a state-of-the-art facility featuring advanced media technology, rehearsal and performance spaces, classrooms, and faculty offices. Performance facilities include a 600-seat performing arts auditorium with a 2,000 square foot stage and 63-foot fly loft, and a Black Box theater for intimate productions. Specialized media labs offer audio and video editing suites, a podcast studio, television broadcast studio, audio recording studios, and professional film production equipment.

Our graduates are comprehensively prepared for distinguished careers in performance venues, educational institutions, ecclesiastical settings, and media. Alumni have achieved notable recognition, leadership roles in music education, and performances on stages across the globe.

The College of Music and Communication Arts stands uniquely positioned to fulfill your academic and vocational aspirations. Whether called to music and worship ministry, theatrical performance, or media and communication, our dedicated faculty and staff are committed to partnering with you throughout your educational journey developing both professional excellence and Christian leadership firmly grounded in biblical principles.

College of Education and Integrative Studies

Dr. Chere Blair
Dean of the College of Education and Integrative Studies

FROM THE DEAN OF THE COLLEGE OF EDUCATION AND INTEGRATIVE STUDIES:

The College of Education and Integrative Studies houses our highly rated Teacher Education program as well as our foundational disciplines, including English, History, Math, and Science. One of our core values as a university is academic excellence, and we support that value in our multidisciplinary general education core as well as through our various majors focused on training future teachers, writers, thinkers, historians, theorists, and researchers.

Our mission as a college is to equip well-rounded students with a strong, foundational education that enables us to love God with our minds. Our goal is to prepare students to serve wherever God has called them.

Students graduating with degrees in Education from Nelson are sought after by school districts in North Texas and across the world. Students graduating with degrees in English or History are uniquely prepared for the demands of graduate studies or the workforce, trained in critical thinking, reading, writing, and research. Specialties in Ancient Studies, History and Legal Studies, Creative Writing, and Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages offer even more opportunities for students to combine their gifts and interests and their God-given callings with their future plans.

Our degrees are flexible and allow for students to follow multiple interests. A degree in Interdisciplinary Studies especially allows for a fully customizable degree plan based on students' interests and prior learning.

Please see the NGS catalog for more information regarding the full MA in Practical Theology or MA in Bible and Theology program.

BA TO MDIV ACCELERATED PROGRAM (5 YEARS)

The Bachelor of Arts to the Master of Divinity Program offers an excellent path for students interested in combined biblical studies, theology, and church ministry in a shorter time frame. Students can complete both a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in as little as five years, which could be an attractive option for those eager to advance their education and career in ministry. This accelerated program is ideal for highly motivated students with strong academic qualifications. It offers a streamlined route with potential savings in both time and tuition.

If a student is interested in more details, reach out to the Dean of Southwestern College of Bible and Church Ministries (info@nelson.edu) or the Dean of Nelson Graduate School (grad@nelson.edu) for further guidance and specific requirements.

ADDITIONAL PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS:

1. Thirty (30) hours of the student's overall program must be 3000-4000 level courses. (3000-5000 level for Fast Track B.A. to M.A. track.)
2. All course prerequisites must be met according to the academic catalog before taking any course.
3. Consultation with the student's Program Coordinator is highly recommended in the development of this major.
4. Students are encouraged to take one or more minors in relation with this degree program.

B.A. Church Ministries and Business

Nelson University has a historic emphasis on both vocational and marketplace ministry, and this degree is designed to prepare students for both vocational and marketplace ministry.

A double major in Church Leadership and Business will increase the preparedness and effectiveness of students to serve the Church. Church leaders can be more effective in ministry having had business training, and business leaders can be more effective in serving the local church.

Graduates of the degree are qualified to enroll in Nelson's MBA, MAPT, or MDiv Programs, further enhancing their academic, ministry, and vocational opportunities.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Although Nelson students often major in church leadership as a route to vocational ministry, this degree combines that focus with an understanding of business processes. Our graduates purse a variety of careers: Full-time Pastor, Bivocational Pastor, Church Business Administrator, Director of a Nonprofit Organization, Business Owner, Job Creator for unemployed individuals, agent for Ministry-based agencies, etc.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Students graduation for this degree program will have tow majors which together provide a rich knowledge of two career paths which can compliment each other in multiple contexts. This is an ideal program for many graduates who will find themselves pastoring contexts in which they will need to work bi-vocationally.

B.S. Human Services

The Bachelor of Science in Human Services includes studies in general education, general biblical studies, general studies and a specialization in one of the following fields: Counseling, Psychology, Social Work, or Criminal Justice. This degree is designed for those individuals seeking studies in a general broad-based discipline with a major in one of the human services professions. Graduates of the program will be qualified to work in entry level human service career fields related to one of the human service academic specializations. This degree will additionally provide preparation for graduate study in the student's chosen human services area.

An outstanding aspect of the degree is an accommodation for a significant degree of flexibility for transfer students and others who come to Nelson University and desire to continue their professional development in a human service profession without losing a significant amount of transfer credit.

This degree prepares graduates for marketplace vocational positions in various private and public human service agencies. This may include mental health facilities, social service organizations, nonprofit faith-based facilities, government agencies and private companies. The primary mission of the Human Services degree is to expand the professional development of students in their chosen specialization area with knowledge and skills from the areas of general studies, Bible and theology, church ministry, and the areas of human services which are Counseling, Psychology, Social Work or Criminal Justice. This degree provides most of the prerequisites for graduate work in the selected Human Service profession.

UPON COMPLETION OF THIS PROGRAM, STUDENTS WILL BE ABLE TO:

1. Discuss the basic foundations, concepts and theories of counseling, psychology, social work or criminal justice.
2. Apply knowledge of human service variables that affect individual, family and group behavior, and use theoretical frameworks from specific specializations to understand interactions.
3. Be prepared for future service in areas of specializations.
4. Demonstrate the ability to establish rapport with clients from diverse backgrounds.
5. Demonstrate professional behavior.
6. Explain a biblically-based integrated model of human services with a specialization.
7. Demonstrate a basic knowledge of the core subjects in the area of Bible and Church Ministry.
8. Demonstrate the use of biblical values and ethics in the various service settings.

ADDITIONAL PROGRAM STIPULATIONS

1. All students are to include one General Biblical Studies course each semester until degree requirements have been satisfied.
2. First year students enrolled full-time are to include GES 1122 in their first semester program.
3. First year students are to enroll in activity physical education courses each of their first two semesters at Nelson University. Exceptions will be granted only with approval of the College Dean.

For students who plan to transfer to the Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) program from Human Services, formal acceptance from the BSW Program Director is required. Refer to the BSW Handbook located on the Nelson University BSW webpage (resources) for criteria to apply to the program.

Bachelor of Social Work

The Social Work program prepares students academically, professionally and spiritually for quality educational and professional Christian service by providing knowledge and training in generalist social work and related disciplines. Students learn basic foundations, knowledge, research skills, policies, issues, practice methods, and social service delivery systems coupled with an understanding of a Christian perspective and ministry-related community outreach faith-based endeavors. This degree is part of the overall University academic program which is regionally accredited by Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges. The Nelson University Social Work program also has national program accreditation through the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE). Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) programs with CSWE accreditation enable students to have a strong academic foundation for entry-level social work positions as well as admission to graduate social work (MSW) programs with Advanced Standing (completed in half the time).

Students choosing the BSW program must apply for Formal Acceptance when they take their first course, SWK2113 Introduction to Social Work. Contact the Program Coordinator for Social Work for further information and see the BSW Handbook-Formal Acceptance for requirements. This Formal Acceptance process is in addition to general university admission and is required by this program's national accreditation by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE). The BSW faculty can provide material identifying such entry level positions as well as graduate schools where Nelson University students have been accepted into MSW programs. Students anticipating a professional career in social work should plan on pursuing a graduate degree in Social Work (MSW).

Business Programs

Equipping servant leaders to transform the marketplace.

The Bachelor of Science in Accounting, Business Sport Management, Healthcare Administration, Management, Marketing, Bachelor of Business Administration, and Bachelor of Arts in Business provides curriculum offerings which will assist the student in becoming an ethical and productive employee. Minors are also available in Accounting, Business Administration, Business Sport Management, Entrepreneurship, Finance, Management, and Marketing.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Nelson Business Department is to provide a quality business education while helping students discover and develop their God-given callings in a Spirit-empowered learning community, equipping them to become ethical, committed servant leaders engaged in marketplace ministry.

Nelson University has received accreditation for its business programs through the International Accreditation Council for Business Education (IACBE) located at: 11960 Quivira Road, Suite 300 Overland Park, KS 66213 USA. The business programs in the following degrees at the listed locations are accredited by the IACBE: B.S. in Accounting, B.B.A., B.S. in Business Sport Management, B.S. in Management, B.S. in Marketing, and Master of Business Administration.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES FOR ACCREDITED BUSINESS PROGRAMS

Upon completion of the degree, students will be able to:

1. Analyze the legal, ethical, social, and economic environments of business while applying a Christian worldview through Biblical integration and global perspectives.
2. Explain the major concepts in the functional areas of accounting, finance, management, and marketing.
3. Demonstrate an ability to utilize research skills to examine and propose solutions to obtain and process information to solve business problems and evaluate future opportunities.
4. Apply strategic planning and operational skills to lead change initiatives across the organization effectively.
5. Apply analytical and critical thinking skills, as well as decision-support tools, to solve complex business problems.
6. Deliver effective and professional communications using a variety of delivery methods, including written and oral communication.
7. Apply strategies to develop and build a high-performing team, handle conflict, and increase collaboration in the workplace.
8. Utilize research skills to examine and propose solutions for business problems.

OPPORTUNITY FOR ACCELERATED GRADUATE PROGRAM

The purpose of the MBA is to prepare students for successful and rewarding careers in a diverse, global business environment in which "intrapreneurial" cultures must be the norm and organizational complexity is a way of life. Additionally, the MBA program will prepare those students who have a vision to pursue entrepreneurial pursuits, as well as integrate their business expertise into the non-profit and/or ministry setting. The Nelson University Business faculty and staff members work closely with students to equip them with business knowledge, the highest level of critical thinking/decision-making skills, and social connectedness aptitude that are essential strengths for future employment and leadership opportunities.

The Bachelor's to Master of Business Administration track provides students who are academically strong and highly motivated an opportunity to take six hours of graduate level work in conjunction with their undergraduate degree. Participation in the BBA/BS to Accelerated MBA program requires approval from the Registrar's Office and Business Department Chair. Students interested in this program must submit an intent form by the second semester of their junior year and have a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or higher. If approved for this program, a student will begin the first of two graduate Business courses in the first semester of his/her senior year. After completing the Bachelor's degree, a student will need to apply with the Nelson Graduate School (NGS) for admittance into the MBA program and upon admission will have 6 credits of advanced standing toward the 36 credit hour program. Accelerated program opportunities are supported in the following undergraduate degrees: Accounting, Business Administration, Sport Management, Management, and Marketing. All graduation requirements must be met for the student to earn the MBA degree. Please see the NGS catalog for more information regarding the full MBA program.

The department provides small, focused classes and is grounded in a holistic theatre education with required courses in theatre history, literature, performance, and a full range of hands-on technical elements.

UPON COMPLETION OF THIS PROGRAM, STUDENTS WILL BE ABLE TO:

1. Demonstrate competency in theatrical production: directing and operations.
2. Demonstrate the ability to utilize various theories and methods of acting in order to prepare for a role.
3. Demonstrate competency in a broad-based knowledge and understanding of communication history.

ADDITIONAL PROGRAM STIPULATIONS

1. All full-time students are to include one General Biblical Studies course each semester until degree requirements have been satisfied.
2. First-year students enrolled full-time are to include GES 1122 in their first semester schedule.
3. First-year students are to enroll in activity physical education courses each of their first two semesters at Nelson University. Exceptions will be granted only with approval of the College Dean.
4. Students must achieve 30 hours of upper level credit to graduate.

Criminal Justice

The Criminal Justice degree is designed to prepare the student with basic foundations, concepts, theories and skills in criminal justice interfaced with a Christian perspective in order to prepare them for various criminal justice vocations and graduate studies in the field. Students who pursue a career in this area should be willing to meet moral, physical and psychological standards. Many criminal justice agencies require moral and physical fitness, psychological stability and a history of no felony and excessive traffic violations. Thus, students applying to the program should have no history of a felony. Students in the program learn basic structure and function of the American Criminal Justice System including law enforcement, the courts and corrections as well as knowledge, issues, activities and skills associated with these system components.

KNOWLEDGE – STUDENTS SHOULD BE ABLE TO:

1. Demonstrate competency in the general education core of the curriculum.
2. Demonstrate competency in the knowledge of Scripture and general theological terms and concepts.
3. Describe the significant personalities, events, and developments of Pentecostal history and explain the distinctives of Pentecostal doctrine.
4. Write a philosophy of ministry in keeping with a biblical view of the Church and its mission.
5. Take an exam related to their chosen field of service that results in a passing score.

ATTITUDES – STUDENTS SHOULD BE ABLE TO:

1. Subscribe to a high view of the authority and inspiration of Scripture.
2. Acknowledge the Lordship of Christ over their personal lives.
3. Relate a personal commitment to the Church, its varied ministries and its mission within contemporary culture.
4. Accept the challenges and opportunities of ministry within their chosen major after leaving college.
5. Report a refined and deepened sense of calling in keeping with a defined awareness of giftedness.
6. Report a deepened appreciation for the demands of ministry and leadership in the Church.

PRE-PROFESSIONAL SKILLS – STUDENTS SHOULD BE ABLE TO:

1. Integrate the knowledge of criminal justice into a biblical worldview.
2. Articulate a proper relationship between criminal justice and Christian faith.
3. Demonstrate academic competence in preparation for a career in criminal justice as well as advanced study in the field.
4. Successfully apply knowledge and skills of criminal justice processes in supervised field experiences.

Education

Early Childhood - Grade 12 Teachers

Nelson Teacher Education equips educators spiritually, academically, professionally, and cross-culturally for Christian service in the field of education. The program is designed to prepare students for certification with the State of Texas, and thus be qualified to teach in either the public, charter, or private classroom. This preparation is accomplished through a combination of campus and field-based delivery systems. Nelson University offers programs in Elementary, Middle, and Secondary Education. After passing the TExES exams, our graduates are eligible for certification with the State Board for Educator Certification (SBEC). The administrative functions for the certification process are conducted by the Educator Certification and Standards Division at the Teacher Education Agency (TEA).

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES FOR EDUCATION MAJORS

Nelson University's goal is to equip each teacher to meet various educational standards. Upon completion of this program, the student will demonstrate:

1. Subject Matter Proficiency:
   a) Diagnose student subject matter proficiency
   b) Discriminate textual materials
   c) Develop comprehensive learning objectives
   d) Determine and procure High Quality Instructional Material (HQIM) and information needed to cover a subject matter area
2. Instructional Planning:
   a) Write behavioral objectives for various instructional time frames and delivery systems
   b) Adapt instructional planning to meet individual needs
3. Presentation Skills:
   a) Develop activities and delivery systems appropriate to the above objectives
   b) Develop activities and delivery systems appropriate to the individual students or classes
4. Evaluation and Screening Procedures:
   a) Administer and use information from norm-referenced and criterion-referenced tests
   b) Establish a student's needs and proficiencies
   c) Evaluate a student's progress within a specific subject area
   d) Determine appropriate grade level academic competencies including reading ability
5. Supervision and Management Skills: Supervise groups and individual students in educational settings.
6. Record Keeping: Document course procedures and monitor individual student progress through them.
7. Professional and Interpersonal Responsibilities: Express his/her legal, professional, and moral obligations to the parents, students, colleagues, and employer.

ADMISSION TO TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM

Students pursuing degrees within the Teacher Education program, with the exception of the Education Pre-Professional degree, are required to apply and be admitted to the Teacher Education program. Professional education course work is restricted to students who have met admissions requirements, made application, been approved, and accepted their admission to the program.

Professional education course work is reserved for students who have met admissions requirements, made application, and have been approved into the Teacher Education Program. To be eligible to apply to the Program, a candidate must:

1. Take the Taylor-Johnson Temperament Analysis (TJTA) and meet with a Nelson University Counselor Representative to review results.
2. Have completed 60 semester hours.
3. Must have completed 10 hours of Field Experience Observations and submitted proper documentation.
4. Have a minimum cumulative and content grade point average (GPA) of 2.75.

5. Students must complete ENG 1113 and ENG 1123 Composition and Rhetoric I and II, achieving a minimum GPA combined average of 2.5 for the two courses.
6. Must have a minimum of 12 hours in subject content area (15 hours for math and science majors).
7. Meet math proficiency requirements by obtaining a C- or higher in College Algebra.
8. Gain the approval of the Teacher Education Committee.
9. Meet such standards as may be implemented by law in the State of Texas at any time during the student's matriculation.

The candidate is responsible for initiating the application, which is available in the Teacher Education Office and at www.nelson.edu/academics/education-resources/. All applications must be accompanied by:

1. A photocopy of the student's driver's license or government identification and a recent photograph.
2. A statement of purpose - a one to two page, double-spaced essay describing reasons for desiring a profession in the teaching field.
3. Two recommendation forms completed by individuals other than relatives, Nelson University faculty members, or fellow students who can verify moral character and child/youth related experience or other work experience.
4. Recommendation from the University's Counselor representative, based on results of the Taylor-Johnson Temperament Analysis (TJTA). The student may be required to complete further counseling prior to admission to the Education program.
5. An interview with the individuals on the Teacher Education Committee.
6. A signed FERPA (Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act) release for Teacher Education program business.

The applicant's complete file will be reviewed by the Teacher Education Committee. The Committee determines acceptance or denial, and applicants will be notified by email of the Committee's decision. The Committee's determination is based upon review of an applicant's behavior in the areas of class and chapel attendance, course work, participation, and motivation to become a teacher. Denial of admittance, for any reason, may be appealed in writing to the Teacher Education Committee.

SPECIAL NOTES FOR TEACHER EDUCATION MAJORS

All Teacher Education majors in online courses must meet the same requirements and standards as specified in these programs.

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS

The Teacher Education Undergraduate Handbook explains fully the policies and procedures to be followed in achieving these goals. The teacher education student is expected to be knowledgeable of this handbook and is held accountable for the guidelines presented therein. The handbook is distributed electronically at the beginning of each academic year and is available through the Teacher Education office or at the Teacher Education website at www.nelson.edu/academic/education-resources.

CERTIFICATION

After passing the Texas Examinations of Educator Standards (TExES) exams, graduates completing degrees leading to state certification are eligible for certification with the Texas Education Agency. The Pre-Professional Education Degree is non-certifiable.

In accordance with the U.S. Department of Education regulations, effective July 1, 2020 Title IV institutions are required to share professional licensure disclosures. For any certification or licensure, directly contacting that state's department or entity responsible for state certification or licensure will ensure the most accurate information. Students seeking Texas state educator certification must complete their clinical teaching in Texas. Students who clinical teach outside of Texas may check with their local state education office for local certification requirements.

CLINICAL TEACHING

Eligible students must complete application for clinical teaching by the assigned date in the academic calendar the semester preceding the clinical teaching assignment. Applications may be obtained from the Teacher Education Office and on the education web page.

To be eligible for admission to clinical teaching, a student must:

1. Have been approved to the Education program at Nelson University.
2. Have taken the appropriate state certification exams required for the degree.
3. Have completed, or be enrolled in, all prescribed coursework.
4. Have a minimum 2.75 GPA in all course work related to education and the area of specialization.
5. Have successfully completed a minimum of 50 hours of field experience prior to clinical teaching, including a minimum of 25 hours of documented interactive activities.

The Teacher Education Committee will review all applications to determine eligibility for clinical teaching. Admission to the Teacher Education program does not necessarily ensure acceptance into clinical teaching. Applicants will be notified in writing of the Committee's decision. Appeals to any decision must be made in writing to the Education Committee.

Clinical teaching is a privilege granted to the student through the courtesy of the school and/or district to which the clinical teacher is assigned. Prompt and regular attendance and complete cooperation with the cooperating teacher is required. Students are advised to become familiar with the Clinical Teaching Handbook prior to clinical teaching.

During the final semester, the academic load will be limited to 15 hours including clinical teaching.

Students who do not graduate within six months of clinical teaching will lose credit for the course and MUST repeat clinical teaching. Candidates who withdraw or are withdrawn from a clinical teaching assignment must change degrees and will be removed from the Teacher education program.

RECOMMENDATION TO THE TEXAS EDUCATION AGENCY

To be recommended to the Texas Education Agency for teacher certification, a student must have successfully met the following criteria:

1. All specified course work must be completed on the degree plan or certification plan in which certificate is sought.
2. Minimum GPA of 2.75 on course work related to the area of specialization and the teaching field.
3. Acceptable scores on all required TExES exams.
4. Receive recommendation from cooperating teacher and field supervisor.
5. In accordance with Article 6252-13c, Texas Civil Statutes, the Texas Commissioner of Education may suspend or revoke a teaching certificate, or refuse to issue a teaching certificate, for a person who has been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor for a crime that directly relates to the duties and responsibilities of the teaching profession. All applicants for Texas certificates will be screened for a record of felony or misdemeanor conviction through the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Students must make application online at www.tea.state.tx.us, pay appropriate fees, and complete the required criminal background check and fingerprinting. The Teacher Certification Officer will make recommendations based upon satisfactory completion of all requirements pertaining to certification.

REQUIREMENTS FOR PLACEMENT IN MUSIC EDUCATION

1. The Departmental Placement Examination is given to all incoming music students to determine theory competency. If the exam indicates a weakness in rudimentary skills, the students will be required to complete MUS 0012, Basic Musicianship I and MUS 0022 Basic Musicianship II before enrolling in MUS 1114, Music Theory I. This exam will be administered the first day of class in the fall semester.
2. The Voice Placement Assessment (VPA) and the Piano Placement Assessment (PPA) will be administered by the applied music faculty during the first week of each semester. The VPA and PPA will ascertain whether the student should enroll in lower division applied music or in Class Piano/Class Voice. Students who are advised to enroll in Class Piano/Class Voice must pass the VPA/PPA before they will be allowed to enroll in applied music.
3. Advanced Standing Options: Incoming students may qualify for advanced placement. The Music Department administers the tests to determine advanced placement. Students who desire advanced placement must make arrangements with the Chair of the Music Department and take the exams prior to registration. A student may receive a maximum of 12 hours advanced placement credit in music.

BEHAVIORAL OBJECTIVES FOR SPECIALIZATION AREAS

The education curriculum addresses all standards and objectives approved by the Texas Education Agency (TEA). All Education majors must take the Taylor-Johnson Temperament Analysis (TJTA) before being admitted into the Nelson University Teacher Education program. Contact the Education Office for test information.

English

The heart of this English department is the study of language used effectively to communicate. The study may be of technical writing, well-known literary works, or original student writing, any of which contain, at the core, transforming themes and ideas that reflect a writer's worldview.

Goals and distinctives of Nelson University English studies:

1. To ignite in students a love for literature, writing, and thoughtful expression as reflections of God's creative work
2. To be a catalyst for students' critical thinking, guided by the Holy Spirit and a biblical worldview, to engage with themes and worldviews embedded in literary conversations
3. To empower students to develop their own voices as they sharpen their thinking and writing skills to challenge and inspire others to be a salt and light in their world

EXPECTED OUTCOMES FOR ENGLISH MAJORS

UPON COMPLETION OF THIS PROGRAM, STUDENTS WILL BE ABLE TO:

1. Analyze literary elements in selected works of literature
2. Demonstrate critical thinking through logical, substantial, and comprehensive writing
3. Write effectively in a variety of genres
4. Demonstrate readiness for the marketplace or graduate studies

Health Sciences

The Health Sciences Department at Nelson University prepares students academically, professionally, and spiritually for careers that promote health, athletic performance, and the overall well-being of individuals and communities. The department integrates disciplines in kinesiology, exercise science, and health promotion, providing students with a strong foundation in scientific knowledge, practical skills, evidence-based practice, and professional application. Many courses within the department provide opportunities for students to learn through practice in professional and applied settings. In both classroom and clinical environments, students develop essential skills in critical thinking, research, problem-solving, and the effective use of technology. Through laboratory work, internships, and community engagement, students are prepared for positions in health-related fields as well as for continued study in graduate and professional programs. Nelson University demonstrates a commitment to academic excellence and leadership while fostering an environment where learning extends beyond the classroom, with an emphasis on a Christ-centered, Spirit-led approach to education.

Bachelor of Science - Kinesiology

INITIAL KINESIOLOGY PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

- Meet with the Kinesiology Program Coordinator within the first semester.
- Sign and submit:
  - Kinesiology Students' Code of Ethics
  - Kinesiology Acknowledgement Form
  - Photocopy of Student ID card

ONGOING KINESIOLOGY PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

- Achieve and maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.75 or higher. Transcripts from all institutions, including Nelson Universty, are used to determine cumulative GPA.
- Complete BIO 2123 (plus lab) and BIO 2124 Human Anatomy and Physiology, or equivalent courses, achieving a grade of "B-" or higher in each course.
- Complete MTH 1123 College Algebra, achieving a grade of "C-" or higher.
- Students must be approved by the Program Coordinator and Department Chair before taking KIN 3293 Clinical Field Study I; KIN 4593 Clinical Field Study II.

SPECIALIZATIONS

Exercise Science
- Prepares graduates for careers as exercise physiologists, personal trainers, and wellness coordinators

Pre-Physical Therapy
- Intensive preparation for students planning doctoral or other graduate degrees in physical therapy

Pre-Occupational Therapy
- Designed for students planning graduate study in occupational therapy

Athletic Training

2. Demonstrate knowledge of pedagogical procedures for teaching private music lessons.
3. Demonstrate the ability to provide Christian service in ministerial, professional and vocational music careers.

ADDITIONAL MUSIC DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

1. Piano Placement Assessment is given to determine piano readiness. Students desiring to register for private piano lessons will enroll in MUS 1211 Class Piano I and take the PPA the first day of class each semester. Those who pass the PPA will be permitted to enroll in MAP 1111 Applied Piano; MUS 1311 Class Piano II, MUS 2411 Class Piano III, or MUS 2421Class Piano IV based on recommendation.
2. Voice Placement Assessment is given to determine vocal readiness. Students desiring to register for private voice lessons will enroll in MUS 0051 Class Voice and take the VPA the first day of class each semester. Those who pass the VPA will be permitted to enroll in MAP 1211 Applied Voice.
3. Theory Placement Assessment is given to all incoming music students to determine theory readiness. Students will register for MUS 0031 Fundamentals of Music and take the TPA the first day of class in the fall semester. Those who pass the TPA will be permitted to enroll in MUS 1114 Music Theory I.
4. Students are required to participate in a Music Department ensemble each semester of full-time enrollment (exception for Music Education students the semester of student teaching).
5. All music majors are required to pass the Piano Proficiency Exam.
6. All music majors are required to pass the Proficiency Exam of their major applied area before enrolling in the upper level of applied study. Students must register for the Proficiency Exam the semester in which it is attempted.
7. Advanced Standing Options: Incoming students may qualify for advanced placement. The Music Department administers the exams to determine advanced placement. Students who desire advanced placement must make arrangements with the Chair of the Music Department and take the exams prior to registration. A student may receive a maximum of 12 hours advanced placement credit in music.

APPLIED MUSIC

Private instruction is offered each semester in the various phases of applied music. Each credit involves a 30-minute private lesson and a minimum of 5 hours practice each week. Music majors without basic skills may be required to take additional instruction beyond what is suggested in the degree plan to meet proficiency requirements.

Each student will register in his/her major primary applied field and will continue to register for lower-level study until proficiency is attained. Unsatisfactory performance on the proficiency examination for upper-level standing will necessitate continued lower-level study until the student passes the qualifying examination. Students are not allowed to register for more than two credit hours of applied lesson in any given semester.

Upon the recommendation of the teacher, a student may take the examination for advanced standing earlier than the completion of the prerequisite number of semester hours. However, all students must complete the required total number of semester hours in music as specified on the degree plan.

Grades in applied music represent an estimate of the student's progress. However, a level of proficiency must be met for admittance to upper-level study.

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS

1. Each applied music student shall participate in at least one studio and one general recital each semester.
2. All applied music students are required to complete a jury exam at the end of each semester of study.
3. All performance majors are required to give a Junior Recital (MAP 3200).
4. All performance and worship majors are required to give a Senior Recital (MAP 4000).
5. All applied music students must fulfill the required number of recitals as determined by the music department each semester.

The Music Department Handbook explains fully the policies and procedures to be followed in achieving these goals. The music student is expected to be knowledgeable of this handbook and is held accountable for the guidelines presented therein. The handbook is available through the Music Office, or call the College of Music and Communication Arts at 972-825-4793.

DISTINCTION

Nelson University strives to present a quality music program for its students inclusive of performances, opportunities and instruments. On April 28, 2011, Nelson University was publicly awarded the status of "ALL STEINWAY SCHOOL" joining an elite list of conservatories, colleges, and international schools of distinction. Students are now able to practice and perform on high quality pianos throughout their studies at the University.

TOTAL PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS 124 HOURS

Worship Leadership is a ministry preparation program fashioned in light of the leadership curriculum established in the Southwestern College of Bible and Church Ministries. This is for the development of worship pastors who serve not only the musical needs of the Church but serve as part of a pastoral team. In addition to the Bible core, the curriculum highlights leadership core courses and musical expertise. It also includes a full slate of hands-on internship credit hours. Nelson University offers a closely related program with a somewhat different focus. It is designed to focus on skill development and might be an option for the student interested in worship.

UPON COMPLETION OF THIS PROGRAM, STUDENTS WILL BE ABLE TO:

1. Formulate the purpose and process of ministry preparation for a worship leader in the church.
2. Interpret and summarize biblical music principles and music history in the church through transcribed and verbalized methods.
3. Design, organize, plan, and present worship services in a variety of local church settings.
4. Categorize properties of rhythm, melody, and harmony by means of written and aural music theory.
5. Exhibit proficiency in a major performance area.
6. Construct original music and employ compositional skills at a proficient level.

ADDITIONAL PROGRAM STIPULATIONS

1. All full-time students are to include one General Biblical Studies course each semester until degree requirements have been satisfied.
2. First-year students enrolled full-time are to include GES 1122 in their first semester schedule.
3. Certain music requirements are subject to the guidelines/procedures in the Music Department Handbook. The Worship Leadership student is accountable to these guidelines and the Handbook is available from the Music Department Office at 972-825-4793.

For the Adventurous: Study Abroad/Education in Context

Many students want to enhance their studies by incorporating opportunities to study abroad or in unusual contexts. In general, the University refers to such programming as "Education in Context." Nelson University has a variety of such opportunities available to serious students. In most cases, Nelson University utilizes its online courses for the completion of academic work. However each plan is unique and information is available in various offices.

HOLY LAND STUDY TOUR

Annually the Assemblies of God provides a most amazing opportunity for students in A/G colleges to enjoy a study tour in the Holy Land during the summer months. This educational tour has credit options for students. Those students selected receive generous scholarships from the Assemblies of God to assist in making this possible. Contact the Southwestern College of Bible and Church Ministries for details. Applications must be processed in the fall preceding the summer tour.

EDUCATION

The Experience in Context plan provides opportunities for education majors to study abroad or in a multicultural context in the United States of America for a semester. Coursework is completed online, while students gain valuable interactive experiences with diverse children in international settings. A Junior level undergraduate student may earn up to 12 hours, and a graduate student up to 9 hours during a single semester abroad or in context. Contact Nelson University's Department of Teacher Education for details. Applications must be completed no earlier than the end of the sophomore year, and no later than 4 months prior to the term of study.

MISSIONS

The Nelson University Missions Department offers students the opportunity for an "In-Context Experience" semester. Students can apply to complete college studies while living abroad or in specific intercultural locations in the U.S. for one complete semester. Such opportunities are made possible at locations approved via the Missions Department. These sites are scrutinized for safety, stability, and an environment of educational priority. See the Missions Office for details.

ENGAGE

Engage in Missions is an option for mature first-time only Nelson University students who feel a call to missions and desire a hands-on, foreign mission field experience as part of their college education. Students will be mentored by an experienced Assemblies of God missionary and develop skills, both spiritual and practical, that will help them the rest of their lives.

Engage students can earn up to 60 college hours while serving alongside experienced missionaries on the field. Students take online classes through Nelson Online. Classes begin each September and January (Fall and Spring semesters). Sometimes Engage students learn a second language during their experience. They also assist in training youth, children and church workers on the mission field as well as help lead teams of other students on short-term mission trips.

Engage students live in dormitory-style housing. Each housing setting will have a "Resident Director" available to the students for supervision and support. Rooms have internet connections for easy communication with home and for completion of course work. Standard Nelson University admissions requirements apply. Students must also be accepted into the program by Engage endorsed missionaries. For more information regarding application and acceptance to Engage, visit the Nelson University website.

Credentials & Special Arrangements

MINISTERIAL CREDENTIALS FOR ALL NELSON UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

Both the 18-hour and 24-hour Core of General Biblical Studies at Nelson University have been structured to provide a broad exposure to basic Bible knowledge, theological awareness in the Pentecostal-evangelical tradition, and an awareness of the opportunities and challenges of ministry within the Church and the marketplace for all students at Nelson University, regardless of their major.

Consequently, all students at Nelson University who complete either the 18-hour or the 24-hour core have the opportunity to apply for ministry credentials with the Assemblies of God if they so desire and are otherwise eligible. While the University doesn't grant ministerial credentials, offering preparatory curriculum is in keeping with the mission and purpose of the University "to prepare undergraduate…students spiritually, academically, professionally, and cross culturally to successfully fill evangelistic, missionary and church ministry roles…wherever needed throughout the world" and the expressed desire of the supporting districts of Nelson University. For complete information regarding ministerial credentials, please contact the Dean's office of the Southwestern College of Bible and Church Ministries.

In order to accomplish this, the University has covenanted with its supporting districts to provide for the following through both its 18-hour and 24-hour Bible Theology Core:

1. A broad exposure to basic Bible knowledge.
2. A general knowledge of theological persons, events and doctrines within the Pentecostal-evangelical tradition.
3. An awareness of the opportunities and challenges of ministry within the church and marketplace today.
4. An overview of the governance, structure, polity and ministries of the Assemblies of God.
5. Specific preparation for the credentialing exam and interviews with the Assemblies of God should the student desire to apply and otherwise qualify.

Students should contact the pre-law advisor for assistance in selecting courses and internships that will prepare them for law school.

TESOL Certification

Nelson University offers the means for students interested in teaching English as a foreign language to earn TESOL credentials (Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages) which meet and exceed accepted international standards. The TESOL Cert can open doors of opportunity to teaching English around the world and can be an invaluable asset to graduating English majors, Education majors, Intercultural Studies majors, and all internationally-minded students.

The TESOL Certification will be granted to students who successfully complete at least a minor or AA in TESOL and who receive a positive instructor's report verifying ten or more clock hours of TESOL teaching experience at sites approved by the TESOL Coordinator. Students seeking the TESOL Certificate should work closely with the TESOL program coordinator for advising and approval of teaching hours and to request a certificate upon completion.

The TESOL Cert is awarded by the Department of English and should not be confused with any certification offered through the Teacher Education Department.

Course Descriptions

Course Numbers

The first figure of each number indicates the level of the course. The fourth figure indicates the number of semester hours of credit. The University reserves the right to offer courses on alternate years or as needed. Any elective course scheduled may be withdrawn if demand is not sufficient.

Freshmen students may not take any course numbered 3000 or above.

Special Courses

Independent Research courses are designed to fulfill curriculum requirements of 1, 2, or 3 hours. Students are asked to complete a research project that is the equivalent of required course work. Independent Research courses are taken for residence credit and are numbered 1101, 1102, and 1103, or 2201, 2202, and 2203 or 3301, 3302, and 3303, or 4401, 4402, and 4403 (depending on the level of difficulty and credit awarded). Students must have advisor approval to take an Independent Research course. There is an extra fee.

Special Studies courses are offered in the schedule of classes during the summer or regular semesters. These courses are designed by the faculty to enrich the curriculum and fulfill degree requirements. Special Studies seminars and Special Studies courses are offered for residence credit and are designated by the codes SSS and SSC respectively. Because the student is meeting one-to-one with the instructor, there will be an extra fee.

Conference Courses are those residence courses listed in the Course Descriptions section of the catalog in which requirements are met through individual, rather than classroom, instruction. The student must receive the approval of both the Instructor and College Dean to enroll. Because the student is meeting one-to-one with the instructor, there will be an extra fee.

General Education Studies

GES 0011 AIM I
1 Hour
This remedial course is designed for students entering Nelson University needing additional academic preparation to meet the challenges of college level work. Under the guidance of the Director of the Learning Center, students work individually with peer tutors in developing competence in critical study skills. Some of the basic skills emphasized are time management, organization, note taking methodologies, memory improvement, and test-taking strategies. Students entering the University on conditional acceptance are required to take this course.

GES 0021 AIM II
1 Hour
AIM II is the continuation of remedial skill development from AIM I. Emphasis is placed on the student's current courses. The peer-tutor model is still employed but each student will be expected to independently demonstrate competency in the appropriate application of study strategies. The identification of challenges and the setting of academic goals will be done with the tutor staff. Students will also be required to take the career assessment in the Career Office, if not previously taken. All students entering Nelson University with a conditional acceptance are required to complete both semesters of the course.

GES 0031 Crossroads
1 Hour
Crossroads is designed for students needing additional academic support and is a requirement for all students in a first time academic probationary status or a continuing academic probationary status (as defined by the current catalog). With the staff and the Director of the Learning Center, students will identify academic areas for emphasis and design a plan for academic success. Each student will be assigned a peer tutor who will give weekly academic assistance. Students meeting satisfactory academic achievement levels, as defined above, will be considered as successfully completing the requirement. A recommendation from the Dean of Academic Services is also required.

GES 1122 Strategies for Student Success
2 Hours
This course aids incoming students in the process of acclimation to the University environment. The curriculum addresses student growth in knowledge, skills and attitudes in academic, social, personal, and spiritual areas. HIS 3113 American Early Federal and Jacksonian Eras
3 Hours
Political, constitutional, cultural, and economic developments in the U.S. during the formative period of the Republic, 1776-1849. Topics will include the Revolution, the Constitution, the Federalist administrations of Washington and Adams, the policies of Jefferson, the War of 1812, Jacksonian democracy, the Second Awakening, reform movements, westward expansion, and the growth of slavery. (Prerequisite: HIS 1113 or permission of professor)

HIS 3123 American Sectional Conflict and Gilded Age
3 Hours
Political, cultural, and economic developments in the U.S. from 1849-1900. Topics will include abolition, slavery, sectionalism, the Civil War, Reconstruction, religious movements, the market revolution, party politics, women's work and status, reform movements, and immigration. (Prerequisite: HIS 1113 or permission of professor)

HIS 3133 America Since 1900
3 Hours
A study of American social, political, economic, cultural, and diplomatic history from the turn of the century to the present time. Topics that receive in-depth coverage include the major wars, the Great Depression, increasing pluralism in American society, the Cold War, the decade of the 1960's, and the fall of communism. (Prerequisite: HIS 1123)

HIS 3333 Advanced Topics in American History Through 1900
3 Hours
A study of the most important issues of American history from colonial times through 1900. Topics that receive major emphasis include interaction between Native Americans and European settlers, American political ideology, the frontier, manifest destiny, industrialization, slavery, reform movements, the Civil War and Reconstruction, and segregation. (Prerequisite: HIS 1113)

HIS 3413 Israel in the Ancient World
3 Hours
An in-depth study of the ancient nation of Israel from the calling of Abraham through the destruction of Jerusalem and the deportation of most of the Jewish population by the Romans in the first and second centuries A.D. The place of Israel in the larger context of the Near East during the period receives significant emphasis. (Prerequisite: HIS 2123)

HIS 4113 The Ancient Near East
3 Hours
A study of the Egyptian, Sumerian, Assyrian, Babylonian, Persian, and other civilizations found in the Near East in ancient times. The course traces elements of the religion, government, technology, and society of each civilization. (Prerequisite: HIS 2123 or professor approval)

HIS 4123 The Classical World
3 Hours
A study of Greek and Roman civilizations to the fall of the Western Roman Empire. The course covers the Hellenistic period in the eastern Mediterranean, in addition to the purely classical societies of Greece and Rome. It traces elements of the religion, government, technology, philosophies, and society of each civilization. (Prerequisite: HIS 2123)

HIS 4133 Medieval Western History
3 Hours
A study of European civilization from the fall of Rome to the Age of Discovery. The course focuses particular attention on Western and Central Europe and on the topics of feudalism, the Church, social classes, trade, agriculture, and warfare. (Prerequisite: HIS 2123)

HIS 4143 The Modern Western World
3 Hours
A study of European and New World societies from the Age of Discovery to the present. The course covers religious and governmental changes, the Scientific Revolution and Enlightenment, major political revolutions, the age of Napoleon, colonialism, and the two world wars, as well as other aspects of society and culture. (Prerequisite: HIS 2133)

HIS 4413 Texas History
3 Hours
Texas history from the earliest Spanish explorations to the present time as established by the TEKS. Topics that receive special emphasis are multi-cultural settlements of Texas, the Revolution, the Civil War, the frontier, the Populist Era, and the growth of Texas industry.

HIS 4913 Selected Topics
3 Hours
An examination of topics significant to understanding human history. Course content and subject vary; may be taken for up to six hours' credit.

LAW 3113 Principles of Legal Research and Analysis
3 Hours
This course introduces students to foundational methods of legal research and reasoning. Students will learn how to locate, interpret, and apply primary and secondary legal sources, including case law, statutes, and administrative regulations.

Humanities

HUM 1133 Introduction to Fine Arts
3 Hours
Emphasis will be given to Texas Art and Music Standards. This course will give an overview of the principles, elements, and techniques of the visual arts, architecture, music, photography and theater, as well as the terms and methods used to evaluate and appreciate works of art, music, drama, and other art forms. Also included will be an introduction to people who have made significant contributions in the history of the various art forms. The student will explore and apply comprehensive knowledge of music history, music evaluation, and musical perception and performance.

Intercultural Studies

ICS 2113 Islam in America
3 Hours
A study of the birth of American Islam, the early waves of Muslim immigration, and the evolution of American Islam toward orthodoxy. Emphasis is placed on the implications of Islam's rapid growth in American society and the Christian's responsibility to address this challenge.

ICS 2153 Spiritual Development
3 Hours
In this course, students will develop a biblical understanding of the principles and practices of spiritual growth and development. Biblical methods of sharing the Christian faith and mentoring spiritual maturity of believers will be introduced. Emphasis also will be placed on the biblical qualities necessary for those involved in planting and developing communities of believers.

ICS 2163 Strategic Opportunities for U.S. Service
3 Hours
This course will explore four major areas of cross-cultural service in the United States: church planting (especially among immigrants), college ministries (especially among foreign students), intercultural ministries and the chaplaincy. A history of past successes and failures in these areas will be addressed. Contemporary strategies will be introduced.

ICS 2183 Priorities for Intercultural Studies
3 Hours
This course offers a comprehensive introduction to critical issues in intercultural studies with a focus on the priorities outlined in the Assemblies of God Mission, Vision, and Core Values. Students will explore the foundational principles of the Indigenous church, along with the E-Scale, P-Scale, and C-Scale frameworks that inform cross-cultural mission strategies. The course will provide an overview of the History of Christian Missions, highlighting the contributions of notable missionaries who have shaped global missions. In addition, students will be introduced to topics such as Contextualization, cultural values, and the dynamics of honor and shame within various cultural contexts. The vital role of women in missions will also be explored, offering a holistic view of the diverse and complex landscape of intercultural ministry. (Prerequisite: BIB 1223)

ICS 2313 Personal Adjustment for Cross-Cultural Service
3 Hours
This course is a study of the relationship between personal, individual characteristics and effective cross-cultural service. Individual and group integrative concepts are studied and applied. Special attention is paid to personal characteristics and character development that appear critical to cross-cultural adjustment.

ICS 2913 Leadership in Cross-Cultural Service
3 Hours
The course is an intercultural studies course focused on equipping students for leadership in cross-cultural service. Students will be prepared to visit, experience and learn from cultures other than their own, implementing servant leadership. In addition, this course will prepare students to lead service trips by training the student in the necessary responsibilities pertaining to cross-cultural travel and peer leadership.

ICS 3113 Holistic Relief and Development
3 Hours
This course will present new methods for reaching out to hurting populations through various compassion ministries through both relief and development. Various strategies of establishing community involvement for long-term impact will be a major focus. Strong emphasis will be given to the scriptural precedents that point to the validity of this outreach and ways of accomplishing spiritual ends.

ICS 3133 Women in Islam
3 Hours
This course examines the identity and role of women in historic and contemporary Islam as taught by the Qur'an, the traditions and throughout society in various Muslim contexts. The student will examine the current debates about gender issues in Islam. This course will examine the implications of the religious role and status of Muslim women, their social status, as well as their place in the family, their home and Muslim society.

ICS 3143 Transforming Conflict
3 Hours
This course focuses on sharpening peer-to-peer relationship skills. The course integrates research proven cognitive-behavioral skills with biblical practices to enhance interpersonal relationships. Special emphasis is placed on managing conflict in cross-cultural environments.

ICS 3163 Understanding the Spirit World
3 Hours
This course deals with the realms of spirits as depicted in Scripture: the realm of God, the realm of angelic spirits--evil and good, and the realm of human spirits--un-regenerated and regenerated. The course focuses on discovering the source of spiritual oppression in any given conflict.
(Prerequisite: BIB 1223)

ICS 3183 Fundraising and Stewardship
3 Hours
A study of the key aspects of personal and non-profit resource management specifically for workers in intercultural settings. The course will introduce the student to fundraising, donor management and financial reporting, with an emphasis on required forms and reporting for the Assemblies of God system. The course will also introduce basic principles of financial ethics, budgeting, and record keeping.

ICS 3223 Introduction to Islam
3 Hours
Introduction to Islam will provide an overview of Islam, including its historical background, development, spread, its diversity and why it has such worldwide appeal. We will examine the main beliefs and practices of Muslims, noting similarities and crucial differences with Christianity in order to help Christian workers recognize both difficulties in evangelizing Muslims as well as the great opportunities. Special attention will be given to develop Christ-like attitudes and approaches for effective ministry to Muslims. (Prerequisite: BIB 1223) (Same as THE 3223)

ICS 3233 Applied Sustainability
3 Hours
Applied sustainability prepares students to meet the challenges of the destitute of this world through compassion, cutting edge technology, sustainable processes, and financially viable methods.

ICS 3331 Seminar
1 Hour
A seminar providing opportunity to bring to the campus highly qualified persons with expertise in different phases of missions and cross-cultural evangelism. The experience and insights of the guest lecturers will serve as valuable resources for prospective ministers in missions and cross-cultural evangelism. (Maximum of three seminars may be counted toward graduation)

ICS 3363 World Religions
3 Hours
This course seeks to equip the student with necessary knowledge to intelligently approach those of the non-Christian religions of the world. It views the tenets of the major religious systems comparatively. Religions studied include Pre-historic and tribal religions, Hinduism, Jainism, Sikhism, Buddhism, religions of East Asia, Zoroastrianism, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. (Same as THE 3363)

ICS 3513 Christianity & Islam in Conversation
3 Hours
This course will provide students with practical tools to engage Muslims in discussions that lead them to knowing Jesus. We will discuss various current missiological methods of engaging Muslims. (Prerequisite: BIB 1223)

ICS 3523 Intercultural Communication and Anthropology
3 Hours
This course examines the basic principles of cross-cultural communication including a focus on anthropological contexts and cultural barriers to effective communication along with the potential implications of these issues for Christian witness.

ICS 3912 Intercultural Service Internship Block
12 Hours
Students will participate in a 12-week cross-cultural field internship experience. They will be assigned to a qualified mentor and actively participate in supervised intercultural service, community development, and other specializations depending on trip location. Students will complete assignments designed to demonstrate growth in intercultural understanding, knowledge of the principles and practices of intercultural service, understanding the distinct issues in intercultural leadership development and the ability to complete guided field research. A student must make application to and be approved by the Missions Department Committee before registering for this block. Students should apply for their internship as soon as they have completed 45 hours of study. (Prerequisite: BIB 1223)

ICS 4153 Strategies for Multiethnic Service
3 Hours
This course will address the historical background of American immigration. Attention will be given to present day demographic patterns and obstacles created by tradition, prejudice and lack of knowledge. Students will examine strategies being successfully employed in multiethnic churches in the U.S. (Prerequisite: BIB 1223)

ICS 4323 Working with Refugees and Migrant Populations
3 Hours
This course focuses on critical elements necessary to understanding the refugee and displaced migrant crisis in regards to the legal and social factors that impact health and well-being in a humanitarian crisis.

Journalism

JOU 1141 The Image
1 Hour
This course is designed to provide students with a strong emphasis on editing, layout, and design from an aesthetic perspective, to display quality literature, artwork, and photography in an e-journal format that is visually pleasing where every aspect speaks of artistic unity, or intentionality. The course will provide much practical experience that will benefit students in a number of professions. The course may be repeated for a maximum of three hours credit.

Linguistics

LNG 3113 Topics in Linguistics
3 Hours
An intensive study of current topics in linguistics research and cross cultural communication. (Prerequisites: ENG 3413, ENG 3423)

LNG 3123 Morphology and Syntax
3 Hours
A study of syntactic and morphological patterns as related to language use. This course will primarily focus on prevalent patterns in English with an additional focus on transformational grammar and universal grammatical patterns. (Prerequisite: ENG 3413)

LNG 4113 Sociolinguistics
3 Hours
A study of speech acts, code switching, bilingualism, and conversation analysis will be used to analyze language in society. The course will address linguistic variation in the context of gender, ethnicity, social class, geography, and age. (Prerequisites: ENG 3413, ENG 3423)

LNG 4133 Cross-Cultural Communications and the EFL Classroom
3 Hours
A study of basic principles of cross-cultural communication and conflict resolution with tools for applying English language acquisition pedagogy in a homogenous foreign environment. (Prerequisite: ENG 3453 or permission from advisor)

Mathematics

MTH 0043 Developmental Math Sequence
3 Hours
The Developmental Math Sequence course is designed to prepare students to succeed in college level math and can be repeated for credit until the prerequisite skills needed for general education math courses have been mastered. Initial placement is determined by ACT or SAT scores. This course does not fulfill the requirement for mathematics in the core curriculum.

MTH 1113 College Mathematics
3 Hours
The study of modern concepts including elementary logic, set notation, number systems, systems of linear equations, quadratic equations, graphing, inequalities, progressions and elements of probability. (Prerequisite: Successful completion of MTH 0043 or placement determined by evaluation of ACT and Math Placement Exam scores)

MTH 1123 College Algebra
3 Hours
A thorough study of the binomial theorem, progressions, exponents, quadratic equations, and ratio and proportion. The theory and use of logarithms are included. (Prerequisite: Successful completion of MTH 0043 or placement determined by evaluation of ACT and Math Placement Exam scores)

MTH 2113 Elementary Analysis
3 Hours
Presents foundational principles that are necessary for student success in Calculus. Topics include an introduction to logarithmic functions, vectors, trigonometric form of a complex number, matrices, sequences and series, probability, conics, parametric equations, and polar equations. (Prerequisites: MTH 1123 with C or higher or equivalent scores on SAT/ACT or equivalent transfer courses)

MTH 2211 Calculus I Lab
1 Hour
The weekly lab meetings are an integral part of Calculus I (MTH 2213). These labs are designed to provide hands-on activities that will further the understanding of calculus and to provide an introduction to and instruction in the use of modern computer software. (Co-requisite: Enrollment in MTH 2213)

MTH 2213 Calculus I
3 Hours
The first semester of Calculus: limits, continuity, derivatives, rules of differentiation, applications of differentiation optimization, L'Hopital's Rule, curve sketching, integration, the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus. This course is taken in tandem with lab course MTH 2211. (Prerequisite: C or better in MTH 1123 or the Math/Calculus Aptitude Placement Test [MAPT] is required to register for this course; MTH 2113)

MTH 2221 Calculus II Lab
1 Hour
The weekly lab meetings are an integral part of Calculus II (MTH 2223). These labs are designed to provide hands-on activities that will further the understanding of calculus and to provide an introduction to and instruction in the use of modern computer software. (Co-requisite: Enrollment in MTH 2223)

MTH 2223 Calculus II
3 Hours
Applications of integration, techniques of integration, parametric equations, polar coordinates, sequences, series vectors, dot product, cross product, planes and quadric surfaces. This course will be taken in tandem with MTH 2221. (Prerequisite: MTH 2213)

MTH 3223 History of Math
3 Hours
A study of the History of Mathematics provides students an opportunity to study the historical development of mathematics, develop an appreciation of mathematics, and discover how mathematical structure and exactitude have developed over time. (Prerequisite: MTH 2113, MTH 2213)

MTH 3313 Calculus III
3 Hours
Partial differentiation, multiple integrals (with applications), line integrals, Green's Theorem, surface integrals, Stokes' Theorem, divergence theorem. (Prerequisite: MTH 2223)

MTH 3323 Introduction to Proofs and Discrete Mathematics
3 Hours
An introduction to methods of mathematical proof, formal logic, functions, induction, and set theory.
(Prerequisite: MTH 2223)

MTH 3333 Introduction to Linear Algebra
3 Hours
An introduction to the fundamentals of linear algebra, including Gaussian elimination, solution of systems of linear equations, finite dimensional vector spaces, matrices, and determinants. The main emphasis of the course is on applications and computational methods, with a view to facilitate the use of linear algebra in business, computer science, and the natural and social sciences.
(Prerequisite: MTH 2223)

MTH 3343 Linear Algebra
3 Hours
A study of vector spaces, linear transformations, invariance, and the theory of matrices including eigenvalues and eigenvectors. (Prerequisites: MTH 3323, MTH 3333)

MTH 3413 Statistics
3 Hours
A study of basic statistical methods of distributions, central tendency, variability, correlation, sampling techniques, and hypothesis testing. (Prerequisite: Successful completion of MTH 1123. Same as BUS 3413)

MTH 4113 Abstract Algebra I
3 Hours
Groups including Lagrange's Theorem, Cauchy's Theorem, the Isomorphism theorems, and symmetric groups. (Prerequisite: MTH 3343)

MTH 4123 Real Analysis I
3 Hours
The study of the properties of the real number line and the theory of functions of a real variable including limits, sequences, continuity, derivatives, and Riemann integration. (Prerequisite: MTH 3313)

MTH 4133 Numerical Methods
3 Hours
An introduction to numerical methods, both the mathematical methods for solving equations numerically and the programming of these methods on computers. Topics include interval-halving, Newton's and Bairstow's methods for a single equation; Gaussian elimination and Gram-Schmidt orthogonalization for solving systems of linear equations; interpolating polynomials; and methods of numerical differentiation and integration. TI-83/84 Plus graphing calculator required. (Prerequisite: Upper level standing)

MTH 4153 Modern Geometry
3 Hours
Finite geometries, transformations, motion of the Euclidean plane and 3-space, similarity transformations, convexity, and other topics. (Prerequisites: MTH 3323)

MTH 4163 Abstract Algebra II
3 Hours
Ring theory up to and including prime and maximal ideals; unique factorization domains, and classification of groups of small order; introduction to field theory and the fields Q, R, and C, convexity, and other topics. (Prerequisite: MTH 4113)

MTH 4183 Problem Solving
3 Hours
Strategies of problem solving; methods for teaching and applying different strategies; assessment of problem solving skills. (Prerequisite: Upper level standing)

MTH 4214 Algebra and Geometry in the Classroom
4 Hours
Patterns, relationships, ordered pairs, prime and composite numbers, orders of operations, exponents, number sentences, ratios, proportions, percents, modeling, formulas, equations, graphs, functions, systems of equations. Topics in geometry with an emphasis in problem solving, shapes, angles, polygons, circles, Pythagorean Theorem, symmetry, transformations, measurement area, and volume with an emphasis on technology. (Prerequisite: Junior standing or above)

Media

MED 2123 Introduction to Media Production
3 Hours
A survey of the three most essential elements of video media production: videography, lighting, and editing. As an introduction to the entire media production process, this course provides the necessary foundation for visual storytelling in the 21st century. Additional Course Fee Required.

MED 2153 Broadcast Production I
3 Hours
Provides exposure to fundamental elements of broadcast production for both in-studio and field or remote on-location events. Emphasis is on theoretical approaches to broadcast components such as camera operation, audio recording and synchronization, technical directing, producing, and floor directing. The course provides a basis for the Broadcast Production II course. Additional Course Fee Required. (Prerequisite: MED 2123; COM 2133 to be taken concurrently with MED 2153) (Replaced by MED 2193)

MED 2183 Survey of Social Media
3 Hours
The course fosters a deep understanding of social media's history, evolution, purpose, and impact on personal and professional realms. Students will engage in group activities, case studies, and individual assignments to hone their analytical skills in understanding the impact of social media on society. This course further provides insight into the nuances of major platforms so that students develop content creation skills and navigate legal considerations.

MED 2193 Studio Production
3 Hours
Provides exposure to fundamental elements of video production where part or all of a short-form show is produced onset inside an AV studio. Students will either continue to produce new content for a previously established program such as Lions in the Field or they will create an original show based on class input and instructor approval. Besides producing prepared video content and/or other supporting AV components, emphasis is on mastering crew positions such as pedestal-mounted cameras, audio, floor directing, teleprompter operator, and various other producing roles. Additional Course Fee Required. (Prerequisite: MED 2123)

MED 2213 Emerging Digital Technologies
3 Hours
Students will journey through the evolving landscape of communication technologies and explore the dynamic impact of those technological tools on communication, business, and society. This course will foster a thorough understanding of emerging technologies through a communication lens, encouraging students to identify signs of emerging media and their evolution. Technology that may be explored includes artificial intelligence, language learning models, blockchain technology, neuromorphic computing, and virtual reality. Students will acquire essential skills for navigating our highly technical society and develop a leadership mindset in the realm of technology-based innovation. Students will further investigate these technologies' ethical, societal, and managerial challenges.

MED 2223 Introduction to Audio Systems
3 Hours
This course introduces students to immersive and multi-dimensional sound practices for interactive environments such as theatrical audio, VR, AR, and gaming. Topics include surround sound formats, object-based audio, multichannel audio, and spatial design. Students will explore technologies such as Dolby Atmos, binaural audio, Audiokinetic Wwise, and Meta spatial tools. Emphasis is placed on real-time audio spatialization, digital environment acoustics, and user-centered sound experiences.

MED 2373 Audio Production for Digital Media
3 Hours
A survey of various techniques for sound design of visual media, such as film and television. Sound effects, foley, voice-overs, automated dialogue replacement, and advanced production techniques are examined with practical assignments and class exercises. Special attention is given to mixing and mastering digital audio tracks on Digital Audio Workstations.

MED 2413 Audio Production for Music
3 Hours
This course is a survey of various types of microphones and techniques for proper vocal and instrument recording. Creating special effects, audio filters and other post-production techniques are examined with practical assignments and class exercises. Special attention is given to mixing and mastering digital audio tracks on computer software and builds on the knowledge and skills acquired in prerequisite courses.

MED 3173 App and Web Design
3 Hours
An introductory study into the development app and web design principles, focusing on the intersection of design aesthetics, user experience (UX), and functionality. Emphasis will be placed on the integration of digital photography, graphics, video and text to create a user-friendly navigation flow of content for digital online consumers. Through a combination of lectures, hands-on exercises, and projects, students will learn the fundamentals of designing intuitive, visually appealing, and responsive "apps" and websites. Topics include design theory, user interface (UI) design, wireframing, prototyping, usability testing, and current trends in app and web design.

MED 3183 Media and Entertainment Law
3 Hours
An examination of the legal principles and regulations governing the media and entertainment industries. Through a combination of theoretical analysis and case studies this course explores the legal frameworks that shape media production, distribution, and consumption. Topics covered include copyright law, trademark law, freedom of expressions, defamation, privacy rights, intellectual property rights, contract law, and regulatory compliance.

MED 3193 Drone Videography
3 Hours
This course explores the art and technique of capturing compelling aerial footage using unmanned aerial vehicles (UAVs) equipped with cameras. Provides students with hands-on experience in operating drones, understanding airspace regulations, composing aerial shots, and editing drone footage to create professional-quality videos. Through a combination of lectures, demonstrations, practical exercises, and projects, students will develop the skills necessary to produce visually stunning drone videos for various purposes, including film, advertising, journalism, and more. Additional Course Fee Required. (Prerequisite: MED 2123)

MED 3223 Methods of Cinematography
3 Hours
This course covers the fundamental concepts of cinematography as it relates to cameras, lenses, lighting and set design. Students will study and explore various techniques of illumination and capture of narrative storytelling on films sets. This course also covers the critical components of film-making as it relates to cameras and actors and their interaction with each other. Additionally, the course will expose students to the relational aspect of filmmaking, meeting the expectations of actors on set, location scouting and leading a film crew. Students will apply learning to execute the Principle Photography stage of producing an original short film. Additional Course Fee Required. (Prerequisite: MED 2123)

MED 3233 Methods of Livestreaming
3 Hours
This course introduces students to the principles and techniques of producing live video streams for various platforms. Students will learn the essential components of live video production, including planning, setup, broadcasting, and post-production. Through hands-on projects and case studies, students will develop the skills necessary to produce high-quality live streams for different purposes, such as events, webinars, gaming, and social media. (Prerequisite: MED 2123)

MED 3243 Digital Effects & 3D Animation

3 Hours
An advanced study of the visual design principles and software tools learned from the Intro to Graphic Design course. Through a combination of theoretical concepts and practical applications, students will further refine their skills in creating compelling visual designs. Additionally, principles and techniques of 3D animation will be explored with an emphasis placed on creating short animated sequences. Students will learn how to use industry-standard software (including Adobe Creative Cloud, Cinema 4D and Blender) to create dynamic and engaging projects. Topics covered include modeling, rigging, texturing, lighting, and rendering. Through hands-on projects and assignments, students will develop their skills in storytelling, character animation, and visual effects. Additional Course Fee Required. (Prerequisite: COM 2243)

MED 3251 Live Sound Production Lab
1 Hour
This companion lab to MED 3253 Live Sound Production provides students with immersive, hands-on experience in live audio environments. Students will engage in soundchecks, live mixing, system calibration, and real-time troubleshooting. Projects include live performance setups, managing signal flow under pressure, and working within collaborative production teams. The lab emphasizes practical application and builds confidence in high-stakes, time-sensitive sound operations. Additional Fee Required. (Co-requisite: MED 3253)

MED 3253 Live Sound Production
3 Hours
This course covers the design and implementation of audio systems in live settings, including venues, houses of worship, and stage productions. Students will learn best practices for signal flow, gain staging, room analysis, speaker placement, acoustic treatment, and latency management by learning and applying SMAART software. Emphasis is placed on integrating audio with lighting, video, and control systems for a unified live experience. The course introduces audio networking and includes training toward DANTE Level 1 certification and Audio over IP workflows. Practical exercises prepare students to deliver clear, balanced sound in complex, real-world live production scenarios. (Prerequisite: MED 2223; Co-requisite: MED 3251)

MED 3261 Digital Audio Workstations Lab
1 Hour
This course develops proficiency in industry-standard digital audio workstations (DAWs) used across music, media, and interactive sound. Students will work in platforms such as Pro Tools (post-production), Ableton Live (performance and beatmaking), Logic Pro (music production), and Nuendo (game audio and dialogue). Topics include signal flow, MIDI sequencing, plugin integration, and digital signal processing (DSP), covering tools like EQ, compression, reverb, and techniques such as spatial processing and active noise cancellation. Emphasis is placed on creative application, workflow strategies, and critical evaluation of each DAW's strengths in professional contexts. Additional Fee Required. (Co-requisite: MED 3263)

MED 3263 Digital Audio Workstations
3 Hours
This course develops proficiency in industry-standard digital audio workstations (DAWs) used across music, media, and interactive sound. Students will work in platforms such as Pro Tools (post-production), Ableton Live (performance and beatmaking), Logic Pro (music production), and Nuendo (game audio and dialogue). Topics include signal flow, MIDI sequencing, plugin integration, and digital signal processing (DSP), covering tools like EQ, compression, reverb, and techniques such as spatial processing and active noise cancellation. Emphasis is placed on creative application, workflow strategies, and critical evaluation of each DAW's strengths in professional contexts. (Prerequisite: MED 2223; Co-requisite: MED 3261)

MED 3273 Live Audience Media Technologies
3 Hours
A practical hands-on course that engages students in the real-world usage of basic AVL instruments such as sound boards, video switchers, time-code sync systems, and DMX-based lighting consoles. Student projects may include mapping out the requests to deliver AVL support for a live presentation/event/service. Emphasis is placed on both technical skills acquisition and creativity that engages the senses of a live audience.

MED 3413 Audio Production and Aesthetics II
3 Hours
A survey of various techniques for sound design for visual media, such as film and television. Sound effects, foley, voice-overs, automated dialogue replacement, and advanced production techniques are examined with practical assignments and class exercises. Special attention is given to mixing and mastering digital audio tracks on Digital Audio Workstations and builds on the knowledge and skills acquired in prerequisite courses. Enrollment requires approval of the instructor.

(Prerequisite: MED 2173, MED 3223)

MED 3533 Sound for Cinema & Documentary
3 Hours
Students will learn the language and storytelling power of sound design as related to film and documentary projects. Sound effects, Foley, voice-overs, ambient noise, music score, automated dialogue replacement, and advanced production techniques are examined with practical assignments and class exercises. Special attention is given to mixing and mastering digital audio tracks and builds on the knowledge and skills acquired in the Audio Production for Digital Media course. Additional Course Fee Required. (Prerequisite: MED 2373)

MED 4133 Brand Campaign Development
3 Hours
An in-depth examination of the principles and practices involved in developing effective brand campaigns. Students will learn how to strategize, plan, execute, and evaluate such campaigns across various media platforms. Through case studies, focus groups, projects, and discussions, students will gain practical skills to succeed in this aspect of the public relations industry.

MED 4143 Documentary Production
3 Hours
This course is designed to provide students with practical skills and knoweldge necessary for creating compelling documentaries. By exploring the fundamentals of sound documentary research and story development processes through lectures and screenings, students will be tasked with producing a short-form documentary, including all principle photography and all post-production processes. Additional Course Fee Required. (Prerequisite: MED 2123)

MED 4153 Film Editing & Post Production
3 Hours
A rigorous study and application of the key editing principles required to tell cinematic stories after all the principle photography is captured. Emphasis is placed on exploring both the advanced techniques and artistic decisions in the entire post-production process. These stages include: rough assembly editing, dialogue editing, integration of graphics/effects, color grading, audio mixing, final edit, and exported deliverable. This course employees the principle photography for a film project initially begun in the Methods of Cinematography course. Additional Course Fee Required. (Prerequisite: MED 3223)

MED 4163 Audio Mixing and Mastering
3 Hours
This course focuses on the final stages of audio postproduction. Students will study critical listening, tonal balance, dynamic range management, stereo imaging, and mastering chain techniques. Topics include EQ sculpting, multi-band compression, limiting, and mastering for various platforms and formats. The course emphasizes preparing mixes for commercial release, broadcast, and streaming, ensuring professional sound quality and cross-system compatibility. (Prerequisite: MED 2223)

MED 4173 Spatial and Immersive Audio Design
3 Hours
This course introduces students to immersive and multi-dimensional sound practices for interactive environments such as theatrical audio, VR, AR, and gaming. Topics include surround sound formats, object-based audio, multichannel audio, and spatial design. Students will explore technologies such as Dolby Atmos, binaural audio, Audiokinetic Wwise, and Meta spatial tools. Emphasis is placed on real-time audio spatialization, digital environment acoustics, and user-centered sound experiences. (Prerequisite: MED 2223)

3 Hours
This course is a study of organizing and interpreting psychological and behavioral science research data. It includes a survey of statistical description, including measure of central tendency, dispersion, and correlation. Basic research principles and methods of research are studied. (Same as SWK 3323)

PSY 3331 Counseling Seminar
1 Hour
The University provides a counseling psychology seminar as part of an annual continuing educational conference for pastoral and professional counselors. The two day conference features a key note speaker, workshops, discussion and process groups and significant opportunities for student seminar participants to interface with professionals in the field. The conference convenes on campus and may be taken for one hour of academic course credit.

PSY 3333 Theories of Personality
3 Hours
An introductory study of some of the major approaches, methods, and findings in the field of personality. It represents an overview of the basic theories, strategies, issues and conclusions in the psychology of personality.
(Prerequisite: PSY 1153)

PSY 3443 Crisis Intervention and Management
3 Hours
This course is a study of crisis intervention and management with a Christian perspective. This course reviews theoretical models of crisis development in a variety of settings. Students will develop an understanding of intervention and management techniques demonstrating a competency in crisis intervention skills. Special emphasis is given to suicide, family crisis, and major catastrophes.
(Same as COU 3443, SWK 3443)

PSY 3453 Social Psychology
3 Hours
An introduction to the psychological study of social behavior to include an exploration of social cognition, influence, change, group structure and interpersonal processes. Social interaction and interpersonal communication variables are explored.

PSY 3463 Theories and Principles of Learning
3 Hours
Basic theories and processes of learning and conditioning in humans and animals are studied. These include classical and operant conditioning as well as social and cognitive approaches. Selected behavior management techniques and their applications are reviewed.

PSY 4113 History and Systems of Psychology
3 Hours
A study of evolution of thought in psychology from its inception as an experimental science to significant systems, issues, and experiments of theories of today.

PSY 4123 Sports Psychology
3 Hours
This course examines psychological theories and research related to sport and exercise behavior. The course is designed to introduce students to the field of sport and exercise psychology by providing a broad overview of the major topics in the area. (Prerequisites: PSY 1153, Junior standing or above, and approval of the Program Coordinator)

PSY 4213 Introduction to Clinical Psychology
3 Hours
This course provides a survey of historical foundations, ethical principles, basic assessment methods including practical interviewing and schools of counseling and psychotherapy related to clinical psychology. An orientation to the field and requirements for professional practice is provided.

PSY 4313 Behavioral Science Research
3 Hours
A study of the various research methods in the behavioral sciences. Emphasis is on the techniques used as well as the process and ethics of research. Topics investigated include: sampling, hypothesis development and testing, and research design. (Prerequisite: PSY 3323. Same as COU 4313, SWK 4313)

PSY 4333 Introduction to Psychological Tests and Measurements
3 Hours
Surveys a variety of psychological assessment techniques typically used in psychological evaluation and assessment. Some attention is given to test construction and measures of reliability and validity. The ethics involved in psychological testing is also considered. The course of study is limited to counseling and psychology majors. (Prerequisite: PSY 1153)

PSY 4343 Introduction to Biopsychology
3 Hours
An introductory study of the nervous system which includes the relationship to bodily function and behavior. Specific topics studied include sensory and motor function, perception, cognition, motivation, emotion, learning and memory. Various neurological disorders as well as aspects of their assessment and treatment are reviewed. (Prerequisites: BIO 1113 [preferred], PSY 1153)

PSY 4423 Grief, Death, and Dying
3 Hours
A course designed to help the student offer pastoral care and counseling to the dying and those close to the dying. This course examines the biblical view of grief, death, and dying. This course explores the dynamics of loss and examines current literature of the subject of ministry to the dying and bereaved. (Same as PMN 4423)

PSY 4433 Psychology of Religion
3 Hours
A course designed to guide the student in thinking psychologically, from the perspective of evangelical Christianity, about religious phenomena. The assumptions and methods in psychological approaches to the study of religious beliefs, experiences, and behaviors are also examined as they relate to integration of psychology and theology. Included is a review of research findings as constructs are applied to selected aspects of religious behavior.

PSY 4483 Human Sexuality
3 Hours
A course of study that considers the biological-psychological and social dimensions of human sexuality from a Bible-based perspective. The initial consideration of human sexuality is formed by the Genesis account of human creation. Areas of focus include dynamic formulation of sexual identity and gender roles, human sexuality throughout the life cycle, sexual deviancy, and contemporary sexual issues.

PSY 4583 Field Practicum
3 Hours
This course requires the student to complete 120 hours in an off-campus setting allowing him or her the opportunity for experiential learning. Students will complete assignments designed to demonstrate knowledge, competency of the profession, and the ability to complete guided field research. (Permission of academic advisor or the Psychology Department Chair required)

PSY 4993 Special Topics
3 Hours
This course will focus on a specific topic including those which demand further intensive study as well as contemporary issues. In this regard, this course allows for recent developments and latest issues in the field related to a specific topic as well as the possible research interests of the professor. This course is intended to provide the student the opportunity to enhance their knowledge of a selected topic by examination of salient, current critical issues. This course may be taken as a general elective and may be repeated for another topic. (Prerequisites: Permission to take this subject has to be approved by the Program Coordinator or Psychology Department Chair

Reading

RDG 3413 Foundations of Literacy Instruction
3 Hours
Foundations of emergent literacy frameworks, instructional practices and strategies are introduced from birth to grade 3. Guidance and practice in planning and organizing for instruction for the five essential components of reading instruction: phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension. Reading and language arts theory, content and methods will be emphasized according to research and state standards. Includes field experience hours.

RDG 3423 Reading and Writing Across the Curriculum
3 Hours
Guidance and practice in planning and organizing phonics, vocabulary, fluency, and comprehension instruction in the intermediate grades 3-8. Includes strong emphasis on integrating strategies to use multiple sources of information and technology in the content areas for the purpose of reading and writing to learn. Reading and language arts theory, content, and methods will be emphasized according to research and state standards. Includes field experience hours. (Prerequisite: RDG 3413)

RDG 3433 Literacy Assessment and Instruction
3 Hours
Presents current research practices and methods in literacy development and assessment. Focuses on informal and formal assessment practices with an emphasis on gathering, analyzing, and interpreting data for the purpose of making data-driven instructional decisions. Examines characteristics and uses of a wide variety of evaluation and assessment tools. Includes field experience hours. (Prerequisite: RDG 3413)

RDG 3453 Adolescent Literacy Instruction
3 Hours
Guidance and practice in planning and organizing integrated instruction for reading, writing, speaking, listening, viewing, and visually representing for adolescents. Strong emphasis on integrating the language arts state standards through reading and writing instruction. Includes field experience hours.

RDG 4513 Content and Disciplinary Literacy Instruction
3 Hours
Guidance and practice in theory, content, and methods for integrating reading and writing in content and disciplinary areas of instruction. Emphasis on literacy processes and their interrelatedness to all instruction and learning, strategies for text comprehension, developing vocabulary, reading and writing to learn, and using study and inquiry skills with a variety of texts. Includes field experience hours. (Prerequisites: RDG 3413, RDG 3423, RDG 3433)

Religion/Philosophy

PHL 2223 Introduction to Philosophy
3 Hours
An introductory course in which a study is made of the major philosophers and schools of philosophical thought from the earliest known system to contemporary thought, inclusive of western philosophies of religion.

PHL 2233 Logic, Reason, and Persuasion
3 Hours
Examination of the logical structure of argumentation and the development of skills in reasoning. Emphasis is placed on the essential principles in constructing valid arguments and identifying classic fallacies.

PHL 3113 History of Philosophy
3 Hours
A comprehensive survey of the major thinkers and schools of thought in the Western Philosophical Tradition from classical Greece to the present. The course pays special attention to how ideas found in these traditions have contributed to and opposed a Christian worldview.

PHL 3123 Philosophy of Religion
3 Hours
Introduction to philosophical issues concerning religion, including the origin and nature of evil, the existence and nature of God, and religious knowledge and language.

REL 1133 Authentic Christianity
3 Hours
The experience and ethics of authentic Christianity within contemporary culture. Using the Word of God, students embrace its unique world view as a foundation for exemplary living, decision making, exploring personal aspirations, facing dilemmas and problem solving. Christian devotion and service in the Church and the marketplace are emphasized as well as the essential spiritual disciplines for character formation: engaging Scripture, personal and intercessory prayer, the dynamic of the Holy Spirit, and purity in lifestyle. Students are challenged to discover (and become one with) God's view of themselves, the current times, and God's purposes in the world.

REL 1153 New Testament Literature
3 Hours
An overview study of the New Testament. Special emphasis is given to the content, genre, themes, and historical setting of each of the books of the New Testament.

REL 1163 Old Testament Literature
3 Hours
An overview study of the Old Testament. Special emphasis is given to the content, genre, themes, and historical setting of each of the books of the Old Testament.

REL 1173 Introduction to Biblical Literature
3 Hours
An exposition of the biblical narrative from Genesis to Revelation with an emphasis on the redemptive story that unites the Scriptures. It acquaints students with the major characters, narratives, and theological themes within the cultural and historical backgrounds of the biblical worlds.

REL 3113 Christianity in the Ancient and Middle Ages
3 Hours
A survey of the history of Christianity from the New Testament era to the eve of the Reformation. Special attention is given to the persecution and early challenges to the church, Christological Controversies, Monasticism, Constantine, the rise and fall of the papacy, Scholasticism, Wycliffe, and Hus.

REL 3123 Christianity from the Reformation to the Post-modern Era
3 Hours
A survey of the history of Christianity from the Protestant Reformation to contemporary times. Special attention is given to the Reformation and the Counter Reformation, Puritans, Pietism, Wesley and the Holiness Movement, the impact of the Enlightenment, and revivals.

REL 3133 In-Context Experience
3 Hours
Students will participate in a cross-cultural field experience in a location overseas or in the United States. They will be assigned to a qualified mentor or training location and actively participate in supervised intercultural service, community development, and other activities depending on practicum location. Students must apply for their practicum one semester in advance and be approved by the ICS Committee to participate. Students must successfully complete a field experience for a minimum of 12 weeks. (This course is designed for students with majors other than Intercultural Studies.) (Prerequisite: BIB 1223)

REL 3143 Second Temple History
3 Hours
An introduction to the history and literature of the Second Temple Period that frames the transition from the world of the Old Testament to the New Testament era. (Prerequisites: REL 1153, REL 1163)

REL 3153 Christian Ethics
3 Hours
A study of the moral principles that govern human conduct with particular attention to normative ethical theories as applied from a Christian perspective to contemporary ethical issues.

REL 4113 History of Modern Revivals
3 Hours
A survey of modern revivals and awakenings from the birth of Evangelicalism in the eighteenth century to the modern era.

Science

BIO 1111 Introductory Biology Lab
1 Hour
Introduction to the tools and methods of the biologist. The student will learn to use the light microscope; how to identify, examine, and dissect selected lab specimens; how to use laboratory aids; and how to report results of laboratory observations. Lab fee is required for on campus course. (Prerequisite: BIO 1113, concurrent enrollment with BIO 1113)

BIO 1113 Biological Science
3 Hours
The fundamental concepts of biology. An emphasis is on human biology including the organ systems. The place of people in their environment and the importance of their environment to them are both examined from a biblical perspective. The lab allows students to use the scientific method to examine and test many of the facts and concepts presented.

BIO 2111 Human Anatomy and Physiology I Lab
1 Hour
This course is a lab course to be taken by students in the A.S. degree in Health Science. It is the lab connected to the Human Anatomy and Physiology course. Lab fee is required for on campus course. (Prerequisite: Lab Manual)

BIO 2123 Human Anatomy and Physiology I
3 Hours
Anatomy and Physiology I is the first part of a two course sequence. This course covers fundamental principles of body systems and their functions. Topics include basic chemistry, cells, tissues and organs of the following systems: integumentary, skeletal, muscular, nervous and special senses. Relationships among systems and regulation of physiological functions involved in maintaining homeostasis will be emphasized. Laboratory work includes dissection of preserved specimens, microscopic study, examining models, and physiological and computer simulations experiments. (Same as KIN 2123)

BIO 2124 Human Anatomy and Physiology II with Lab
4 Hours
This course is the second of a two part course sequence. Topics include the endocrine, cardiovascular, lymphatic, respiratory, digestive, urinary, and reproductive systems as well as human development, genetics, metabolism, nutrition, acid-base balance, and fluid and electrolyte balance. Upon completion, students should be able to demonstrate an in-depth understanding of principles of anatomy and physiology and their interrelationships. Laboratory work includes dissection of preserved specimens, microscopic study, examining models, and physiological and computer simulations experiments. Lab fee is required for on campus course. (Prerequisites: BIO 2111, BIO 2123)

BIO 2214 Microbiology with Lab
4 Hours
This course covers principles of microbiology with emphasis on microorganisms in human disease. Topics include morphology and physiology of microorganisms, growth and control of microbial pathogens, aspects of medical microbiology, disease transmission, immunology, antimicrobial agents, and infectious diseases. Laboratory procedures include staining techniques, culturing and sensitivity determinations. Lab fee is required for on campus course.

BIO 2412 Medical Terminology
2 Hours
This course is a study of the root words, prefixes, and suffixes that comprise medical terminology. Attention is paid to Latin and Greek terms and application of medical terminology to anatomy, diseases, trauma, and medical treatments. Additional Course Fee Required.

CHE 1114 Chemistry for Health Science with Lab
4 Hours
This course introduces concepts of general and biological chemistry. Topics include measurement, molecular structure, nuclear chemistry, solutions, acid-base chemistry, gas laws, and the structure, properties and reactions of major biological groups. Additional topics include the structure, function, and metabolism of lipids, carbohydrates, proteins, and nucleic acids. The laboratory will provide experimental applications of these chemical topics. Lab fee is required for on campus course.

CHE 2114 General Chemistry I with Lab
4 Hours
Topics include measurements, fundamental properties of matter, states of matter, chemical reactions, chemical stoichiometry, periodicity of elemental properties, atomic structure, chemical bonding, molecular structure, solutions, properties of gases, and an introduction to thermodynamics and descriptive chemistry. The laboratory will provide experimental applications of these chemical topics. A lab fee is required for an on-campus course. (Prerequisite: MTH 1123)

CHE 2124 Organic Chemistry I with Lab
4 Hours
Fundamental principles of organic chemistry will be studied, including the structure, bonding, properties, and reactivity of organic molecules, and properties and behavior of organic compounds and their derivatives. Emphasis is placed on organic synthesis and mechanisms. Includes study of covalent and ionic bonding, nomenclature, stereochemistry, structure and reactivity, reaction mechanisms, functional groups, and synthesis of simple molecules. Laboratory activities will reinforce fundamental principles of organic chemistry I, including methods for the purification and identification of organic compounds. Additional Fee Required. (Prerequiste: CHE 2114)

KIN 2111 Advanced Athletic Training
3 Hours
Provides students with supervised clinical experience in the application of athletic training principles, including injury prevention, evaluation, treatment, and rehabilitation. Emphasizes hands-on skill development, professional behavior, and clinical decision-making in a variety of athletic and rehabilitative settings under the direct supervision of a Licensed Athletic Trainer (LAT) or other qualified health professional.

KIN 2123 Human Anatomy and Physiology I
3 Hours
Anatomy and Physiology I is the first part of a two course sequence. This course covers fundamental principles of body systems and their functions. Topics include basic chemistry, cells, tissues and organs of the following systems: integumentary, skeletal, muscular, nervous and special senses. Relationships among systems and regulation of physiological functions involved in maintaining homeostasis will be emphasized. Laboratory work includes dissection of preserved specimens, microscopic study, examining models, and physiological and computer simulations experiments. (Same as BIO 2123)

KIN 2133 Introduction to Kinesiology
3 Hours
The course provides a broad spectrum of the academic discipline of kinesiology. Fundamental concepts and meaning of movement/physical activity will be explored. Current issues and career options with kinesiology are presented.

KIN 3143 Nutrition for Fitness and Sport
3 Hours
A study of nutritional considerations and implications for individuals active in physical fitness and sporting activities.

KIN 3153 Care and Prevention of Athletic Injuries
3 Hours
An overview of athletic training including the care and prevention, management, and rehabilitation of athletic injury.

KIN 3163 Therapeutic Exercise and Modalities
3 Hours
This course is designed to introduce students to a variety of therapeutic modalities currently used in clinical rehabilitation. Students will learn the theoretical basis and application procedures for a variety of modalities including therapeutic heat and cold, electrotherapy, therapeutic massage, and ultrasound therapy. (Prerequisites: BIO 2123, KIN 3153, KIN 4113)

KIN 3293 Clinical Field Study I
3 Hours
A course designed to provide students with practical hands-on experience in the instruction of exercise techniques in resistance training, plyometric training, aerobic and anaerobic training programs under the direction and supervision of the Kinesiology faculty. (Prerequisites: BIO 2123, BIO 2124, KIN 2133, KIN 3153, Sophomore standing or above, and approval of the Program Coordinator)

KIN 4113 Biomechanics
3 Hours
Scientific study of human body and motion in mechanical perspective; analysis and understanding of the human mobility system; mechanical laws and principles and their application to human body motion; analysis methods for human body motion. (Prerequisites: BIO 2123, BIO 2124, MTH 1123, Junior standing or above, and approval of the Program Coordinator)

KIN 4123 Adapted Physical Activity
3 Hours
An introductory survey course in adapting physical activity for individuals with physical limitations. History, legal implications, assessment, programming, and adapting instruction will be discussed.

KIN 4133 Tests and Measurements
3 Hours
Application of measurements in health fitness and sports settings, including tests of strength, physical fitness, sports skills, and progress.

KIN 4143 Exercise Physiology
3 Hours
Exercise physiology encompasses exercise rehabilitation, exercise for health and complex medical conditions, musculoskeletal rehabilitation, recovery from injuries at work, postural control and improvements in sports performance. (Prerequisites: BIO 2123, BIO 2124, CHE 1114, KIN 3153, PED 2123, Junior standing or above, and approval of the Program Coordinator)

KIN 4153 Orthopedic Evaluation of Athletic Injuries
3 Hours
Prepares the student to properly identify, examine, and assess athletic injuries to the head, spine, upper extremity, thorax, lumbar spine, hips, and lower extremities. Prerequisite: BIO 2124)

KIN 4593 Clinical Field Study II
3 Hours
A course designed to provide students with practical hands-on experience in the instruction of exercise technique in resistance training, plyometric training, aerobic and anaerobic training programs under the direction and supervision of the Kinesiology faculty. This will be part II of Clinical Field Study I. (Prerequisites: BIO 2123, BIO 2124, KIN 2133, KIN 3153, KIN 3293, Junior standing or above, and approval of the Program Coordinator)

PHY 1111 Introduction to Physical Science Lab
1 Hour
Introduction to the tools and methods of the physical scientist. Students will confirm many of the basic concepts of physics and chemistry. Methods of testing and identifying rocks and minerals will be included. Lab fee is required for on campus course. (Prerequisite: PHY 1113, concurrent enrollment with PHY 1113)

PHY 1113 Physical Science
3 Hours
A survey of the basic concepts and history of physics, chemistry, physical science, geology, and astronomy. Students will confirm many of the basic concepts of physics and chemistry. Astronomical observations include identifying certain planets, stars, and constellations. Methods of testing and identifying rocks and minerals will be included.

PHY 3124 General Physics I with Lab
4 Hours
This course would include: Units, measurements, Vectors and scalars, Motion in one and two dimensions, Velocity, acceleration, projectile motion, Newton's laws of motion, Applications of force (friction, tension, normal forces), Circular motion, Work, kinetic and potential energy, Conservation of energy, Power, Impulse, conservation of momentum, Collisions (elastic & inelastic), Torque, rotational kinematics, angular momentum, Density, pressure, buoyancy, fluid dynamics (Bernoulli's principle), Simple harmonic motion (springs, pendulums), Wave properties (speed, frequency, wavelength, interference), Sound and resonance. Laboratory activities will reinforce fundamental principles of Physics I. Additional Fee Required. (Prerequiste: MTH 1123)

PHY 3134 General Physics II with Lab
4 Hours
This course would include: Electricity, Charge, Coulomb's law, electric fields, electric potential, capacitors and capacitance. Circuits, Ohm's law, resistors in series & parallel, DC circuits; sometimes capacitors in circuits; may include AC circuits. Magnetism: Magnetic fields & forces; induction (Faraday's law, Lenz's law); generation of electromagnetism; electromagnetic waves. Optics: Geometric optics (mirrors, lenses), sometimes physical optics (interference, diffraction), optical instruments. Waves: Traveling waves, standing waves, sound; wave superposition, possibly periodic motion. Elementary introduction to quantum ideas/photons; atomic structure; nuclear physics; sometimes relativity. Laboratory activities will reinforce fundamental principles of Physics II. Additional Fee Required. (Prerequiste: PHY 3124)

Social Work

SOC 2213 Introductory Sociology
3 Hours
A study of human nature and human behavior as the product of group life. Emphasis is placed on the organization of society and processes involved; class, status, caste, race, relations, communications, public opinion, and propaganda.

SOC 3243 Marriage and Family Relationships
3 Hours
A study of the historical and comparative importance of the family, the effect and impact of modern industrial society and social change upon the family, and the family integration and disintegration. (Same as CFM 3243)

SWK 2113 Introduction to Social Work
3 Hours
An overview of the profession of social work with a focus on philosophy, historical development, concepts and methods in relation to the social welfare system. Aspects of integrating professional practice and a Christian perspective are reviewed.

SWK 2123 Social Work Practice I
3 Hours
Introduction to general social work practice with emphasis on person in environment construct. Ethical principles and critical thinking in practice as well as incorporating diversity are taught. Research-informed for the generalist practitioners using a wide range of prevention and intervention methods with individuals, families and small groups are taught.

SWK 2153 Women's Studies
3 Hours
This course offers an introduction to Women's Studies, an interdisciplinary academic field that explores critical questions about women in society across the life-span, both historical and contemporary. Students will become familiar with key issues, questions, and debates in the study of women. Included is a critical analysis of the micro, mezzo and macro levels of interventions with respect to culture, laws, education, the workplace, communities, churches, medicine, social policy and the family. A study of women in the Bible and modern-day Christian women who have made a positive impact across the globe.

SWK 2163 International Social Work
3 Hours
Introduction to general social work in a global context. The course will look at the types of groups or organizations doing humanitarian work and social development throughout the world including orphanages and human trafficking interventionists. An examination of the impact on society and cultures by global phenomena such as migration, environmental degradation, natural disasters, war, civil strife, terrorism, abuse/neglect, addiction, and human trafficking. The course will explore challenges of cross-cultural social work, critically analyze social development, and provide examples of how social workers collaborate to address problems, advocate, empower, network, and educate within the populations of various countries, but also beyond. Cultures will be examined from a Christian worldview through interventions, strategies, community participation, sustainable development, root causes, promotion of human rights and social justice.

SWK 2223 Addictive Behavior and Recovery
3 Hours
This course will explore assessment and treatment of various addictions including substance abuse (drug and alcohol), sexual addictions (pornography), self mutilation, and other compulsive addictive behavior, and will focus on strategies for recovery. (Same as COU 2223)

SWK 2233 Abuse and Neglect
3 Hours
This course is designed to provide a comprehensive introduction to child abuse and neglect from a social work perspective. Students learn the extent of the problem, effects on children, treatment issues and social worker's role in a multidisciplinary team approach.

SWK 2423 Cultural Issues in the Helping Professions
3 Hours
This course provides a psychological study, with a Christian perspective, of culturally and religiously diverse populations with an emphasis on various issues relevant to particular types of intervention. This subject is relevant to students who might work in a variety of cultural and religious areas. (Same as PSY 2423)

SWK 3113 Church and Community Social Work
3 Hours
A course designed to focus on the church as a complex organizational structure in relation to outreach functions and social service delivery processes. Attention is given to effective methods for church-community interaction in the efficient delivery of vital services such as dream centers, para-church ministries and various church-related non-profit community outreach endeavors. Community assessment processes are surveyed as well as denominational policies for church related social service ministry.

SWK 3153 Human Behavior in the Social Environment I
3 Hours
Provides a basic conceptual framework for creating and organizing theories and knowledge about generalist practice regarding human behavior and social environments. Students analyze biological, psychological, sociological, cultural, and spiritual variables to examine human growth and development across the lifespan. Considers how human behavior and social environments inform social work practice with various populations, including those at risk. Addresses the impact of diversity, discrimination, and oppression on development. Students utilize conceptual frameworks to guide the processes of assessment, intervention and evaluation, as well as critique and apply knowledge to understand person and their environment.

SWK 3163 Statistics and Research Desgin for Clinical Practioners
3 Hours
This course comprehensively introduces research methodologies and statistical analyses pertinent to social work and kinesiology. Students will explore the scientific process, including problem formulation, literature review, research design, data collection, and ethical considerations. Emphasis will be placed on qualitative and quantitative research methods, enabling students to develop, analyze, and interpret data effectively. Through interdisciplinary case studies and projects, students will learn to apply statistical techniques and research findings to address practical issues in both social work and kinesiology, preparing them for evidence-based practice in their respective fields. (Same as PSY 3143)

SWK 3173 Forensic Social Work
3 Hours
An introduction to the theory, history, and methods of obtaining and reporting information from the crime scene, victims, witnesses, and suspects. Processes of scientific crime detection, case management and documentation in criminal investigations are reviewed. Components of this course also include a focus on methods used with certain types of major and minor crimes including homicides, assaults, sex offenses, property crimes, and others.

SWK 3213 Social Work Practice II
3 Hours
Students explore frameworks, values, and skills to meet individual and family needs through interventions with work groups, organizations and communities. (Prerequisite: SWK 2123)

SWK 3323 Statistics for the Behavioral Sciences
3 Hours
This course is a study of organizing and interpreting psychological and behavioral science research data. It includes a survey of statistical description, including measure of central tendency, dispersion, and correlation. Basic research principles and methods of research are studied. (Same as PSY 3323)

SWK 3443 Crisis Intervention and Management
3 Hours
This course is a study of crisis intervention and management with a Christian perspective. This course reviews theoretical models of crisis development in a variety of settings. Students will develop an understanding of intervention and management techniques demonstrating a competency in crisis intervention skills. Special emphasis is given to suicide, family crisis, and major catastrophes. (Same as COU 3443, PSY 3443)

SWK 3523 Social Welfare Policies, Programs and Issues
3 Hours
An analysis of the contemporary organization and function of the social service delivery system in the United States with a focus on social welfare programs, policies and issues in light of the impact of socioeconomic and political variables. The role of values and the church is addressed in light of the social service delivery system.

SWK 4153 Human Behavior in the Social Environment II
3 Hours
This course is the second in a two-course foundation Human Behavior in the Social Environment sequence. This course explores various factors and components of human behavior and the social environment in a framework for studying the person-in-environment ecological approach. In this regard it focuses on contextual influences to include groups, communities and organizations. It provides a conceptual model of behavior from a holistic perspective taking considerating empowerment, professional values, and ethics. (Prerequisite: SWK 3153)

SWK 4212 Integrative Practice I
2 Hours
The primary goal of this first integrative practice is fostering students to utilize the process of increasing self-awareness and reflection as a tool for practice while integrating content with their concurrent classes and agency field experiences. This practice class aims to promote and to increase the student's professional social work identity and emerging practice competencies at the BSW level while integrating theory and ethics with practice. Case studies are reviewed and assessed for additional practice. The student earns two credit hours by successfully completing course requirements in the weekly one hour class, which mimics clinical social work supervision groups. (Prerequisites: Taken concurrently with SWK 4814; formal acceptance into the BSW program; and, approval by the Social Work faculty or the Social Work Department Chair)

SWK 4222 Integrative Practice II
2 Hours
The primary goal of this second integrative practice is fostering students to utilize the process of increasing self-awareness and reflection as a tool for practice while integrating content with their concurrent classes and agency field experiences. This practice class aims to promote and to increase the student's professional social work identity and emerging practice competencies at the BSW level while integrating theory and ethics with practice. Emphasis will be placed on achieving a more complex integration of theory with practice and on critical evaluation of practice. Case studies will be reviewed and assessed for additional practice. The student earns two credit hours by successfully completing course requirements in the weekly one hour and fifteen minutes class. (Prerequisite: SWK 4212; taken concurrently with SWK 4824; formal acceptance into the BSW program; and, approval by the Social Work faculty or the Social Work Department Chair)

SWK 4233 Social Work Practice III
3 Hours
This course examines generalist community and administrative practice roles and includes the impact on communities with a strengths-based approach. (Prerequisite: SWK 3213)

SWK 4313 Behavioral Science Research
3 Hours
A study of the various research methods in the behavioral sciences. Emphasis is on the techniques used as well as the process and ethics of research. Topics investigated include: sampling, hypothesis development and testing, and research design. (Prerequisite: PSY 3323) (Same as COU 4313, PSY 4313)

SWK 4483 Social Work Field Practicum I
3 Hours
Supervised social field work experience of 120 hours in a community social service agency. (Prerequisites: Completion of a majority of the 2000 and 3000 level subjects plus permission of the field practicum supervisor) (This is the practicum for those in the B.S. Human Services specializing in Social Work)

SWK 4814 Social Work Field Practicum I
4 Hours
Field practice experience in social service agency setting approved by the Field Director or Program Director to apply and integrate skill, cognitive and affective learning within a formalized service system. BSW majors are required to successfully complete 225 clock hours for this practicum successfully. (Prerequisites: SWK 3213, SWK 4153; formal acceptance into the BSW program; and, approval by the Social Work faculty or the Social Work Department Chair)

SWK 4824 Social Work Field Practicum II
4 Hours

Field practice experience in social service agency setting approved by the Field Director of Program Director to apply and integrate skill, cognitive and affective learning within a formalized service system. BSW majors are required tosuccessfully complete 225 clock hours for this practicum successfully. (Prerequisites: SWK 4814; to be taken concurrently with SWK 4222; formal acceptance into the BSW program; and, approval by the Social Work faculty or the Social Work Dept. Chair)

SWK 4993 Special Topics
3 Hours
This course will focus on a specific topic including those which demand further intensive study as well as contemporary issues. In this regard, this course allows for recent developments and latest issues in the field related to a specific topic as well as the possible research interests of the professor. This course is intended to provide the student the opportunity to enhance their knowledge of a selected topic by examination of salient, current critical issues. This course may be taken as a general elective and may be repeated for another topic. (Prerequisite: Approval by the Social Work faculty or the Social Work Department Chair)

Theology

THE 1113 Person and Work of the Holy Spirit
3 Hours
A study of the person, offices, gifts and administration of the Holy Spirit.

THE 2113 Introduction to Theology and Apologetics
3 Hours
An introduction to the essential doctrines of Christian theology. Elements of a Christian worldview are reinforced along with incorporating a defense of biblical Christianity.

THE 2333 Pentecostal Doctrine and History
3 Hours
An historical theological study of the Pentecostal and Charismatic movements from the beginning of the 20th century until the present with special attention given to the doctrines of the Assemblies of God. The theology of the movements is analyzed from a New Testament biblical perspective.

THE 3113 Christian Apologetics
3 Hours
An introduction to the philosophical study and defense of the Christian faith. This course includes an examination of the apologetic task, a critique of opposing worldviews and the rational justification for belief in the exclusive claims of Christianity.

THE 3123 Systematic Theology I
3 Hours
A study of the doctrine of God, Scripture, creation, providence, angels, the unity and constitution of man, the fall of man, and the doctrine of sin. (Prerequisite: THE 2113)

THE 3133 Systematic Theology II
3 Hours
A study of Christology, the doctrine of salvation, both theory and application, including atonement, calling, conviction, justification, adoption, regeneration, and sanctification. It also includes the doctrine of the Church, the ordinances, and eschatology. (Prerequisite: THE 2113)

THE 3223 Introduction to Islam
3 Hours
Introduction to Islam will provide an overview of Islam, including its historical background, development, spread, its diversity and why it has such worldwide appeal. We examine the main beliefs and practices of Muslims, noting similarities and crucial differences with Christianity in order to help Christian workers recognize both difficulties in evangelizing Muslims as well as the great opportunities. Special attention will be given to develop Christ-like attitudes and approaches for effective ministry to Muslims. (Same as ICS 3223) (Prerequisite: BIB 1223)

THE 3363 World Religions
3 Hours
This course seeks to equip the student with necessary knowledge to intelligently approach those of the non-Christian religions of the world. It views the tenets of the major religious systems comparatively. Religions studied include Pre-historic and tribal religions, Hinduism, Jainism, Sikhism, Buddhism, religions of East Asia, Zoroastrianism, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. (Same as ICS 3363)

THE 4133 Twentieth-Century Theology
3 Hours
A selective study of major theologians of the twentieth century and their unique theological contributions. The course will include an overview of Schleiermacher, Hegel and Ritschl as providing a theological trajectory for the twentieth century.

THE 4143 Seminar in Theology
3 Hours
An advanced study of a biblical, historical or systematic topic of theology. This course may be repeated provided the topic matter is distinct.

THE 4150 Senior Paper
0 Hours
The senior paper represents the culmination of the student's biblical and theological training. The choice of topic must be made in consultation with the Department of Bible and Theology and an advisor will be assigned to guide the student during the writing process. The course must be taken during the first semester of the senior year. (This course is available only to Religion and Theology majors.)

THE 4153 Nineteenth-Century Holiness Movement
3 Hours
A study of the history and theology of the nineteenth-century Holiness movement and its influence on Pentecostalism. (Prerequisite: THE 2113)

THE 4163 Reformation Theology

3 Hours
A study of the history and theology of the reformation with emphasis on the contributions of Martin Luther, Huldrych Zwingli, John Calvin, and Menno Simons. (Prerequisite: THE 2113)

THE 4173 Cults and New Religious Movements
3 Hours
This course focuses on the doctrines and practices of cults and new religious groups whose teaching are identified as outside traditional, orthodox Christianity. The course materials will especially focus on cultural and sociological elements that lead to the growth of cult movements, the challenges of leaving a cult, and efforts to reach those who are involved in new religious movements.

THE 4393 Old Testament Theology
3 Hours
A study of the key theological concepts and important doctrines of the Old Testament. Attention is given to the progressive steps in divine revelation and the relation of God to His people. (Prerequisite: THE 2113)

THE 4413 New Testament Theology
3 Hours
A study of the key theological concepts and important doctrines of the New Testament. Attention is given to the question of Jewish, Hellenistic, and pagan origins of New Testament thought, including a unit on the history of New Testament interpretation.

THE 4453 Contemporary Theology
3 Hours
A selective study of theological movements and ideas from the beginning of the nineteenth century to the present. (Prerequisite: THE 2113)

Writing

WRT 2113 Content Writing

This informational/topical writing course introduces students to writing digitally published content with a focus on timeliness, cohesion, clarity, and conciseness, emphasizing basic market research and content production in currently in-demand publication modes.

WRT 2323 Scriptwriting for Theatre
3 Hours
The exploration of the basic principles required to develop and write scripts for theatre. Topics of study and application include: play genres, writing exercises, improvisation writing exercises, script analysis, and observation exercises. The class will culminate in the student submitting page play that could be selected to be used in an actual production on campus. Additional Course Fee Required. (Same as DRA 2323)

WRT 3143 Copywriting
3 Hours
Persuasive writing course focusing on the psychology of persuasion and storytelling for sales and promotional writing, including demographic research and developing audience-driven copy and personas.

WRT 3163 Writing Nonfiction
3 Hours
An intensive genre study of nonfiction writing, such as article, editorial, and memoir, in a workshop environment where students will build a portfolio of their own work. Emphasis may also include the technical writing field.

WRT 3173 Writing Poetry
3 Hours
An intensive genre study of poetic forms and styles in a workshop environment, where students will build a portfolio of original works.

WRT 4143 Writing for Social Media
3 Hours
Writing for various social media platforms, including digital design, planning, and organization.

WRT 4223 Writing Fiction
3 Hours
An intensive study of the genres of the novel and short story in a workshop environment where students will produce a significant body of their own work.

WRT 4413 Principles of Publishing
3 Hours
An intensive study of publishing principles. Emphasis is placed on researching potential markets and submitting work in multiple genres, ranging from non-fiction pieces to short stories and novels, as well as finding literary agents and working with editors and publishers to get articles/manuscripts published. (Prerequisite: Another WRT designated course)

Youth and Student Ministries

YSM 2113 Youth and Student Ministry Leadership
3 Hours
The course will deal with developing a healthy student ministry. Attention will be given to the lifestyle of the leader, establishing a philosophy of youth ministry, developing adult leaders, and cooperation with the ministries of the Assemblies of God District and National Youth Department.

YSM 3113 Bridging Between Children and Youth
3 Hours
A study of principles and methods for effectively helping individuals transition from childhood to adolescence within church ministries. Emphasis will be placed upon cooperative efforts between children's and youth pastors to facilitate successful transition. (Same as CFM 3113)

YSM 3123 Contemporary Issues in Youth Culture
3 Hours
A course focusing on the current cultural issues facing adolescents. The course will recognize the need to speak cross-culturally from the adult world to the youth culture. Focus is given to issues such as peer and family relationships, violence, media, adolescent sexuality, and substance abuse. The student will gain the tools to properly understand the current youth culture and how to biblically address the needs of today's adolescents.

YSM 4113 Youth and Student Evangelism
3 Hours
The course will study the critical issues of presenting the gospel to a student at his or her level of understanding. Campus ministry, outreaches, personal evangelism, equipping students for evangelism, mission trips and other forms of student evangelism will be discussed. Students will also have the opportunity to participate in outreach efforts.

YSM 4123 Spiritual Formation of Youth
3 Hours
A course designed to teach biblical methods of adolescent spiritual formation. Emphasis will be placed on nurturing spiritual growth, faith development, and organizing and leading small groups of students. The course will also allow students the opportunity to participate in a discipleship experience.
